

Officer Lehner Honored

Craig E. Lehner 1982 - 2017

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy signed a proclamation which designated May 15th as Peace Officers Memorial Day and the week in which that date falls as Police Week. Currently, tens of thousands of law enforcement officers from around the world converge on Washington, DC to participate in a number of planned events which honor those that have paid the ultimate sacrifice.

The National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund released the roll call of names of 360 U.S. law enforcement officers who have died in the line of duty. These names will be engraved this month and formally dedicated at the 30th annual Candlelight Vigil held on the National Mall, between 4th and 7th streets on Sunday, May 13, at 8:00 pm.

Included in this list are the names of 129 officers who were killed in the line of duty in 2017, including Buffalo Police Officer Craig Lehner.

When the addition of these names is completed, the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial will bear the names of 21,541 officers representing all 50 states, the District of Columbia, U.S. territories, federal law enforcement, and military police agencies—all who have made the ultimate sacrifice in our nation's history.

Each May 13th, an estimated 30,000 people assemble for the annual Candlelight Vigil, a signature event of National Police Week when the names of these fallen officers are formally dedicated. Thanks to a partnership with Officer.com, the Vigil is streamed live online so that people across the country can witness this annual tribute to America's law enforcement officers. Individuals interested in the free webcast can register online at www.UnitedByLight.org.

"For the third year in a row, we will come together on the National Mall for an important occasion: to honor the brave lives we lost in the line of duty," said Craig W. Floyd, Chief Executive Officer of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund. "A ceremony will never relieve the loss felt by these families, but we gather to show them that they are not alone. The 900,000 officers currently wearing the badge will carry on their responsibility and dedication of protecting our communities."

The names of they officers added to the National Memorial this year can be found at www.LawMemorial.org/2018RollCall. For a complete schedule of National Police Week events in Washington, DC, visit www.LawMemorial.org/PoliceWeek.

It's Time To Play Ball!

By Bill Snyder

It's time to Play Ball for the North Buffalo Baseball and Softball League in Shoshone Park. The Hertel North Park program opens its 62nd season this Saturday Morning, May 5th with its annual parade up Hertel Avenue near Colvin, at 11:30 am, hopefully under bright sunshine and warmer temperatures.

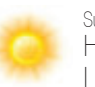

Close to a 1,000 boys and girls have signed up to play this season, surpassing last years' numbers and showing positive proof that the game still lives in the hearts of many young children growing up in North Buffalo. The tiny Park, located near the corner of Hertel Avenue and Main Street, has been the home for the League since its inception in 1957. Thousands of men and women working in various fields in life today have all played and learned the game not far from home.

Under a Buffalo Police and Fire escort, hundreds of children, league officials and some parents will gather alongside the new Cornelius building at Saranac by 11 o'clock to march east on Hertel and through its business district. Many people have been known to come out and watch the teams go by as they make their way to North Buffalo's "field of dreams." The children, ranging in age from four to fourteen will be wearing new uniform

The disappointment on Tim Murray's face reflected the mood of WNY sports fans. Always a bridesmaid. Never a bride. Consecutive NHL draft lottery's, back to back second place finishes. No goal. Four Super Bowl appearances, Four losses. Murray's look as the Edmonton Oilers won the 2014 draft lottery said so much. Even Connor MacDavid looked disappointed.

In spite of mountains of hype and fan enthusiasm, the Sabres drafted second in 2014 and 2015. While one can only ponder the idea of MacDavid in Sabres colors, the sad reality is Buffalo again occupies the NHL cellar. All the draft picks and ten new players meant nothing as the new culture at Keybank Center is a culture of losing.

So when the Sabres qualified for this year's draft lottery, the sounds of silence replaced the earlier excitement of previous lottery draws. Sabres fans don't cheer losing anymore. They just stay home.

And then, against 81.5% odds, good fortune finally smiled on new GM Jason Botterill and the fans when Buffalo finally wins the lottery and is awarded the first pick in the draft. It's just luck really. Tim Murray must have been sitting at home wondering why he couldn't have been this lucky in 2015.

