James and Sammy Gallivan, two brothers leading the Twins to victory in Hertel North Park Youth Baseball in the 2017 season.

By Bill Snyder

Now that Major League Baseball began playing last week, it won't be long before the Hertel North Park Youth Baseball League will be opening their 52nd season in North Buffalo on Saturday, May, 5th, in Shoshone Park.

That's right, 52 years of organized baseball and softball for both boys and girls living in the city. To many, it's the premier place to be in the summertime. Thousands of children are still learning how to play America's game from the ages of four and five years old all the way up to high school age. Several families have returned to the tiny Park, located near the corner of Hertel Avenue and Main Street, to watch their children play in the same space as they did 20 or 30 years ago.

Through March, Coaches and Managers of the League had been meeting to formalize teams through registration of both new and returning players. As

Spring Concert: The Musical Life of Haydn

In a spring concert that is not to be missed, the choirs of Westminster Buffalo join forces with the Western New York Chamber Orchestra to host "The Musical Life of Haydn" on April 13, 7:30 pm at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 724 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo.

The program includes two works of Franz Joseph Haydn: Symphony No. 44 in F-sharp minor and the Theresien Mass. These two pieces received critical acclaim during their first performances in the late 1700's and continue to delight audiences today.

"We are honored to collaborate with our Orchestra-In-Residence, the Western New York Chamber Orchestra, to offer this exciting and provocative musical program," notes Garrett Martin, Organist and Choirmaster at Westminster. "The spring season begins on a festive note with the performance of two Haydn masterpieces."

Admission to the concert is free with donations gratefully received to benefit the Westminster Friends of Music and the Western New York Chamber Orchestra. For more information, call 884-9437 or visit www.wpcbuffalo.org.

Five Thoughts About The Buffalo Sabres

1. Sam Rhinehart's career was shaping up as a major disappointment. The 2014 number two overall pick had put up some decent numbers in his past two seasons but had almost completely vanished from the score sheet throughout the first half of this season scoring only five goals in the first 38 games.

This slump was the result of several factors. First, Rhinehart was switched to center by coach Phil Housley. He had been drafted as a center but with below average foot speed he was more suited to play on the wing in the NHL.

Housley put Rhinehart back on the wing in mid November but still went scoreless for 16 straight games with only a single assist. He had become a perimeter player and was rarely seen in front of the net where his forte had been screening goalies and scoring on deflections and rebounds.

So Rhinehart decided to get back to his net front game and the results have been dramatic. Starting with a goal in the new year's game against the New York Rangers, he has played 41 games and scoring 15 goals and adding 22 assists for 37 points. His scoring has come without having Jack Eichel at center, dispelling the belief that he could only perform with Jack on his line.

2. The Sabres recall Alex Nylander from Rochester. For most of his professional career, the highly touted prospect has looked lost at the AHL level. In 2016-17 he scored only 10 goals and 28 points with a whopping

-24. For this season he has played 48 games with seven goals and 19 assists but has eight points in his last eight games with two goals and six assists. Of note is his +2 rating up from his terrible - 24 last season.

While Nylander had 75 points in 57 junior games, at age 18 he was not ready for professional hockey and struggled in the AHL for almost two full seasons. Over the last month his play for Rochester has improved and the call up gives him a chance to show whether he is ready to play at the NHL pace. If not, another season or so in the American league will give him more time to develop his game and raise his value as an NHL prospect.

3. With the Sabres on target to finish in last place in the NHL for the third time in five seasons. Fans by the thousands stay away from the games and can't even give away their tickets as evidenced by swathes of empty seats. There is pressure on the organization to become a playoff calibre team next season. The Colorado Avalanche finished in last place in 2016-17 with a worse record than Buffalo and one season later are contending for a playoff spot.

4. The Sabres need to make an impact in the 2018 entry draft. If they land the number one pick they will no doubt select franchise potential defenseman Rasmus Dahlin. If they fail to land that top pick they simply must acquire a player who can make an impact at the NHL level. This team needs an infusion of talent. They need to turnover at least half of the roster of a team that looks uninspired on most nights. It will be near impossible to trade away most of these players who because of their poor play have little to no trade value. The best way to improve this team is by drafting and developing young players who can dislodge incumbents from the roster. Brendan Guhle, Casey Nelson and Casey Mittlestadt represent the vanguard of this wave.

5. former Sabre Christian Ehroff retired from professional hockey after playing for Germany's silver medal winning team in the 2018 Olympics. The Sabres still owe him $8.57 million and are paying him $857,143 per year until 2018. Fortunately this buyout does not count against their salary cap.

Alex Nylander Back in Buffalo.

Opening Day

boys and girls have played all their games in Shoshone Park, every night during the week and on Saturdays. There are eight diamonds, perfectly measured according to Babe Ruth League rules, where wins and losses take place. But, most importantly, the girls and boys learn the game and have some fun in the process.

Are you a big fan of the New York Yankees? Have you ever been to Coca-Cola Field to watch the Buffalo Bisons play in Triple A baseball? Regardless of the name of a team, boys and girls receive a uniform shirt and matching baseball cap to wear on Opening Day for their season. There are seven or eight weeks scheduled in a regular season and then playoffs begin. Every team makes the playoffs and a chance to win a championship trophy.

You can still register online at www.hnpybl.com but hurry please. There's only a month remaining before opening day as the BUFFALO ROCKET hits the streets of North West Buffalo. There's still several openings for girls, ages 11 or 12 who wish to play.

Let's hope a local weather forecast can give us some good news about Saturday, May 5th at 11:30 am. It's almost time to Play Ball!

An Open Letter to Our Students... You Give Us Hope.

