Keep Your Pets Safe

People aren’t the only ones looking forward to upcoming holiday dinners...the smell of Thanksgiving dinner is enough to drive any four-legged critter into a food frenzy. The SPCA Serving Erie County has issued these holiday reminders to keep your pets safe, slim, and trim:

Hungry Pets: Too many holiday treats won’t only pack the pounds on us...they’ll pack them on our pets. Many pets are on standard, limited diets;

feeding them large quantities of food they don’t normally receive could cause

HEAP Process Begins in Erie County

Erie County’s Department of Social Services has begun accepting applications for Home Energy Assistance Program regular benefits with county officials anticipating receiving more than 20,000 HEAP applications by the end of December.

In an effort to expedite the application process and to prevent residents from standing in long lines, HEAP applicants are encouraged to apply for benefits online or attend one of the upcoming HEAP outreach events that will be held for residents to sign up for this benefit.

Eligible households whose primary heat is electricity or natural gas can receive a $350 regular benefit. Households using a different heating source or that have heating costs included as part of their rent may receive a larger or smaller amount.

Residents with their heat service currently on and without a shutoff notice are advised to apply online at www.mybenefits.ny.gov or by calling the HEAP Application Request Line at 858-1969.

Erie County Legislator Peter J. Savage III announced that a HEAP outreach session for the third legislative district will be held at the Northwest Buffalo Community Center, 155 Lawn Avenue in Buffalo on Wednesday, December 2nd from 9:00 am to 4:00 pm.

These Are the People in Our Neighborhood

Melissa Ende has been a Buffalo mail carrier since April. She enjoys meeting all the people in the neighborhoods on her route. Something that she has noticed as the days are getting shorter is that part of her route is delivered after dark. Finding mailboxes in the dark is a real challenge especially when street lighting is not near. Melissa is very appreciative of those that turn on their porch lights and keep outdoor furniture and lawn equipment tucked away, helping her to deliver safely.

No Bones About it - Keep Pets Safe

ly uncomfortable for no apparent reason. If your pet exhibits signs of bloat, bring him to a veterinarian as soon as possible. Speak with your veterinarian for more information on this condition.

No Bread for Barney: Think twice before leaving that homemade bread dough atop the oven to rise. According to the ASPCA's Animal Poison Control Center, when bread dough is ingested, an animal's body heat causes the dough to rise in the stomach. As alcohol is produced during the rising process, the dough expands. Pets who have eaten bread dough may experience abdominal pain, vomiting, disorientation and depression.

Peanut Butter Warning: Using peanut butter as a holiday treat for your pet? Remember to check the label! Xylitol is a sugar substitute now added to some peanut butters. It's safe for most humans, but deadly to pets, even in small quantities!

Garbage Pickers? Some animals patiently wait for the chance to pick through the garbage when you're not around. Keep your garbage bags away from where pets can chew through them to get to the goods. Ingestion of these items can be life-threatening.

Chocolate can be fatal to pets! Chocolate contains a substance called Theobromine, a compound very similar to caffeine in structure. Theobromine can be toxic to dogs and cats in small quantities, causing vomiting, diarrhea, hyperactivity, seizures, rapid and irregular heartbeats, muscle tremors, coma, even death. Keep chocolate safely away from all animals.

Potpourri Problems: Of course we want our homes to smell nice when guests arrive...but be mindful that liquid and other types of potpourri, especially when sprinkled into rugs, along with many scented essential oils are toxic to dogs and cats. Read more about the overall effects on pets, the dangers to cats and the dangers to dogs.

For additional holiday reminders, speak with your veterinarian, or call the SPCA at 875-7360.
