The Buffalo Saint Patrick's Day Parade will start at the McKinley Monument and proceed up Delaware Avenue to North Street on Sunday, March 20th.

Jennifer Letina of Buffalo was elected Grand Marshal of the 2016 Saint Patrick's Day Parade. The Parade is on Sunday, March 20th at 2 pm in the City of Buffalo. The day will start with Mass celebrated by Bishop Richard J. Malone and Fr. David Richards at Saint Joseph's Cathedral at 10:30 am. Parade participants will line up near the McKinley Monument and proceed north on Delaware Avenue to North Street. Jennifer has selected her parents, her sisters, and her boyfriend to be her deputy marshals for this once in a lifetime honor. Miss Letina grew up in Buffalo, graduated from Mount Mercy Academy and Saint Bonaventure University. She is the Accounts Pay-

Stay Safe on St. Patrick's Day

With fun parades, a large Irish community and no shortage of pubs in which to celebrate, St. Patrick's Day is a huge event in Buffalo. But when excessive alcohol becomes part of the equation, St. Patrick's Day can quickly turn tragic. As one of the country's most popular holidays, St. Patrick's Day has long celebrated the roots of 34.2 million Americans with Irish ancestry, and many more who just want to partake in the festivities. This year, if you'll be drinking alcohol, remember: Buzzed Driving is Drunk Driving! "We are greatly encouraged by the downward trend in fatalities," said Monica Farrar, program director of The Resource Training Center 4255 Harlem Road, Amherst. "However, we still want to encourage everyone to make a plan before heading out to the festivities. Designate a sober driver before you and your friends go out to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. Remember that even one drink is dangerous if you are behind the wheel of a car. While we want everyone to enjoy St. Patrick's Day, please consider doing so without the assistance of

West Side Little League Holding Pitching Clinic

The West Side Little League is looking for current or former pitchers to instruct young players at a Pitching Clinic for young Baseball/Softball Youth on the West Side. Proper pitching mechanics for the young players is very essential to the aspiring player. The knowledge they gain while they are young is priceless. To volunteer call Tovie Asarese at 885-7692 or email Royal-Printingco@aol.com. Gloves, bats and any out-grown baseball equipment is also needed.

Saint Joseph's Day Celebrated

St. Joseph's Day is a Roman Catholic feast day, generally observed annually on March 19th, to commemorate the life of St. Joseph and his work feeding the less fortunate. The custom of the St. Joseph's Day table was celebrated last Monday as hundreds were treated to the traditional feast. Frank's Sunny Italy celebrated by offering the customary St. Joseph's Day table and donated 100% of the proceeds to The St. Luke's Mission.

Father Joe Wolfe, from Holy Spirit and St. Margaret parishes in North Buffalo, joins the Sclafani family and blesses the St. Joseph's Day table at Frank's Sunny Italy this past Monday.

The Adventures of...

Rocket Man

by Doug Smith

'Fully Committed'

In the basement beneath platefuls of pretention, hopeful actor Sam subsists in a wild-country buffet, beset by the clueless clientele and surly staff of Manhattan's trendiest trattoria. It's so full of itself that it is never merely sold out, but "Fully Committed."

And some 15 years after its local debut it returns, with the full commitment of Brian Mysliwy, nearest thing to theatrical genius hereabouts since the late Chris O'Neill. Some plays challenge actors but author Becky Mode torments them. Word around the Irish Classical Theatre at last Wednesday's preview was that Mysliwy had started mumbling the lines way last September.

"Fully Committed" has a cast of 40, from Bob to Zagat, an dialectical smorgasbord of the fey, the fierce and the frog in the throat. Mysliwy plays them all, sometimes just for a few seconds, requiring in Irish Classical's four-sided hall that he whirl like a blender to leave no patron behind. Even on preview night, the audience curtain-called him with a mixture of laughter, tears and actual sighs of relief.

"Committed" has more plot than Rocket Man remembers at the Kavinoky, a tribute to the actor, his proximity and the direction of Fortunato Pezzimenti, with foundation all the way down the line. While many of the characters – notably the minimally bi-lingual screecher Mrs. Wantanabe – are in it as appetizers, the main course is Sam's frustrated quest for respect as actor, manager and dutiful son who wants to get home to Indiana for Christmas.

Amid the "Reservations, can you hold, please," Sam learns that it's a "failure to project 'self-entitlement'" that's impeding his acting career. Although required at one point to the right the results of a ladies room mis-direction, Sam spices up his personal recipe and things do indeed get better. At least a few of his tormentors get their just desserts, so to speak.

