Garden Walk Buffalo

Most of the parkways and circles, as well as the Buffalo Japanese Garden and Delaware Park Rose Garden are in the area of Garden Walk. Lake Erie waterfront park (and Garden Walk regular) is home to the Erie Basin Marina University Test Gardens, which evaluates the performance of newly-introduced annuals from commercial growers.

Garden Walk Buffalo has been a destination for garden lovers throughout Western New York and Southern Ontario. Held annually on the last weekend of July, Tens of thousands of visitors flock to Buffalo's West Side to pick up their maps and start walking through the gardens, which are located in clusters within a three-mile radius, with headquarters at strategic points along the way.

The tour highlights urban gardening of every variety, including: Flower, vegetable, native, herb, and organic gardens and every combination in between. Cottage gardens, water gardens, rock gardens, Asian- and English-inspired gardens and even a trial garden for seed companies.

Tiny, exquisitely-appointed courtyards to large and ambitious mansion gardens. Visitors are also get a tour of some of the most diverse and well-preserved nineteenth-century domestic architecture anywhere in America.

The neighborhoods of Garden Walk are also Buffalo's most interesting and eclectic shopping and dining districts, filled with unique gift shops and boutiques, as well as every ethnic food restaurant imaginable.

Garden Walk is made possible through the volunteer efforts of hundreds of gardeners who open their properties to the public for two days along with a crew of volunteers who organize the walk.

PHOEBE

Hey Hey Hey!!! Phoebe here! I am a happy, peppy, pretty, tomboy-ish kind of girl. I love to run in the yard. I love to run after toys. I love to smile and run around. I love to go for walks and check things. I love to go for a jog. I love the outdoors. I am actually on the more petite side, and won't get much bigger. I know how to sit, and will patiently sit waiting for someone to throw me a toy. The shelter kennel isn't a good place for me because my energy gets pent up too quickly. I am all about exploring the world and happily being around my human friends. I would excel at training classes and would really appreciate the structure that it would give me. I hope to find my forever home real soon so that I can become the dog I really want to be. Thanks for checking me out. Hope to meet you soon!!! Pet ID: 31142699

Zoo Welcomes Sea Lions

The Buffalo Zoo is thrilled to formally announce the addition of two California sea lions.

Guests of the Buffalo Zoo have already been enjoying the bullet-like speed of its newest arrivals, two California sea lions. The pair, two sixty-pound females, made their debut during the first of the Zoo's three-night members-only events at the end of June. But, this is not just the story of eight-hundred pound Dallas the sea lion getting a couple of lady friends; this is the story of rescue and conservation.

Since the latter part of 2015, the Buffalo Zoo had been working with the Pacific Marine Mammal Center in Laguna, CA in order to acquire the pair. Both were rescued along the California coast in March and June of 2015. At the time of their rescue, they were believed to be one year old and showed signs of malnourishment, weighing less than fifty pounds at discovery. The condition of the sea lions at the time revealed that the two would have little to no survival chance if re-released. "As a conservation organization, we are pleased that we could offer these two adorable and energetic sea lions the care they required," said Dr. Donna Fernandes, Zoo President & CEO.

In recent years, conservationists have observed a great deal of unusual mortality events (UME's) surrounding the California sea lion. As in this case, many sea lion pups and yearlings are being found stranded.

One contributing factor includes the lack of sea lion prey in close proximity to their on-shore colonies where much of the survival training occurs. This has required mothers to venture further out in the ocean, orphaning the pups in the process. Fernandes adds "they have gained weight since their arrival, get along well with our male sea lion after a careful introductory process, and during the course of their introductions to the habitat, have already offered us the opportunity to educate the public about some of the environmental conditions impacting the species."

Now approximately two years old, Buffalo Zoo keeper staff has named the sea lions Jesse and Pokey. The three sea lions have been introduced and are fully cohabitating in the Sea Lion Cove exhibit, presented by NOCO. The Zoo is open to the public at 10 am daily.

Sea lion Pokey has settled in nicely at the Buffalo Zoo with her companions, Jesse and Dallas.

FORECLOSURE RESCUE SCAMS

Be careful of people who approach you with offers to "save" your home. There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services. 26-29
