

Life Science Career Lab

The Life Science Career Lab gives students a chance to experience six different career paths to see which one is right for them.

Being a teenager begins the age of responsibility, including trying to figure out what career paths lay ahead. Parents, guidance counselors, and teachers play a key role in the process, but real world exposure to career options is limited. It is even more limited when a teenager shows interest and potential excellence in the field of life sciences (science involving living things such as plants, animals, or living things in general), but has no outlet to explore what area within the life sciences arena

STATEMENT FROM MAYOR BYRON W. BROWN ON THE TRAGIC DEATH OF BUFFALO POLICE OFFICER CRAIG LEHNER

The tragic death of Buffalo Police Officer Craig Lehner, a nine-year veteran of the force and a full-time K-9 officer who served in the Army National Guard, is a profound loss for our entire community. I join with all City of Buffalo residents in mourning the loss of this outstanding public servant. My thoughts and prayers are with his loved ones, including his mother, as well as the Buffalo Police Underwater Recovery Team and the many dedicated local, state, federal and Canadian first responders, who worked tirelessly in the search and recovery effort. Law enforcement personnel put their lives on the line to protect our communities every day, and today is a heartbreaking reminder of what that service can cost.

Please join me in honoring and remembering Officer Lehner.

Buffalo Police Officer Craig Lehner

"Thank you to all the agencies who helped bring our Officer Craig Lehner home. God bless him. May he rest in peace." - Buffalo Police

JELLO

Check out this truly handsome dude. Jello is a great big boy, but he is not a bit aggressive. In fact this attractive orange two year old is a bit shy. Once he warms up to you, he is very sweet. Jello enjoys head scratches and treats and will reward you with tiny kitty kisses. Once out of a cage and into a comfy forever home, he should turn into the perfect companion willing to spend quiet evenings sharing your favorite activities. Come and visit this marvelous boy at our off site location at the Cat Adoption Center in Petsmart on Elmwood Avenue.

The adoption fee includes age-appropriate vaccinations, spay/neuter surgery, a microchip, a free bag of food, and a certificate for a first free vet visit to the vet of your choice.

Eichel Shines While Sabres Stumble

This was the season that Jack Eichel was expected to blossom and with two goals and nine points in seven games so far he hasn't disappointed. With his powerful wrist shot the goals are not forthcoming because he simply doesn't shoot enough. League leading goal scorer Alex Ovechkin has 39 shots and nine goals for a 23.1 % shooting percentage. Teammate Evander Kane also has 39 shots with five goals and ten points to lead the team in scoring. Nikita Kucherov of Tampa Bay leads the league with a 29.3 shooting percentage with eight goals on 27 shots. The inference is clear, shoot more and score more.

Eichel's play making has been exemplary with some spectacular primary assists. It's early in the season but his nine points in seven games project to a 105 point season – that's scoring title contention - and he really hasn't gone on a hot streak yet. Eichel's defensive play is improving with a strong effort on back checking using his speed to catch opponents and lift their sticks to disrupt the attack. And he is assuming more of a leadership role calling out his team for not caring enough about winning. Coupled with recent comments from Marcus Foligno about the organization not pushing the players enough to be winners it paints a disturbing picture.

The team around him has been a disappointment with only one win in their first seven games. Other than Kane (5-5-10) and Jason Pominville (4-5-9) every player on the team has underachieved so far.

While Robin Lehner still can't stop a shootout attempt, his teammates also can't score on one. Even Jack Eichel is only 1 for 12 on shootouts and isn't even used as a primary shooter. The Sabres only scored two shootout goals all last season, Lehner says his shootout problems are strictly mental. Imagine being in his shoes (or skates) and your teammates can't score so you have to stop every shot and hope for the best, how would you deal with that?

Defenseman Rasmus Ristolainen seems to be regressing. Veterans Ryan O'Reilly and Kyle Okposo have been noticeably absent from the score sheet. Even though O'Reilly had a pair of goals against Las Vegas in an Oct. 17th loss he said they came at the expense of his defensive game as reflected in his -2 rating on the night.

The team continues to deliver uninspired performances and players talk about how they aren't prepared to start the games. These are the same complaints from last year when coach Dan Bylsma took the fall. The Sabres now we have a new coach and ten new players but the same problems. It looks like GM Jason Botterill needs to swap out a few more players.

Teens Have a Fun Way to Try On Science Career Hats

Once again, thanks to a generous grant from the Cullen Foundation one of the Buffalo Zoo's newest tools will be available to complement traditional career counseling. The grant has allowed for the development of an innovative experiential learning program for teenagers (ages 14-18) who show an interest in careers in life science. The Life Science Career Lab program gives teens the chance to try on at least six different life science career hats to see if any of them fit. Excited by this offering, Buffalo Zoo Curator of Education Tiffany Vanderwerf stated that "teens today need every bit of help in defining their potential career path, so we are thrilled that we have the chance to work with this age group again in 2018 to explore their options in this field; a field near and dear to our hearts."

The Zoo's mission includes educating the public and professionals alike in the topics of threatened and endangered species, habitat conservation, and the overall puzzle of how each component in the environment is directly linked to one another. To this point, Vanderwerf adds "science isn't just about putting on a lab coat and looking under a microscope. While that can be fun for some, science can also be about getting outdoors to figure out how to save plants and animals from extinction, caring for the health of humans and animals, or managing the use of land resources." This new and unique program will take a hands-on approach to career exploration. Eight weeks in duration and running on Saturday mornings, the program culminates with an event at the Zoo for students to showcase their efforts to family, educators, and friends. Not only that, students will be rewarded for their efforts if completing the program in its entirety, with a $250.00 Visa gift card. The program will offer a limited class size, with some eligibility requirements. Additional information, along with the formal application is available on the Zoo's web site, www.buffalozoo.org. The application deadline is Monday, December 4, 2017.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE

Most holy apostle St. Jude Thaddeus faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the name of the traitor who delivered your beloved Master in to the hands of the enemies has caused you to be forgotten by many, but the Church honors and invokes you universally as the patron of hopeless cases and of things despaired of. Pray for me who am so needy; make use, I implore you of that particular privilege accorded to you to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolations and succor of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings particularly (here mention your petition) ... and that I may bless God with you and all the elect throughout eternity. I promise you, O blessed Jude to be ever mindful of this great favor, and I will never cease to honor you as my special and powerful patron and to do all in my power to encourage devotion to you. Amen.