And this was the year to get lucky as the Sabres are in position to draft a prospect said to be the best defenseman to enter the league since Denis Potvin in 1973. That is heady praise indeed as Potvin is a three time winner of the Norris Trophy as best defenseman, four time Stanley Cup champion and member of the Hockey Hall Of Fame.

Rasmus Dahlin is the prospect and he has the ability to change the direction of the franchise and make Buffalo hockey fans feel great about coming the games again. His skating ability and offensive skills are said to be unparalleled. He even plays a robust defensive game and hits like a pile driver. Fellow Swede Nicklas Lidstrom is a seven time Norris Trophy winner and probably the second best defenseman of all time after Bobby Orr said that Dahlin is farther along than he was at the same age.

Buffalo missed out on Connor MacDavid, but Dahlin has been called "The Connor MacDavid of defensemen."

Dahlin was named the best defenseman at the World Junior championships in Buffalo. He has been playing professional hockey in the very fast paced Swedish Elite League since he was 16 years old. With 20 points in 41 games in the Sweden it's not likely that he will dominated statically as a rookie. But his skating ability and play making should help Jack Eichel use his elite wrist shot and become more of a finisher. Dahlin should supplant Eichel as the team's best player within one or two seasons as he gets acclimated to the NHL and the long 82 game schedule.

And Dahlin is just the first of a wave of Swedish prospects crossing the pond to Buffalo. The Sabres added another Swedish player Lawrence Pilut who won the Borje Salming Trophy as the best defenseman in the Swedish Elite League. Pilut played for HV71 and led his team and all league defenseman in scoring with 37 points. He is 22 and has played 182 games over four seasons with an impressive +47. Pilut is an offensive minded finesse player, a good but not elite skater, not physical. He projects as a potential second pair defenseman if he can adapt to the smaller NHL rinks and longer schedule.

Victor Olafsson was the Sabres 7th round pick 181st overall in 2014. Playing for Modo, he led the Swedish League with 27 goals at age 22 and added 16 assists for 43 points in 50 games. At 5'11" and 172 pounds he is a very small player by NHL standards. He is a natural goal scorer and has primarily been a power play specialist in the SHL. He and Pilut will likely need development time in Rochester to evaluate their aptitude for the NHL.

Rasmus Asplund was the Sabres 2nd pick 33rd overall in 2016. While Buffalo has not announced his signing, he has already told his Swedish team that he will not be returning in 2018-19. With only 8 goals and 28 points in 50 game and only 20 goals in 170 career SHL game for Färjestad BK, Asplund will need to prove himself in Rochester before he can be an NHL player.

ELAINE

My name is Elaine. I am a 3 year old black and white female. I rarely meow, I am very quiet, except when I purr, which is quite loud. When you pet me, I instantly start to purr and knead. I am a little shy at first, but once I get to know you, I will want to be in the same room as you. I like to sleep on the bed at your feet. Sometimes I will cuddle on your lap or curl up next to you to take a nap. I can make a toy out of anything I find on the floor, but my favorite toy is a little stuffed bird with feathers that chirps. I like to throw it up in the air and catch it. I am not a picky eater. I would do best in a quiet home. I have not been dog tested. I am not sure how I would do with other cats, because I was too scared to come out of my cage at the shelter, and I have been living alone with my foster mom. I have short(er) legs, and a short tail, which makes me extra cute. The tip of my left ear is missing and I injured my tail and had to have the tip of it removed. My tail looks like a regular tail, just a little shorter. I am completely healed and rested and now want to find my forever home. Please contact my foster mom Kate with any questions at 248-946-1141.

