

21st Annual Elmwood Kiwanis Fishing Derby

More than one hundred children attended this year's annual Elmwood Kiwanis Fishing Derby. The kids caught many fish including a painted turtle and a twelve inch large mouth bass. A good time was had by all!

The 21st annual Elmwood Kiwanis Fishing Derby was held Wednesday at Hoyt Lake in Delaware Park. Volunteers from United Way Day of Caring 2018 assisted with over 100 campers from the Delaware YMCA for this year's event. The Elmwood Kiwanis Club offers an annual opportunity for the Delaware Family YMCA day camp participants to experience fishing at Delaware Park. This year's event is made possible by a large group of volunteers from Crowley Webb and National Grid. Together

New York might be home to the Yankees but in Hertel North Park Youth Baseball, a team from Boston can win a Championship in Shoshone Park. That's exactly what happened this summer for the Rookie Boys Division in North Buffalo. Thirteen boys, ages six and seven won the Championship in the division just up from t-ball and put together a season against nine other teams that would make the City of Boston proud.

"I had a great time," said seven year old infielder John Salerno. "It was

Sabres Hockey SPORTS by George Kuhn

The Sabres Acquire Domink Hasek

On this day in hockey history, August 7th 1992, the Buffalo Sabres acquired Dominik Hasek from the Chicago Blackhawks for goalie Stephane Beauregard and a fourth round draft choice in 1993 which the Hawks used to draft Eric Daze. Hasek had been in the Chicago organization from 1990-92 playing 25 games with the NHL Hawks and 53 games with the IHL Indianapolis Ice.

Chicago traded Hasek because they already had two solid goalies, Ed "Eddie" Belfour and Jimmy Waite, with Belfour playing the majority of the team's games. 1 Beauregard was a career backup who bounced between the NHL and AHL. Daze ended up having a solid NHL career with 398 points in 601 games over 11 seasons with Chicago. Little did the Sabres know exactly what they had as Hasek started his career in Buffalo as a backup to Grant Fuhr, he became the starter after Fuhr got injured. Working with goalie coach Mitch Korn, "The Dominator" defined his revolutionary playing style and won Vezina trophy his first year as a starter with a phenomenal 1.95 GAA and went on to lead the NHL in save percentage for an astounding six consecutive seasons. Hasek won the Vezina trophy six times, was a first team all star six times and was named the leagues best player in 1996-97 and 1997-98 winning the Lester Pearson trophy as voted by the NHL players association. Hasek is arguably the greatest goalie in NHL history. This writer ranks him third behind Terry Sawchuk and Patrick Roy.

Normal Bicycles, a wooden bicycle frame manufacturer, is pleased to announce the upcoming launch of their flagship product, the Urban Scout. Normal Bicycles' frames are an innovative combination of hard maple, carbon fiber and Kevlar that results in a stunning urban machine. Normal Bicycles first set up shop at the Foundry, a creative makerspace and workshop on the east side of Buffalo back in September 2017. Since then, owner Chris Kudla has been designing and building prototypes, designing custom brackets, building test fixtures and refining a production process to produce consistent, high-quality bike frames. The bicycles are built to industry safety standards with industry standard components and cared for as you would any other loved bicycle. Kudla is inviting everyone to a launch celebration at Flying Bison Brewing Company on August 24th. More details will be available through the website www.normalbicycles.com in the next couple of weeks.

This extremely bubbly boy is Chuckles. You can chuckle when you say his name as it does bring a smile to your face. Chuckles, or "Chucky" has a bounce in his step, and all the kisses just waiting for you. He knows how to sit, take his treats nicely and is eager to learn more from his human pals. Chuckles recently spent time in a bachelorette dog picture scavenger hunt and charmed all those he met on his big adventure. Chuckles is sponsored by his bachelorette gals and can't wait to find his forever home where he will just melt your heart. Chuckles is still a playful lad but will happily lounge around for a good belly scratch and has the most adorable little snorts to express his happiness. Consider adding Chuckles to your life to give you lots of laughter.

Elephant-less Zoo?

