Elmwood Village to Host Street Party

On Saturday, September 19th, the Elmwood Village Association will hold the second annual Elmwood Village 20 Block Bash, a celebration of the 20 blocks of the Elmwood Village and a final outdoor music event to close out the summer.

The first 20 Block Bash was held last year in honor of the Association’s 20th anniversary, and celebrates the continued resurgence and vibrancy of the Elmwood Village community.

The five-hour street party will take place on Elmwood Avenue between W. Utica St. and Hodge Ave. from 5:00 pm to 10:00 pm, closing the block to traffic throughout the duration of the event. Event proceeds will benefit the Elmwood Village Association and flow directly back into the community in the form of beautification and infrastructure improvement, community outreach and events, and economic development activities.

The 2015 Elmwood Village 20 Block Bash will feature five local music acts, street games, and other activities. Food will be provided by restaurants representing the Elmwood Village and various local food trucks.

For more information call the Elmwood Village Association at 881-0707.

The Adventures of...

Rocket Man

by Doug Smith

'You Never Can Tell'

Ah, now this was more like it. No ringtonged "Pygmalion," no four-hour diatribe on socialism and same-sex relationships. In fact, Rocket Man realized, he first reviewed "You Never Can Tell" as a Shaw Festival neophyte in 1973. The Queen was there. Took off her hat, too, which is more than he could say for the Maple Leafs fan who sat in front of him at the Royal George Theater last week.

While Buffalonians brace for Curtain-Ups, the Fest still has plenty of juice, besides the plentiful peaches ($2.99 CDN for seven in Hendrik's Value Mart). Nearly two dozen performances, many at reduced rate, loom remain or "Tell," until Oct. 25 in the cozy Royal George Theater.

Festival icon Jim Me-

zon directs, he who ground up his acting chops in the Festival's exhaustive "Intelligent... Guide." The two works could hardly be more varied. While playwright George Bernard Shaw classified "Tell" as "pleasant," Mezon goes positively giddy with absurd dental devices, extreme deliveries and beach balls bounding up from beneath.

Its implausible scenario has a dentist, earnestly played by Gray Powell, so impoverished (Aspen came much later) that if his landlord hadn't lost a battle with a Brazil nut, he'd be out on the street. What fortune, he is invited to lunch by aristocrats, but must demur due to their lamentable lack of a father, living or dead, a protocol of a 19th Century English seaside resorts.

Eventually, Powell will hook up, emotionally at least, with the sparklingly rigid feminist Julia Course, under guidance of her mother, the toothsome, shall we say, Tara Rosling. This is Shaw at his most grittingly gregarious, but Mezon moves it at an incredible pace, the ensemble including the impeccably burred attorney Peter Krantz, the confidently taciturn gentlemen's gentleman Peter Millard and the deliriously delightful ditz Dolly, done to a turn by Jennifer Dzialowszynski.

"Jenny D," in her third Festival year, personifies perpetual motion as an oddly-matched twin bedeviling the dentist. "I'm not married, ANYone can see that!" Her eyes positively project, something in the style of the late comedian Marty Feldman. With a half-dozen lines she about stole "Pygmalion" and now, with a featured role, stardom awaits in the wings. Sympathies to platoons of future reviewers who will have to cope with her name, worth 39 points in Scrabble. As a comedienne, priceless.

Millard, meantime, manages order as the classic unflappable butler, putting all the silliness in the perspective of brevity. Between Jenny D and Peter, giving the title the lie, you can tell you're going to have a great time. NINE ROCKETS (out of 10).

Clement Lawn Tribute Includes Section Dedicated to WNY Victims

flag tribute outside the American Red Cross headquarters at 786 Delaware Avenue in Buffalo on Sunday, September 6th. An individual flag was placed on the lawn to represent each of the nearly 3,000 people who lost their lives in the attacks on September 11th, 2001, including a special section honoring those who had connections to Western New York. The flags will remain on the lawn of the Clement Mansion for the next several weeks.

“We created this tribute so that Western New Yorkers can remember every year how many lives were lost in the attacks of September 11th, 2001,” said Leigh Macadlo, a member of the Western New York Families of September 11th. “We want to remember each innocent person whose life was ended so abruptly and tragically, and honor the extraordinary sacrifice of responders who gave their lives for others that day.”

Lions International Establishing New Club Chapter in North Buffalo

Western New York Lions Club leaders are establishing a new club chapter to serve the needs of the North Buffalo Community.
The new North Buffalo Community Lions Club will focus on humanitarian and community service efforts in the local community, including activities to promote health, combat hunger, engage youth, and assist the elderly.
According to Nancy Luckman, District Governor for Lions Clubs in WNY, “Our motto is ‘We Serve’. By establishing the North Buffalo Community Lions Club, we look forward to bringing together community members to provide service to those in need locally. Though traditionally known for our work with the blind and visually impaired, today's Lions Clubs go well beyond that, focusing on the unique service needs identified collaboratively with local leaders and other community groups.”

Efforts are underway to identify local residents that desire to become a part of this new Lions Club. For more information about becoming a charter member of the North Buffalo Community Lions Club, please contact Dr. Rick and Mrs. Sharon Battaglia at 20NHertel-Lions@gmail.com.
