Albright-Knox Seeks Donations for Project

The Albright-Knox’s Public Art Initiative is seeking shirt donations for its newest public art project, a work by artist Kaarina Kaikkonen to be installed at the Buffalo Niagara International Airport. Kaikkonen is internationally renowned for her use of clothing to produce installations that alter our perception of our shared lives and shared spaces.

The installation will comprise thousands of shirts from Western New York residents. The shirts will be collected in partnership with Buffalo and Erie County Public Libraries. You may drop off your donation at either Downtown Central, 1 Lafayette Square and Crane Branch Library, 633 Elmwood Avenue, Buffalo.

Museum visitors are also encouraged to bring their shirt donations to the AK, where collection bins will be provided. An additional collection site will be located at The Foundry, a creative community space at 298 Northampton Street in Buffalo.

Once the collection process is complete, the shirts will be attached at the sleeves, or “hands,” suggesting human connection even in absence.

Daily commutes, the migratory moments of travel, and our formative explorations are all represented in these ties.

For this project, Kaikkonen, assisted by a team of local volunteers, will mount a large work above the main ticketing area in the publicly accessible lobby of the Buffalo Niagara International Airport. The curved wings of the walls, flanking the security entrance in the middle, offer a substantial and dramatic site for the presentation of Kaikkonen’s work. This location is ideal for the dense and colorful installations for which she is celebrated.

The Adventures of...

by Doug Smith

A Joy Forever

The older woman was sitting it out in the thrift store doorway while her daughter tried on clothes. To tell the truth, both probably could afford brand-new without raiding the grocery money, but “slightly-worn” appeals to them. It just looks better and comes with somebody else’s endorsement.

A young clerk walked by the older woman, then paused. “Wow,” he said, “you sure look nice and you just look so happy.” But he didn’t stop there. Back at the register he would point her out to other customers and remark on how she brightened up the room merely by the state of her contentedness.

This was not her first ride in the rodeo of gratuitous compliments. At least twice at Niagara on the Lake, visitors from other countries have asked permission to photograph her on one of the borough benches, although she has never “dressed to kill,” or even maim.

One afternoon in the balcony, the Shaw Festival’s costume director remarked not only on how well she herself was “turned out,” but how she had integrated her outfit with that of her escort, who happened to be Rocket Man.

It bordered on the embarrassing. Every visible item had come from a second-hand store.

But the hits just keep on coming for the older woman, whom by now you surely have identified as Rocket Man’s First Mate. One evening in Theodore’s hot-doggery, a braided and pig-tailed girl of about four absolutely insisted that her parents share the First Mate’s table. “She’s a nice lady,” she said. “We’re sitting here!” (No doubt about that.)

Then, as only a child can do, she began to finger her own face while asking, “What are these?” of the lines in the older woman’s visage. The parents were torn between apologizing and hiding, but the older woman bid them hush.

“They’re all mine,” she said, “and I’ve earned every single one of them.”

She never thought she looked like much back in high school and truth to tell if you riffle her yearbook, there’s no chance that you would pause at the page and say, “YES! There’s the prom queen!”

Just one in many.

Fifty-six years ago this coming Saturday she borrowed her friend’s wedding dress and walked down the aisle. Rocket Man knew he had snuck off with the most beautiful girl in town, but he’s not very competitive and hoped nobody would notice. He’s always thought that when she rode the back of a train she looked like The Woman With the Papers in a Hitchcock movie but now the whole world seems to know. Happy Anniversary!

SPORTS

By Bill Snyder

Down to the Wire for Hertel Youth Baseball

Let's take you out to the diamonds of Shoshone Park. Second Minor and Rookie Boys' divisions have crowned new Champions. This past Monday night, the Braves defeated the Brewers 7-1 to claim the trophy for the Second Minor Division. "We Rock!," exclaimed Owen Moriarty, the nine year old third baseman for the Braves, speaking about his friends on the diamond. On this particular night, he was speaking truth about the magical season these eight year olds had. The club finished the regular season in second place in the division, just under the "tough" Pirates team. But in the playoffs, after losing to these Brewers in a first round game, Moriarty and a great pitching staff, bounced back with wins over the Marlins, Padres and the dreaded Pirates before meeting the Brewers again for the Championship.

Last Friday night, the Blue Jays won the Championship in Rookie Boys, defeating the Rays in a real battle between two very good teams. Chad Pacholek, Nate Waldron and Damone Parker had big hits at the plate and played excellent in the field for the Jays. The team finished the regular season in second place and defeated the Yankees in round two of the playoffs en route to the title.

Both teams join the Rookie Pony Angels as winners this season. All three divisions are made up of some of the youngest boys and girls in the League and despite their "size" produce some of the most enjoyable games to watch on a given night or weekend.

In Minor Pony, the Yankees had to face the Giants again Wednesday night after the team defeated the Giants two nights earlier, 4-2. Both teams finished under the Blue Jays in the division at second and third place. However, a team can't be eliminated from the playoffs until after it loses two games. The loss was only the Giants' first after beating the Yankees and Blue Jays already.