Elephants in the Living Room. There is a movie with that title. Now we have in reality the elephants are leaving our living room. In case you have not heard, the two Elephants, Jothi and Surapa, at our zoo will soon be heading south. To New Orleans to be exact. Animal activist have come to the conclusion that conditions at our zoo are not adequate for the aging pachyderms. Weather had something to do with the local heart-breaking decision. If you live in Buffalo you are aware that the winters can be brutally cold. Elephants come from warmer climates and Louisiana weather is more adaptable to their needs. So you can say the move is the right one. There are no plans to replace or add any new elephants to the zoo.

As far back as I can remember, and that is a long time, there has been elephants at the zoo. The elephant house was one of the main attractions. If memory serves me right Lulu was there for many, many years. She was a staple and much loved. Also I think that the ones we have now were just baby elephants when they came here. No facts but I also think they have been here for about 30 years. I also recall the expansion of the outside area for the elephants to roam. There has been many renovations and improvements made to the zoo recently. For that the administration should be commended. However, there are some questions about the decision to not replace these huge mammals and one of the main attractions for visitors and tourist.

No one wants to see any animal abused in any way. What is the best quality of life of the live exhibit should be first and foremost. Perhaps the age of these elephants became the major factor combined with the harsh Buffalo weather. As far as I know the climate here has not changed in the last hundred years. It always has been cold in the winter. Yet we have had elephants here as far back as I can remember. So would it be considered abuse to bring in new younger pachyderms? It is just that these magnificent majestic creatures are a must see at the zoo. To take away this attraction is like a circus without clowns. In all the years we have been visiting the zoo, we always had to see the elephants. It was a major stop. One memorable visit to this exhibit was with my brother-in-law from Ohio. As we stood and watched her bathe, I think it was Lulu, standing waist deep in her pool, she took a trunk full of water and shot it out all over my brother-in-law. He stood there soaking wet, covered with straw, and laughing. What a sight. Now that will never happen again.

Back when we were trying to keep the zoo in North Buffalo Surapa was just a youngster. Now 37 years old.

The Buffalo zoo is the third oldest in the country. It was founded in 1875. When my children were youngsters the zoo had no admission charges. It was common for us to spend Sunday afternoons enjoying the now gone monkey island, dozens of small monkeys running around a large concrete mountain surrounded by a water moat. Eddie, the performing chimpanzee, the sea lion pool located dead center, splashing and diving to the delight of the crowd, Lulu the elephant spraying the on-lookers with water. Have to say it was sad back then to see the tigers and lions pacing in small cages. That has been improved along with the gorilla exhibit. All in all the zoo is still a place to bring your children, visiting friends, and family. It is still located right here in North Buffalo in spite of a campaign to move it to the waterfront a few years back.

There are probably some who would prefer there were no zoo at all. No animal should be kept in captivity anywhere. In some ways they are right but then that would deprive children the delight of seeing exotic animals in the flesh. Real live moving mammals, reptiles, birds, and even insects. It is a part of maturing education, but is that worth sacrificing the freedom the animals have unwillingly chosen to give up? Too bad we can't ask them.

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com

Beware The Attack Of The Ticks

It's the height of summer, a time of year when we are most vulnerable to insect-borne diseases. It's a threat that will still be with us well into the Fall. Dr. Robert R. Redfield, director of the Centers for Disease Control [CDC], warns that "a growing list of diseases caused by the bite of an infected mosquito, tick, or flea have confronted the U.S. in recent years, making a lot of people sick."

Tick attacks can be particularly nasty for seniors, says Dan Weber, president of the Association of Mature American Citizens. "They can cause several different illnesses, most notably Lyme disease. All of these sicknesses can have harsh symptoms but they rarely result in death, although the elderly have weaker immune systems and are therefore more susceptible."

According to the CDC the symptoms of Lyme disease include fever, rash, facial paralysis and arthritis and can last up to six months. The Interim Healthcare Web site notes that these "symptoms can be harsh but slow to set in

- a person could be infected with Lyme disease for a full month with nothing but a small rash at the bite location before more serious symptoms set in. Later stage Lyme can include increased rashes, partial facial paralysis, arthritis and joint pain, irregular heartbeat, brain and spinal cord swelling, nerve pain and short-term memory loss."

Not all ticks carry Lyme disease. Weber says, "it is the blacklegged tick and the western blacklegged tick that are the culprits. They are not common in all 50 states. In fact, up until about 20 years, they were common only in the Northeastern United States. But two decades later they can be found in 1,531 counties spread across 43 states.

