All are invited to join Westminster Presbyterian Church for the annual Christmas Eve Festival of Lessons and Carols on Monday, December 24th, 10 pm, at 724 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo. The Festival of Lessons and Carols celebrates the birth of Christ with biblical readings from both Testaments that anticipate and depict his nativity. The readings will be accompanied by choral music and congregational carols. This high and holy service of worship is celebrated in the church's historic sanctuary in candlelight. The Festival of Lessons and Carols is modeled after the service of the same name that originated at Kings College, Cambridge, England over a century ago. The service will be led by the Reverend Dr. Thomas H. Yorty, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church. "The service is profoundly moving, and somehow, year in and year out, tells this very old story that strangely never gets old but manages to speak to the deepest pain and longing of our time," says Dr. Yorty. The Westminster Choirs, the Westminster Handbells, and the Buffalo Brass Octet will present sacred Christmas carols accompanied by Westminster's historic Aeolian-Skinner pipe organ. The Westminster music ministry is led by

Garrett Martin, Organist and Choirmaster at Westminster. "These cherished Christmas carols and anthems presented by the choirs are much-loved by all and are presented in grand style during this festival service," says Martin. "We hope you will join us and lend your voice as we sing together."

Although it is winter in Western New York, it's not too early to look forward to Shakespeare In Delaware Park's 2019 summer productions. Share your summer thoughts with a loved one this Holiday Season by making a donation to SDP in the name of a friend or family member. It is your support which makes the festival possible. This Holiday Season they give thanks for your generosity and continued support.

Assemblymember Crystal D. Peoples-Stokes Appointed Majority Leader

Speaker Carl Heastie today appointed Assemblymember Crystal D. Peoples-Stokes(D-Buffalo) to serve as Majority Leader of the New York State Assembly. "Serving alongside Crystal Peoples-Stokes, I have had the opportunity to see firsthand how hard she works for the people of Buffalo and for families across our state," Speaker Heastie said. "Crystal is a trusted colleague who I have known for many years, and her experience and dedication to improving the lives of all New Yorkers is why I know she will make an ideal partner in leading the Assembly Majority. Crystal is widely respected by her colleagues and I am proud to appoint her as the next Majority Leader of the People's House." "I am proud and honored that Speaker Heastie has asked me to serve as majority leader for the New York State Assembly," Assemblymem-

Crystal D. Peoples-Stokes

ber Peoples-Stokes said. "Throughout my career I have fought so that everyone - regardless of zip code, school district, race or background - has access to the tools and opportunities they need to succeed. I look forward to using my new role as majority leader to continue fighting for New York's families." The majority leader is responsible for the day-to-day operational duties of the Assembly chamber, including overseeing the floor during debates. Assemblymember Peoples-Stokes has represented the 141st Assembly district since 2003. She previously chaired the Assembly Committee on Governmental Operations, as well as holding positions on the Ways and Means, Higher Education, Environmental Conservation and Rules committees. Throughout her tenure in the Assembly, Assemblymember Peoples-Stokes has been an advocate for social justice and representation in New York State. She has championed criminal justice reforms, particularly in the sealing of records for certain offenses and repairing the disproportionate harm drug policing does in communities of color. Assemblymember Peoples-Stokes is a graduate of Buffalo Public Schools and Buffalo State College. She is a former educator, administrator, community organizer and Erie County legislator.

BENITA

This beautiful gal of about 2 yrs of age is Benita and she is hoping to find her home so she can snuggle in a warm bed, wear a nice warm sweater and enjoy the company of her human family. Benita has the cutest little bounce in her step and is willing to lean in for a good scratch and offer up loving kisses in return. She knows how to sit and is willing to learn more commands once adopted into her home. Benita has a shorter stature with a little curvy physique that just adds to her overall cuteness. We do feel that she does not prefer the company of cats, so we recommend a home without them. We are still learning about her and other dogs as she is newly up for adoption but we always require a meet and greet. Benita has a wiggly personality and will make a great addition to your life and with some good food, less stress from shelter life and some added extra healthy treats, her beautiful black coat will shine ever so brightly. Make sure you meet our little lady Benita when looking for a new best friend.

Christmas Morning On TV

There has been lots of Christmas eves and lots of Christmas days. Outstanding memories and stories of things that happened over the Holidays through the years. Yet here is one that really stands out as the most unusual and out of the norm of all. The year Channel 4 Television news decided they wanted to video a large family on Christmas morning. Yes, we were the chosen ones as our neighbor knew we had, at the time, seven children with a good looking father. And mother. He worked for the television station and was familiar with us and our traditions. He thought it would be a perfect fit.

We were informed well in advance of the TV Christmas plan. The television crew would come into our house and record the whole event on Christmas morn from coming down the stairs, the excitement of our little kiddies seeing what Santa had brought them and the whole holiday atmosphere. Now how great is that? We were going to be television stars even if it was brief. We all knew it was going to happen so nothing was a surprise. Now we had to prepare for this big moment. The anticipation was overwhelming. The kids jumped up and down at the news of the upcoming experience. We were going to be on TV so we had to get ready.