The Tigers drew the top cede in the division and awaited the winner of a Blue Jays/ White Sox game before their playoffs could start. The Athletics topped the Twins after defeating the Yankees in round one. The Tigers defeated the Blue Jays in a 12-11 battle before their first meeting with the A's. The Tigers have been led all year by the play of Jadin Mecklenburg, Conor Barnum, Gavin Cline and Justice DeCosta. The A's have been just as strong from players like Bryce Thomas, Hunter Potts and Nathaniel Gilbert. We'll have results next week.

Congratulations again to North Buffalo for retaining the trophy of the annual Buffalo Cup Tournament held this past weekend at the beautiful Frederick Law Olmsted Park in Riverside as the League captured victories in several age divisions. All players consisted of boys and girls made up from teams in Hertel North Park. The Tournament was begun eight years ago by the leagues' neighbor to the west, RiverRock. In a game between RiverRock 15 year olds against South Buffalo, pitcher Nick Laboy had six RBIs in a 13-1 victory.

Two WWII Veterans Honored

Albright-Knox Seeks Donations of Shirts for Public Art Project

Through repeated encounters, travelers establish different yet specific connections with the clothing in the installation. Each individual can relate to the intimate touch and feel of their own clothes, the comfort they provide, and the identity they allow us to embrace. The complexity of the personal history and emotion embedded in each piece of clothing is amplified by the collective nature of the artwork.

The Public Art Initiative is an innovative partnership between the Albright-Knox and Erie County established in 2013. The City of Buffalo joined the partnership in 2014. The goal of the Initiative is to create spaces of dialogue where diverse communities have the ability to engage socially, actively respond, and cooperatively produce great public art that is capable of empowering individuals, creating stronger neighborhoods, and establishing Western New York as a critical cultural center.

Other recent projects by the AK Public Art Initiative include artist Jenny Kendler's Milkweed Dispersal Balloons at various locations around the county, artist Shayne Dark's Natural Conditions installation at the Buffalo and Erie County Botanical Gardens, artist Jaume Plensa's Silent Poets installation at Ca-nalside, artist Casey Rior-dan Millard's Shark Girl sculpture at Canalside, Tape Art's 2014 installation of Buffalo Caverns, a massive, temporary mural-style drawing made with painter's tape on the exterior walls of the Central Library in downtown Buffalo, artist Matthew Hoffman's You Are Beautiful billboard campaign throughout Erie County in a unique partnership with Lamar Advertising, and artist Charles Clough's collaboratively produced Arena Painting, which is installed in the newly constructed wing of the Hamburg Public Library. The Public Art Initiative has also distributed 30,000 art kits to students throughout Erie County.

Kidsfest at Elmwood Festival of the Arts

It will feature 70 artists, four stages with music, dance, 50 environmental and cultural groups, puppetry, special sidewalk sales and events by Elmwood merchants, a solar powered stage, composting and much more. All events are free and open to all.

For 2015, the Kidfest mascot is the Phoenix. Many cultures have myths that involve the transformation of a bird who dies by fire, and is reborn anew. We can see this life cycle reflected in nature, in our own lives and even in our city, which is going through its own resurgence.

In Kidsfest, activity tents incorporate various aspects of the Mythical Phoenix. Little hands can make a fire wand or paint fire, earth and sky. Open minds can learn about compost, then use their knowledge in a game. Faces can be painted, dress-up items can be donned, and imaginations can fly freely. Wooden whistles can be crafted and songs can be sung.

Kids are encouraged to gather for The Phoenix-Parade at 4pm on Sunday, beginning at Elmwood near Breckenridge. Feathers can be groomed, whistles blown, and Franklin LaVoie's Rising Phoenix can be followed up Elmwood Avenue to the Lafayette Stage.

The activities at Kidsfest are created as a labor of love, and materials are provided for free and open to all. In order to keep Kidsfest aloft, please stop by the Donation Station at the entrance. When you donate, pick a carnation to decorate the Tree Float. Part of your donation goes toward this tree, which will be planted in the Elmwood Village.

For more information on the festival visit <http://eafa.techriver.net>.

Father Joe Moreno Memorial Walk

2017. "Anyone that ever had the pleasure of meeting with and talking to Father Moreno soon understood that he possessed all the qualities that a priest should have. His kindness, generosity and compassion, as well as his love of all things Buffalo were legendary" said Moreno.

Referrals come to the Foundation via devoted parish priests, nurses and sometimes complete strangers. "Each story is more heartbreaking than the last. The common thread, however, is need. For a city so great, there are people in great need of things that other services and agencies cannot provide. This is where the foundation steps in, quietly, as Fr. Joe did many times. But it can not continue without continued support," states Moreno.

For more information or to make a donation to the foundation please call 628-1876.