Weber says he did some research and found that you can tell the difference between the blacklegged and the common dog tick [which is not known to spread disease] by the physical differences between the two. The blacklegged tick is much smaller than the dog tick and the dog tick has white markings on its back. The AMAC chief also suggests that you do not panic if you find a tick has attached itself to your body; you've got up to 24 hours before an infection can set in. So you have time to get help in removing it at an ER, for example. "Whatever you do, don't try to squeeze it out or use a lit cigarette to coax it out. If you can't get medical help, use tweezers to grip it as close as possible to its mouth to remove."

To prevent tick bites, the CDC suggests that you:

- Treat clothing and gear with products containing 0.5% permethrin. Permethrin can be used to treat boots, clothing and camping gear and remain protective through several washings. And that you,

- Use Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)-registered insect repellents containing DEET, picaridin, IR3535, Oil of Lemon Eucalyptus (OLE), para-menthane-diol (PMD), or 2-undecanone. Always follow product instructions.

a lot of fun. The coaches all helped us out. The new guys on the team stepped up, this was great." Salerno was just one of five boys back from last year, who helped lead the Red Sox to a 9-3 season, good for third place in the division. He along with David Reyes, Leo Schult, Nathan Smith and Pavel Schneidermann were part of a batting order that clobbered a baseball at the plate, knocking in teammates and sending an opponent home with another loss. Teams like Royals and Rays, Athletics and Indians and yes, even the Yankees.

Their coach, Randy Hadden, was the man most responsible for the good times. "The boys all played their hearts out," he would say after the games. "It was truly a total team effort where it was tough to single anyone out. They all played great and I'm proud of them."

In the ten team, double elimination playoffs, the Red Sox were matched up with their arch-enemies, the Yankees in the first game. A 5-4 victory over the "boys from the Bronx" kept Boston in the winners bracket and a date with the Blue Jays. The Yanks battled hard against the Royals and Orioles but they were no match for the division leading Astros. The Red Sox took care of the Blue Jays before two big games against the Mariners.

"That was an incredible game," said a coach afterward. "We were down 15-2 after four innings in that first Mariner game July 21st. The boys dug down deep, scoring 18 runs over the last two and ended up winning, 20-18. It was the turning point in our season and we knew after that, we weren't gonna be stopped."

Other players on the Red Sox included Anderson Jackson, Caiden Sutter, Michael Eberz, Will Toolley, Liam Conrad, Nolan Mancuso, Vinny Majcharzak and Benjamin Hadden. Coach Hadden credits the play of second year players Johnny Salerno, Dave Reyes, Leo Schult, Nate Smith and Pavel Schneidermann for the teams success. It was fun being "Teddy ballgame!"

these community service organizations and volunteers spend a few hours making a considerable impact on the development of Buffalo City youth. For many of the day camp participants this is the only time they have had an opportunity to go fishing. To see the excitement that the children have when they catch a fish is priceless. The Elmwood Kiwanis Club is a great example of a community partnership that works closely with the Delaware Family YMCA to support youth and families.

Help for Homeowners in Foreclosure

New York State Law requires that we send you this notice about the foreclosure process. Please read it carefully.

Summons and Complaint
You are in danger of losing your home. If you fail to respond to the summons and complaint in this foreclosure action, you may lose your home. Please read the summons and complaint carefully. You should immediately contact an attorney or your local legal aid office to obtain advice on how to protect yourself.

Sources of Information and Assistance

The State encourages you to become informed about your options in foreclosure. In addition to seeking assistance from an attorney or legal aid office, there are government agencies and non-profit organizations that you may contact for information about possible options, including trying to work with your lender during this process.

To locate an entity near you, you may call the toll-free helpline maintained by the New York State Department of Financial Services at (800) 342-3736 or visit the Department's website at <http://www.dfs.ny.gov>.

Rights and Obligations
YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO LEAVE YOUR HOME AT THIS TIME. You have the right to stay in your home during the foreclosure process. You are not required to leave your home unless and until your property is sold at auction pursuant to a judgment of foreclosure and sale.

Regardless of whether you choose to remain in your home, YOU ARE REQUIRED TO TAKE CARE OF YOUR PROPERTY and pay property taxes in accordance with state and local law.

Foreclosure Rescue Scams
Be careful of people who approach you with offers to "save" your home. There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services. 33-36