Thousands are murdered with guns each year. Since Sandy Hook, there have been 239 school shootings with 438 people shot and 138 murdered in our schools including the 17 students, teachers and staff murdered recently at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School.

The adults who are relentlessly fighting to end this carnage and provide you with safe neighborhoods and schools have been shunned and ignored by those in power.

You, the students of Buffalo, Western New York and the Country have done what we adults have been unable to do – create a National movement and awareness focused on safe neighborhoods and schools.

You have come together, organized, demonstrated and forced those who have refused to listen and act to realize that you will not and cannot stop until you have safe neighborhoods and schools.

You have learned your lessons well. Those in power are now on notice that you expect them to learn from you, act now. They know that you will be grading them in the next elections.

We, your teachers in Buffalo and across the Country, are so very proud of you. You give us hope for the future.

Don't give up.
We are with you. Your Teachers.

How The Buffalo Rocket Began: Part Four

This is the fourth in a series of articles on how the Buffalo Rocket came into existence almost 50 years ago. What began as a single sheet flyer in 1969 became a strong weekly in North Buffalo and expanded into the West Side and Riverside. Previous articles could be found on our Buffalo Rocket website.

As our little single page advertising flyer became a full fledged tabloid over the years, it was accepted as a legitimate newspaper, and the popularity grew. The purchase of the West Side Times in 1980 and the demise of the Courier Express in 1982 added to the strength of weekly publications in Buffalo. Many columnists from the Courier joined the already existing writers found on the pages of the Rocket. We had Brian Meyers, Clip Smith, Brian Blessing and many contributing columnists. The Rocket was expanded to 24 pages with 15,000 circulations. The West Side Times was up to 10,000 circulations. Pretty strong combined 25,000, distributed door to door by a professional delivery service, City News Distributors.

As I mentioned earlier my children were the first delivery service. As the paper grew we established routes and had to hire dozens of young people and some adults to do the door to door circulating. We had many families that passed the delivery routes down to their younger siblings. We had the families, Shamrocks, Ostrowski, Mattars, Zengers to mention a few who had multiple members as paperboys/girls. Most were great kids to work with and I looked forward to Thursday afternoons when they lined up at the door to get paid, cash. Got to know them all and had fun kidding with them. That was in the 70's as with the purchase of the West Side Times came the professional delivery service. Ed Jetter, previous publisher of the WST, preferred to not deal with circulation. We then switched to City News Distributors to deliver the Rocket, so sadly dozens of our delivery people were out of a job.

Having a circulation of 25,000 delivered door to door in North and West Buffalo, the Rocket became part of the recognized local "media". Our first official "editor" was Georgia Mullen, followed by Sharon Carr, Paul Likodis, Linda Foley, Dave Rook and others. With the addition of former Courier writers like Doug Smith, Jim Baker, Ray Herman, and Ralph Hubbell, our readership grew. We even became a member of the National Newspaper Association. Even went to the National publishers' conventions. I was now a legitimate publisher! Did not realize how many doors open for the spoiled Media. Press passes to everything. Free shows, free food, offers to speak, it was overwhelming, but I managed.

As would be expected, politicians looked for endorsements. Hey, what do I know so I never endorsed anyone. Let the voters decide. However, for some reason which I do not know, the mayor, Jimmy Griffin, had a personal feud with the only daily newspaper, the Buffalo News. There was no twitter, so he used the weekly papers to express his views. So, he and I became friends. He had a phone next to his desk that he personally answered. I had the number but never used it. If I wanted I could call and he would just say hello. Try that with any mayor nowadays. We got along great and I even sat with him at three of the four super bowls the Buffalo Bills played in. He received a certain amount of tickets and I was fortunate enough to get two of them. Not free but as you know they were hard to attain.

Being a newspaper tycoon was something I never expected. I wondered if I was equal to the task. I had to speak as a speaker. I was asked to be on many boards, asked to be on panels, had to rub elbows with smart educated people. Could a shy high school dropout who knew nothing about the newspaper business fake it? I managed. Ask the people whose elbows I rubbed. Ask the Politicians, businessmen, residents and local leaders how I did. Would hope the answers would be positive? Worked hard with long hours and it was not as profitable as one would think. It was fun meeting all those people and the certain amount of respect that comes with owning a newspaper. Really enjoyed the press passes and free food that came with it. We even had a field pass to the Buffalo Bills and Sabres games. Free hotels in Toronto. I liked being part of the spoiled press. I liked being a "big shot".

Next week we move into a bigger building and purchase a web press to print our own newspapers.

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com.

WILLOW

Willow is a beautiful grey and white girl. This two year old has already raised a family of kittens and sent them off to forever homes. She is now at the Cat Adoption Center at Petsmart on Elmwood Avenue. She is a friendly girl who is very affectionate toward humans but would prefer a home of her own without other cats. We think she came from a home with many other cats and some of her experiences there were not good. Willow definitely prefers peace and quiet. If you would like more information about this lovely girl contact Dee, who was her foster mom while she was raising her litter of rambunctious kittens, to whom she was a loving and attentive parent. PRAYER TO ST. JUDE

Most holy apostle St. Jude Thaddeus faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the name of the traitor who delivered your beloved Master in to the hands of the enemies has caused you to be forgotten by many, but the Church honors and invokes you universally as the patron of hopeless cases and of things despaired of. Pray for me who am so needy; make use, I implore you of that particular privilege accorded to you to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolations and succor of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings particularly (here mention your petition) ... and that I may bless God with you and all the elect throughout eternity. I promise you, O blessed Jude to be ever mindful of this great favor, and I will never cease to honor you as my special and powerful patron and to do all in my power to encourage devotion to you. Amen.
