Scajaquada Project Meeting Slated

The New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT), will host a public meeting on Wednesday, April 9th, 2014, to discuss a proposed project to transform NY Route 198, the Scajaquada Expressway, from an urban expressway to an urban boulevard in the city of Buffalo.

The information session will run from 5 pm until 8 pm at the Bulger Communications Center at Buffalo State College, located at 1300 Elmwood Avenue in the city of Buffalo. The meeting will include informational displays and a formal presentation on the project, which will start at 6 pm. Department representatives will be present to receive comments and answer individual questions.

The purpose of this project is to transform the Scajaquada Expressway into a functional urban boulevard that operates in a safe manner, and is in greater harmony with the surrounding community character and natural environment. This involves providing improved visual and functional connectivity between the various features and resources throughout the adjacent area. Vehicular, bicycle, pedestrian and public transportation would be better connected to provide additional opportunities for public access.

The purpose of the meeting is to obtain comments on the transportation alternatives being studied from individuals, groups, officials and local agencies.

For further information, or to request a sign language interpreter or assistive listening system, please contact Frank Bilitier, assistant design engineer, at 847-3222.

Damn Yankees

A cruel crusader cloaked in crimson, Cata-ract City comics connoisseur Paul Bene swoops onto the Ellicott Creek Playhouse stage, a fire-truck on hooves, eyes a-gleam beneath prehensile eyebrows in search of souls to extinguish. Win or lose, “Damn Yankees” is his to command.

Among the region’s prime purveyors of graphic literature, Bene draws an indelibly tough act to follow. Co-operation, hat’s a different ballgame. Colleagues ricochet off him like doubles to the wall, and in less time than Bison ballgame (same price, better concessions), the fans head home humming.

“Damn Yankees” has at least two scores in the musical-memory Hall of Fame - “You Gotta Have Heart” and “Whatever Lola Wants.” Director Fran Newton honors them, and the show, with a dictum conveyed in every locker room: Play within yourself and have fun.

Long before the “Evil Empire,” there was this ’50s-novel Rocket Man read as a college freshman, a fantasy about underworld influence, with an overlying love story and endorsement of virtue. “I Thought About the Game,” the baseball quartet harmonizes, recalling how its purity proscribed bad behavior. Yeah, right. Those were, as another song goes, “The Good Old Days,” if ever.

Beyond the cigarettes that pop up at a finger-snap, Niagara Regional Theater Guild makes much magic, notably the cottage that switch-hits to clubhouse at the turn of a wheel, and the old fan’s transformation to young ballplayer. Newton and John Panepinto turn that as deftly as any double play ever chanced by Tinker and Evers.

Cassandra Grizanti gets both under and into the skin of slinky Lola, her solo “A Little Talent” belying her considerable skills. Kim Ehrenberg, director Newton and Panepinto create a three-part harmony in “A Man Doesn’t Know” that’s plaintive enough to provoke tear-duct rain delay. In a role quicker than a 1-2-3 inning, St. Joseph’s Steve Jakiel rules as commissioner.

Legendary scout Cy Williams insisted “it’s the little imperfections that make the game a thrill,” so: The five-piece Ellicott Creek Philharmonic (bravo to violinist Kathryn Ratka) outplays a few cleverer lyrics, the players’ spikes don’t match, the lockers could use more equipment, the major-league announcer sounds minor-league to Rocket Man and Kansas City wasn’t even in the league then

The musical you can swear by, it runs through April 13, at 550 Ellicott Creek Rd., Tonawanda. Signal back to Rocket Man via pollyndoug@hotmail.com

Ralph Wilson

With the passing of Ralph Wilson, people outside of Buffalo wonder what is going to happen to the Buffalo Bills football franchise. I get that question asked almost daily as I golf here in Florida with men from all over the Northeast. Most have their own favorite NFL team and the one that is heavily represented is the (ugh) New England Patriots. Lots of Massachusetts people are winter residents and fellow snow birds. Of the many there is only one Bostonian who gets under my skin with his remarks about the Patriots, the Boston Bruins hockey team and of course the Boston Red Sox baseball team. He has plenty of ammunition as they are all on top and the best. One time on the fifteenth tee he said to me, "if you want to see the Super Bowl champs, the Stanley cup, or the World Series champs, you come to Boston. What do you see if you go to Buffalo? Nothing but a bunch of losers." In spite of wanting to hit him with my driver, I had to realize he is right. The play of the Bills is bad enough but now we have the pitiful Sabres who are destined to possibly be the worst team in Hockey, ever. I am happy to say he is the only one of dozens from Mass and the others are good friends. They know enough to not bring up sports in a conversation.