Behind almost every twist of the tale are the twists and trappings of power, who gets to commandeer the coveted Table 31 and who's lucky just to catch the table scraps near the kitchen door. Carrollann Rosenstein-Fishburn and Mrs. Sebag (pronounced "Seabag," the playbill reports with a straight face) are particularly representative of this nauseating societal element, although their attitudes might to qualify them as presidential contenders.

The modest Mysliwy would be the first to hail the vital role of sound designer Tom Makar in serving up "Fully Committed." There are far more sound cues than there are characters, and even at preview there was nary a slip. Lobby photos by Brandi Bruggman give faces to the names, a unique visual aid for this production, running through April 3.

That same day, Rocket Man and First Mate were treated to lunch at the elegant Oliver's on Delaware, which seems the diametrical opposite of the ghastly gastronomics of "Fully Committed." Still, we had to wonder – does anyone subsist in Oliver's basement?

Free Community Narcan Training

The Buffalo Police Department will hold four community Narcan training sessions. The sessions, which are free and open to the public, will focus on how to administer the life-saving overdose antidote. Attendees will receive a free Narcan kit, containing two doses of Narcan, upon completion of the training session.

“As the epidemic of heroin and opioid drug overdose deaths continues in our city, our region and cities across the country, we believe it’s time to train and equip community members to aid in the rescue effort. While having our police officers carry Narcan is making a difference and saving lives, we need the help of our community to further address this important health issue,” said Buffalo Police Department Commissioner Daniel Derenda.

The free Narcan training sessions will be held at the following locations:

Wednesday, March

16th 6 pm – 8 pm at True Bethel Baptist Church, 907 E. Ferry St.

Saturday, April 2nd, 2 pm – 3 pm at New Testament Cathedral, 987 Kensington Ave.

Saturday, April 2nd, 10:30 am – 1:00 pm at Valley Community Center, 93 Leddy St.

Thursday, April 21st, 6 pm – 8 pm at St. Joseph University Parish, 3269 Main St.

In the first 10 days of March, there were 10 overdose deaths in the City of Buffalo, with at least 25 deaths in the city since the beginning of the year.

The drug naloxone, commonly known as Narcan, temporarily reverses the effects of opioids, allowing someone who has suffered an overdose to resume breathing. Administration of Narcan to an overdose victim increases the life-saving window of time for treatment by first responders.

The Free Community Narcan Training Sessions are part of Mayor Byron Brown’s continued commitment to addressing the growing epidemic of prescription opioid drug and heroin abuse in our community.

Support the public schools and colleges our kids deserve.

For the first time in years, New York State has a $5.4 billion budget surplus, instead of a deficit.

State lawmakers should use some of that surplus now, to correct years of inadequate funding for public education.

Moreover, the flawed tax cap law has worsened the funding problem. Because the tax cap is near zero, school districts across the state are unable to raise the revenue needed to provide the academic and support services our kids need and deserve. In fact, more than ten percent of school districts will be forced to cut their school budgets, inflicting even more pain on students.

NYSUT is calling for:

- a school aid increase of $2.5 billion and,
- a $1 billion increase in state funding for SUNY, CUNY and New York’s community colleges.

Andrew Pallotta, Executive Vice President

This Week's Featured Friend:

BENJI

Say hello to Benji!!! Benji has been with us at the shelter for quite a few months now and the volunteers that have worked with him can't understand why. He really is a handsome fellow and has come a long way since the day he showed up at the shelter. He is quite lovable, enthusiastic, happy and enjoys outings. He has been to quite a few adoption events and has been great. He knows his basic commands, enjoys walking, and loves the toys in the yard. He is a bit overwhelmed in his kennel when you go by, so if you see him a little vocal when you come in, don't let that stop you from meeting him. He is just letting you know that he wants to be out, and enjoy some bonding time. He likes his treats, and takes those very nicely, and he did great recently when he had a bath! Benji is a smart lad and he is very eager to please the humans he is with. Benji has had a meet and greets with other dogs, and he did very well but if you have a resident canine in your home, a meet and greet is required to make sure it is a good fit for both dogs. At one point, he seemed very curious about smaller dogs, so perhaps a dog close to his size, or larger would be the best fit. You never know though, odd couples have resulted in the past!! Benji does have moments of energy "spurts" but as always, once he is settled in a home and had some training, he will be fine. In fact, one of the volunteers that is a runner, has taken Benji on running outings and he said that Benji is wonderful. Listens to commands, stays by his side, and is a joy to have with him. He will be a loyal companion for many years to come. Here is a great little segment where Benji had his shining moment on Channel 2's Adopt a Pet Segment.