We did have family traditions that were passed down from generation to generation. For some reason Santa decorated the tree when he came on Christmas Eve. The tree was in its stand but bare of any ornaments. No one was allowed downstairs before anyone else in the morning. They all came down the stairs together except of course Santa who had to turn on the tree lights and music. Knowing this was going to be seen by thousands of people on TV, preparations had to be made. Santa spent his last penny making sure the under the tree display of toys made the choice of our family as TV stars a good one. We had to prepare.

Finally, Christmas Eve arrived and we tried to get the sweet little things to bed as early as possible. That gave Santa more time to trim the tree, assemble what toys needed to be assembled and there were plenty. Had to make sure everything was perfect. Our nine stockings were hung in a row on our black marble fireplace. The Christmas chart with the marks of good and bad for each child so Santa knew who was naughty and who was nice. Did what had to be done for the TV camera. It was about four in the morning before I went to bed. Only to be awakened about six by clamor in the hall outside our bedroom. We all slept in the four bedrooms on the second floor. It was a big house with two parlors, a den, full dining room and kitchen downstairs. The tree was set up in the second parlor (that is what they called them back then) more in the middle of the house. That room had bay windows and was perfect spot for our real Christmas tree that had that wonderful pine smell. Old house with oak woodwork and the marble fireplace was a thing of beauty.

It was time. The television crew arrived about six thirty knowing the kids would be more than ready and believe me they were. All lined up on the stairs, giggling, laughing, joking. Youngest to oldest with my wife holding the baby. So it was a go. Our moment of fame was here. As the camera rolled they rushed down the stairs, through the first parlor into the second filled entirely with gifts and toys. Nothing was wrapped all opened for all to see. Organized into a section for each child. They took pictures of each person, the stockings, the chart, the train running, the homemade cookies, the decorations outside of our nine snowmen. Camera crew was there for at least half an hour. What an exciting morning. Just like that it was over. All the anticipation, the waiting, the preparations and now it was done. All that is left is to see the results and watch ourselves on TV.

It was on the twelve o'clock news. It was edited down to maybe 30 seconds as there was a lot of news that day. Everything was a brief flash, the kids, me, the toys, the cookies, and the star of the show, our German Shepard dog, Duke. It was on again at six, but brief and so short, it was kind of disappointing. It did not make the eleven o'clock news. We all watched every minute of all the newscast, thinking it may be on at any moment. Oh well, we did make it on, even as brief as it was. But maybe we will still get our 15 minutes of fame that they say happens to everyone. This was just not it. Just wish I had a copy of that tape now. That would make it all well worth it.

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com.

Financial Resolutions for 2019

It's the time of year when people resolve to change their lives, from getting in shape to improving relationships and achieving work-life balance. Financial goals also top the list of New Year's resolutions – and are easier to attain than you might think.

"It's actually easy to cut expenses and save money – even a few dollars at a time – but many people give up too quickly," said Mike Sullivan, a personal finance consultant with Take Charge America, a national non-profit credit counseling and debt management agency. "The key is to set realistic goals, celebrate small victories and get creative with cost-cutting."

Sullivan offers eight tips for sticking to financial resolutions in 2019.

Budget: It tops the list of every financial to-do list for a reason: it works! Write down your monthly income and expenses or seek out an online program or budgeting app.

Pay Yourself: Speaking of budgets, build in a line item for your savings account or emergency fund. Even $25 a month will make a difference over time.

Make Short-Term

Goals: Instead of resolving to save thousands in 2019, aim to save $20, $50 or $100 a week or month – and celebrate each small victory.

Spring Cleaning – in January: Clean out your closets, the garage, and even old furniture or décor. Then, host a yard sale or list your items on eBay, Craigslist, or OfferUp. De-cluttering will save you money – and sanity.

Sell Your Gift Cards: Trade your gift cards for cash at Cardpool or Card-Cash.com – and promptly put that cash into savings.

Wait 24 Hours: To mitigate impulse buying, wait 24 hours before making an unplanned purchase. It's likely the impulse will wear off.

Drop Cable: It's a monthly expense that can be replaced painlessly and inexpensively with Hulu, Netflix or Amazon Prime Video.

Update your W4: While many of us look forward to a big tax refund, it's better to adjust your withholding to ensure you're paying the right amount of taxes. This may mean a few extra bucks on each paycheck.

First Night Buffalo

 loon-drop.

First Night Buffalo, which draws approximately 5,000 people from the city and suburbs each year, has outlived many similar events across the country. A group of artists and civic-minded citizens founded First Night in Boston in 1976 as an alternative to traditional New Year's Eve festivities. WNY United Against Drug & Alcohol Abuse, in cooperation with Rich Products, initiated First Night in downtown Buffalo on December 31st, 1989.

The "first" First Night featured the up-and-coming Goo Goo Dolls, the Ramrods, Outer Circle Orchestra, blues musician

Billy McEwen, comedy shows, dance performances, and more. The former Marine Midland Bank sponsored a "Light the Night" procession down Court Street.

In 1992, Independent Health, through its Foundation, secured the event and has proudly presented it for the past 27 years, said Carrie Meyer, executive director of the Independent Health Foundation.

"For some perspective, when the 'first' First Night debuted Dec. 31, 1989, the Bills led the AFC East heading into the playoffs, Jimmy Griffin was mayor of Buffalo, Phil Housley played for the Sabres, and a gallon of gas cost 97 cents," she remarked. "First Night has truly survived the test of time."
