

Ghosts on the USS Sullivan

In honor of All Hallows Eve and things that go bump in the night, the Buffalo Naval Park is hosting the Buffalo Double Decker Bus Paranormal Buffalo Tour.

Do spirits inhabit the ships inside Buffalo’s Naval Park? Come aboard the ships at the Buffalo Naval Park and find out for yourself. Ghost Hunting 101 is aimed at people who are curious about spirits. The guide for the events is Glenn White, a veteran paranormal investigator who is also a psychic. He is recognized as an expert in paranormal investigations and physical seances.

The devices used during Ghost Hunts include K-2 sensors and audio recorders. Ghost hunters believe that spirits can communicate by changing energy fields which cause the lights on the meter to respond. Other devices such as lasers are used to detect movement by spirits within a space. The hunts are every Friday and Saturday night in October at the Naval Park. For ticketing and more information, please visit <http://buffalohistorytours.com/buffalo-ghost-hunt>.

Sabres Close Out Successful Road Trip

The Buffalo Sabres closed out a successful west coast road trip with three wins and two losses. The road trip opened on October 13th with a 3-0 win against the woeful Arizona Coyotes. Woeful meaning the 'Yotes had been shutout in three of four games. The Sabres then lost badly on October 16th in Las Vegas 4-2 and in San Jose 5-1 on October 18th to drop to a 3-4 record. Two more losses to finish the trip would put the team at 3-6 and in a crisis mode early in the season.

Then it all came together on Saturday October 20th in a 5-1 win in Los Angeles where the Sabres dominated the Kings in building a 4-0 lead through two periods on goals by Jason Pominville, Jeff Skinner (2) and Zach Bogosian. Skinner completed a hat trick in the third period. Of particular good news Jack Eichel earned the primary assists on the opening two goals and finished with three assists along with a plus three. This was a significant step for Eichel who dominated play at even strength after ranking with the sixth worst plus minus record at minus six among the league's 500 players through the first seven games.

Eichel earned another assist in the teams 4-2 win in Anaheim on Sunday October 21st and was a plus one. The Ducks took a 2-0 lead in this game. Rather than fold the Sabres rallied for a 4-2 victory. Jeff Skinner scored to give him four goals in the two games since being moved on to the top line with Eichel. The Sabres scored two goals 1:28 apart in the second period to tie the game 2-2, and Ristolainen's power-play goal at 3:57 of the third gave them a 3-2 lead.

Berglund scored into an empty net at 19:43.

"Two complete games that we just played, and I thought that was the first time all year that we got down in a game and we just never changed the way that we played. That second goal could have been a back breaker for us, but we just stuck with it. We played the exact same way and we got rewarded", said Kyle Okposo.

"When we are moving the puck quick and guys are moving back into position, we countered quickly, from that point, I think we had a shot mentality. Everything was going to the net and more guys were getting there and making it tough for (goalie Ryan) Miller and we got rewarded", said coach Phil Housley.

This game was a gut check for the Sabres and the comeback was their best performance of the season. The team host the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night at the Keybank Center.

Halloween Safety Tips

2. Dress like a ghouel or goblin, but stay safe. Make sure costumes and candy bags or pails are reflective. Costumes shouldn't drag too far on the ground to avoid tripping, and masks, hats, and shoes should be well-fitting.

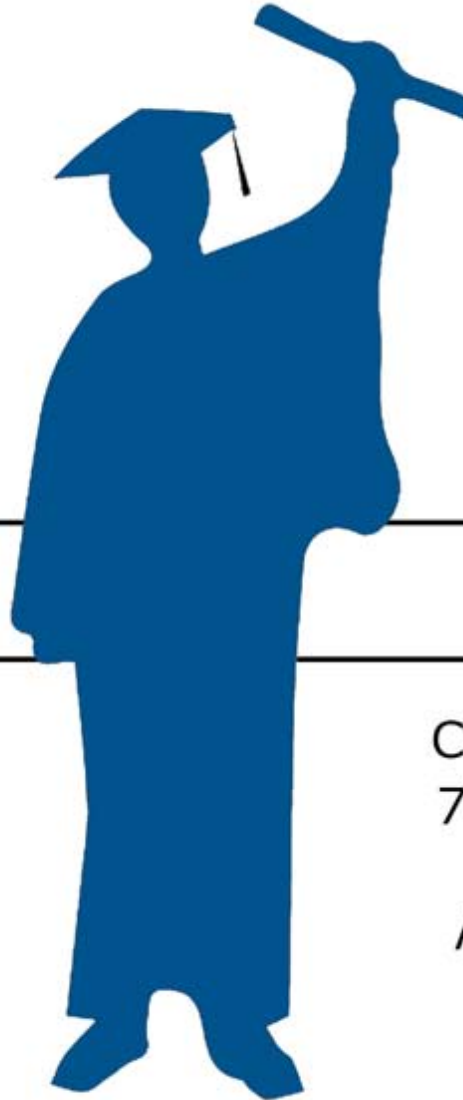

3. If you plan to be driving during trick-or-treat hours, watch for children walking on roadways, medians, and curbs. Be sure to enter and exit drive-ways carefully.

4. Use well-marked routes to get to the candy. Always use the sidewalk, and do not cut across yards or use alleys. Wherever possible, cross the road at a crosswalk.