Getting back to Ralph Wilson, he once bought me a drink. Many years ago in the mid to late sixties, being a rabid Bills fan, I joined the Buffalo Bills booster club. It was newly formed and they met once a month to support the fledgling franchise here in Buffalo. It was so long ago I do not recall where they met. At that time it was not unusual for some of the Bills players to actually attend without formal planning. And Mr. Ralph himself used to show up on occasion. My recollection is standing at the bar next to Mr. Wilson and asking how things were shaping up. He went on to say how much he was losing on the football team. No one is quite aware of the expense that it cost to run such an operation. But even then I speculated that the $35,000 he invested to form the team may some day be worth millions. Did not take a dummy like me to tell him something he was well aware of. With that he bought me a drink and of course now we know the selling price is in the hundreds of millions.

The other time was at the Strike game here in Buffalo. Only about 8000 fans showed up to see the replacement players put on a pathetic performance of professional football. Worst than the teams that are now wearing Buffalo Bills uniforms. So Mr. Wilson had a box on the fifty yard line and in this game the front was wide open. He stood there and shook hands with the fans that were in attendance and thanked them for their presence. It was one of those things where you are on the fence as to support the franchise or support the players. We chose to support Mr. Wilson.

We feel that he did more for the city of Buffalo than most any resident. He brought a major league franchise to a smaller market. He brought glamour and recognition to our beloved city. Not to mention the economic impact. When he was the acting president of the franchise we went to four straight Super Bowls. As soon as he stepped down, the team went in the tank and has been there ever since. We have not been to a playoff game since he relinquished the reins of the Bills. Many do not know that. Too bad it had to happen, but the man was eighty at the time. Probably figured he wanted to enjoy his remaining years. Turned out to be almost fifteen and who would have thought that. I am sure there have been a lot written up north about Mr. Wilson and I hope it is all good. Just wanted to add my contribution and remarks. Thank you Mr. Wilson and may you rest in peace.

New Animal Clinic Opens on West Side

Buffalo's only low cost, walk-in wellness clinic for dogs and cats is now open at 1245 Niagara Street. West Side Pet Clinic concentrates on basic health care while educating the public on proper pet maintenance.

West Side Pet Clinic is introducing a whole new model in high quality pet wellness care. It is the brainchild of Dr. Reed Stevens, who also owns Ellicott Small Animal Hospital. Stevens and his business partner, Dr. Susan Sickels, recognized that there were several companion animal care needs not currently addressed by the animal hospitals in the area: "Not all pet owners need or want the care provided by a full service animal hospital."

The concept for West Side Pet Clinic is similar to that of a human neighborhood clinic," says Stevens. "Because we are focusing on routine veterinary visits, overhead costs are low, and the savings are passed onto the clients. There are not any surprises with our cost to the clients. The prices are clearly posted both at the clinic and online."

Due to the increased complexity of owners' lives, WSPC operates on a walk-in basis only without appointments. Clients and pets are able to arrive when their schedule permits on Monday through Friday from 10 am to 5 pm. A real-time feed of the waiting room can be viewed from the website (www.westsidepetsbuffalo.com) in order to allow for clients to gauge the wait time.

"We know most people are concerned about regular family health," says Stevens. "A pet is part of the family. We want to be sure pet owners understand their dog's or cat's health care needs, and establish a routine of regular attention at a reasonable cost." He points out that there are an increasing number of one-day pet clinics that provide vaccines and other services. However, pet owners often feel abandoned if their pet develops a problem later. It is essential to establish a plan for routine health care, educate owners, and build a relationship with a veterinarian for the long term."

Pet health care also includes good manners and basic training that is important to start from an early age. Dr. Sickels specializes in animal behavior. "With the popularity of TV shows like The Dog Whisperer, pet owners are beginning to understand that they are (or should be) in control of their pet's behavior," she says. "It's part of overall healthy lifestyle for the entire family and community."

ADOPT A PET
This week's featured friend:
KENTUCKY

My name is Kentucky and I am a young handsome boy that is patiently waiting for my forever home. I have been in a wonderful foster home for a few months now but am dreaming of the day where I can settle into a place to really call my own. My foster parents tell me that I am fun loving, curious, happy go lucky guy that enjoys following them around the house when they are busy doing house chores. Just think, you will never feel alone with me around because I like to stay close! I have a wonderful coloring in my coat and my perky ears and soulful eyes just make people fall in love with me when they see me. I am considered a "professional" snuggler because I totally enjoy being on your lap, or climbing under the covers to get super close to you. I love other dogs & playing outside. I would love to have someone to play with, so if you have another canine companion already, maybe we would be a good fit to romp around together! I know how to sit, I do great in my crate and my foster parents are working with me on other commands. I love to go for walks and check out my surroundings. Please consider meeting me, Kentucky, when you are looking for a new addition to your life. I promise to give you many hours of smiles and lots of snuggling love in our life together. PLEASE email my foster mom at caitlin.e.burns@gmail.com to set up a chance to meet me. WAGS & LICKS~~ KENTUCKY.

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN
(Never known to fail)
Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. There are none that can withstand your power. Oh, show me herein you are my mother. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3X). Holy Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3X). Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine.
The person must say this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days, the request will be granted. This prayer must then be published after the favor is granted. C.G.