Boys will be Boys

A couple of weeks ago I wrote a column about the movie “A Tree Grows in Brooklyn”. What moved me about the story was the love the girl had for her father. Made me think of when my three girls were little and the good memories I have of those special years. I think at least two of my daughters have read the column and the one expressed her appreciation for the thoughts. However some of my sons read it and wondered when they will be mentioned in one of my writings. So here goes. Now boys are different than girls, especially in the growing up stages. Daughters are sweet and cuddly and want to hear bedtime stories. I can’t even imagine any one of the five boys wanting me to sit on the edge of their bed and tell them made up tales about a hero father. Four of the five brothers were born in a row. We had a girl, four boys, two girls and a boy as a caboose. Pointing out that the four were pretty much together in age. That was a good thing and sometimes a bad thing. Good that they hung out together and shared companionship. Did many things outdoors, sports, recreation, camping and fishing. Always someone to share time with. However that is a lot of testosterone in one house. Meaning that they did not always agree on different things and arguments would break out. Then the wrestling matches began. I do not recall any punches being thrown, but lots of grabbing and pushing. Instead of trying to punish them, I would encourage them to have it out. But not in the house. My favorite solution to these mini battles was to “Take it out on the lawn so you do not break anything.” Volunteered to referee the event to make sure no one got seriously hurt. Guess what! Not once did they go out on the lawn to settle it. Rather than do that they felt it was wiser and less hurtful to shake hands. There is an advantage to having sons. Built in helpers on any project you do. One was always at my side to hand me a tool or help me hold something. Being that we were a little short of cash as a big family, do it yourself was the rule of the day. And we did lots of it ourselves. Carpentry work, concrete work, electrical work, we even put our own roof on our two story house. Not like professionals would, but functional and whatever we did worked. If you like the outdoors, having sons is great. Camping and fishing were always on the summer agenda. We were not hunters and if we caught fish we either released them or if they were eatable, we ate them. It was also nice for the girls to have big brothers to protect them on the outside. We lived on the West Side and although I loved it there, it was not safe just before we moved. The other thing I enjoyed about having sons was watching their achievements in sports and academics. Went to almost every sporting event they participated in. Judo, wrestling, football, soccer, golf, bowling, and others. Did the same with the girls but theirs were more on the academic side. In all we were fortunate to have both girls and boys and in spite of the many hardships we endured, it was great having a big family. So now we can reap the benefits of having our adult children take care of us. And they do. Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com.

Ask Rusty

Dear Rusty: I reached my full retirement age and I plan to file for my benefits to start in June 2018. My wife doesn't have enough credits to qualify for benefits on her own lifetime income, but she reached her Social Security full retirement age in December 2017. Since my wife will only be eligible for a spousal benefit, are there any particular nuances of filing that I need to be aware of? Signed: Wanting to Make the Right Decisions.

Dear Wanting: Since your wife is only eligible for spousal benefits, she cannot collect those until you start collecting your benefits. If you file in June 2018, your wife should simultaneously file for spousal benefits. You can file online at www.ssa.gov, by phone, or in person at your local Social Security office (find it at www.ssa.gov/locator).

While there are various considerations when filing for spousal benefits, since your wife doesn't qualify for Social Security on her own work record and she's already reached her full retirement age (FRA), she really only has one option – to file for her benefits when you file for yours. Your wife's spousal benefit will be 50% of the benefit you were entitled to at your FRA (plus any cost of living adjustments, or COLA, given since then) because she has already reached her full retirement age.

Finally, if you predecease your wife, she will get 100% of the amount you were receiving at your death (including any increase from delayed retirement credits) instead of the smaller spousal benefit she was receiving.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE

Most holy apostle St. Jude Thaddeus faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the name of the traitor who delivered your beloved Master in to the hands of the enemies has caused you to be forgotten by many, but the Church honors and invokes you universally as the patron of hopeless cases and of things despaired of. Pray for me who am so needy; make use, I implore you of that particular privilege accorded to you to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolations and succor of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings particularly (here mention your petition) ... and that I may bless God with you and all the elect throughout eternity. I promise you, O blessed Jude to be ever mindful of this great favor, and I will never cease to honor you as my special and powerful patron and to do all in my power to encourage devotion to you. Amen.