5. When in doubt, throw the candy out. Avoid candy that has loose wrappings, is completely unwrapped, has puncture holes, or is homemade and not factory-wrapped. Small children should not be allowed hard candy, which could be a choking hazard. Boo safe out there!

ADOPT A PET

This Week's Featured Friend:

KANO

Kano is a 12-18 month old bully breed mix who was recently surrendered to the shelter. His previous owner was an older gentleman who no longer had the strength or energy to take care of a large and powerful boy like Kano. When you see this guy in person, he is such a sight to behold! Kano is HUUUUUGE, with a bowling ball sized head and a massively muscled body. He easily has to weigh 100 to 110 lbs. We suspect there must be some mastiff DNA in his pitie genes because of his impressive size. While this incredible hulk of a dog is gorgeous and friendly, Kano is going to need a very strong handler with large breed experience, as he is a lot to handle and does need lots of corrections with his walking, jumping on people, and basic manners. Because of his sheer size and strength, we think a home with small children is not a good placement for this oversized Adonis. Kano is a big, goofy guy who loves to run around and play and meet new friends. Kano has done well with prong training, and definitely has a lot of potential to learn and grow, but will need lots of time, energy and dedication. Can your heart and home handle this oversized moosh face? Check him out today!

The Caravan

Not to be political, and I try not to be, but the caravan is the big story and it is happening right now. Just want to express my personal observations. Here in Western New York we seldom have contact with immigrants from Central America, unless you go to a Mexican restaurant. Living here all my life, that is the way I have found it. It is only on occasion that we experience people who speak only Spanish. That is not the case in Florida where I spend the winters. There it is dominated with Hispanic speaking workers who speak no English. Some are clerks and hard to communicate with when making a purchase. But that is the way it is down there. You learn to accept it.

The state would have trouble existing without the migrant workers from south of the border.

They do almost all the construction work, maid and housecleaning, picking, landscaping, and the hospitals are loaded with nurses and doctors from Central and South America. Hispanic doctors you could find here. It is so common down there, where I have been spending the winters for over 20 years, you think nothing of it. That is the way of life, in Florida at least.

A few years back there was a crew of Mexican immigrants working on the river bank behind our house. It was raining, and they were soaked. I invited them on to our lanai to get out of the rain. My wife made them coffee. One spoke English and was able to interpret our conversation. He expressed how happy they were to be able to work and send money back to their families. They all lived together in a trailer and shared the food to keep cost down. More money to send home. You must respect that.

Last year hurricane Irma passed over our property in Southwest Florida. Lots of damage. Almost everyone's roof on our street had to be replaced. The crews that did the work were all Hispanic. Not one non-Hispanic worker among them. If one did speak any English, he was usually elevated to boss of the crew. Realize here that the weather in Florida, and especially in the Southern part, is warm to hot. The sun shines all day almost every day in the winter. These crews would work mostly in the sun and heat without letting up, except to have lunch. Watched them go at it on dozens of roofs in our neighborhood. They got the job done. Relentless workers. You must respect that.

Another observation I made is their commitment to their families. The Hispanic men have nothing on their minds except to take care of their wives and children. Many of these workers work just to make enough money to barely feed themselves. The rest is sent back home to their families, wherever they may be. Those that are here as citizens are also dedicated fathers. We sometimes attend a Mexican flea market near our home on Sundays. It is a church day and the women and children are dressed in their Sunday church going best. This is where you see the families as one. Happy to have found a life here in America.

Now for the caravan. I truly feel sorry for the people who are just looking to find a better life for themselves and their families. Wish there was an answer. Wonder why where they come from cannot provide better circumstances for them to live in. After the Mexican war in 1849 Mexico could have been part of the United States. The president at the time did not want that. Wonder as part of the US, if things would be different. Mexico is a beautiful country. Americans go there to vacation. The weather is good, and the people are hard working. What would it take to make it, so they are happy at home? That there would be no need for the hardships they are now enduring trying to make it to the promise land.

Unfortunately, the caravan will have to be in some way deterred. If successful there would only be more caravans. Only more chaos and hardships. Lets just hope that this all ends in a good way. Nobody gets hurt and those who are looking for happiness, are able to find it.

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com

Medicare Part D

Seniors will have until December 7th to select their Medicare plans for the coming year. Traditional Medicare plans cover physician and hospital visits, among other basic health services. But for many seniors -- particularly those battling chronic conditions -- basic Medicare coverage isn't enough. That's why many beneficiaries purchase supplemental drug coverage through Medicare Part D stand-alone plans, or Medicare Advantage plans that include Part D benefits.

Part D plans aren't one-size-fits-all. In some states, seniors have as many as 30 different plans to choose from, each of which features different premiums, co-pays, and covered drugs. Plans are quite affordable. In 2019, the average Part D monthly premium will cost just over $32 -- which is even cheaper than the previous year.

These low premiums are no accident. Part D forces private insurers to compete against one another for seniors' business. Indeed, insurers negotiate directly with drug companies -- and the government is prohibited from negotiating or setting prices. The end result is quality coverage at an affordable price.

Seniors who enroll in Part D coverage experience an 8 percent reduction in hospitalizations, according to a recent study by Johns Hopkins University and University of Illinois researchers. Part D has curbed senior mortality by 2.2 percent each year since its implementation, according to a study in the Journal of Health Economics.
