This year's Hertel North Park Youth Baseball League season has suddenly taken off into full blown happiness and excitement for all the boys and girls on the diamonds of Shoshone Park.

With two successful tournaments being in the tiny Park the last two weekends, North Buffalo Blaze teams won Babe Ruth/ Cal Ripken WNY Championships in 12 and under, eight and under and 13 and under divisions held July 4-7. Then, this past weekend, North Buffalo held their annual WildCat tourna-

Kalnitz Awarded Scholarship

North Buffalo resident Max Kalnitz, a 2019 graduate of the University at Buffalo who is pursuing a master's degree at Syracuse University's Newhouse School of Public Communications, has been awarded a local journalism scholarship.

Kalnitz is the former senior news editor of The Spectrum, UB's student-run newsroom. He interned in the newsroom at WBFO Radio and has done extensive freelance work for various entities, including NYup.com and The Buffalo News.

He is scheduled to graduate from Syracuse's graduate program in June 2020.

Fund Chair Brian Meyer, who cut his journalistic teeth as a teen-aged correspondent for Rocket publications in the mid-1970s, says Kalnitz's early accomplishments are impressive.

This marks the 41st year that the local organization has awarded annual scholarships to aspiring and professional journalists. Since 1978, 145 scholarships totaling nearly $127,000 have been awarded. Winners have attended about 30 different colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

The program helps future and current journalists in Western New York, Northwest Pennsylvania and Southern Ontario. Five trustees, chosen for staggered five-year terms, serve without remuneration. Nearly 100 percent of all fund revenues are awarded as scholarships.

Jonah Heim Next Stop the Major Leagues

As a junior at Kenmore East Jonah Heim was the dominant baseball player in WNY baseball in 2012. The Bulldogs were eager to enjoy Heim's senior season until it was time for registration. That's when the Ken East staff informed Jonah that he would be unable to continue to attend Kenmore East. His parents had bought a house on the Niagara Falls Boulevard, the dividing boundary line between Ken-Ton and Amherst school districts. The house was on the Amherst side so Heim was forced to transfer to Amherst High School for his senior year. This became known at Amherst as "The Lucky Mistake" Amherst H.S. where Heim's jersey was retired after his lone season playing baseball at the school.

Pro scouts watched Heim at every game. A catcher, his pickoff throw to second base was measured by radar guns at 2.0 seconds – the Major League average. Heim was a high draft pick selected in the fourth round by the Baltimore Orioles. At 6'4" with a lanky 185 pound frame he was a top prospect with his defensive game but struggled with his hitting in the low minor leagues. The Orioles kept a positive outlook on his potential with the legendary Earl Weaver telling him that everything was fine with his swing, he just needed to get stronger and the hits would come.

Jonah began climbing the ladder of minor league baseball within the Baltimore Orioles, Tampa Bay and Oakland farm systems. In his second season 2014, he was promoted from rookie ball to Short-A. 2015 was the climb from Short-A to Low-A. 2016 was spent entirely in High-A and 2017 he split his season between Low-A and High-A. His hitting had never been a strength but he had a nice .292/.353/.433 stat line for High-A Stockton in 2018. From April 20 to May 18, he put together an 18-game hitting streak where he batted .429.

To get an idea of his potential consider that he has been traded twice in his young career for players who rose to the major leagues. Heim was dealt to Tampa Bay at the 2016 trade deadline for Steve Pearce who is now with the Boston Red Sox. He was swapped to the Oakland A's 16 months later for Joey Wendle who now plays for the Toronto Blue Jays.

Heim was promoted to Double-A for the first time in his career last season and assigned to the Midland RockHounds. On June 9 Oakland promoted him to the AAA Las Vegas Aviators. Now weighing a solid 220 lbs. Heim is batting .403 in 25 games and .303 in his last ten. Earmarked for the majors because of his defensive prowess and play calling, it appears that he may fulfill that destiny.

ment consisting of 22 teams from across the area and came away with victory trophies.

Playoffs have begun in four divisions of house baseball and softball and this past Monday night, boys and girls, ages 4 and 5 gathered in the Park for the final time to pick up trophies from their coaches for playing t-ball this season and learning the game on diamond 8. There's close to 200 children playing on sixteen teams most named Jr. Yankees, Jr. Cubs, Jr. Cardinals and Jr. Pirates. Everyone had a good time seeing all their teammates and holding their first trophy high in the sky. The girls team names are Bisons, Hornets, Grasshoppers and Bandits and all are assured of returning next year in the Rookie division.

Three other divisions,

Major Boys, Major Girls and First Minor are playing in make-up games needed before their playoffs can start. At this writing, no team has been eliminated yet from the post-season but some teams need to win their next game in order to advance, First place has been clinched in all divisions and here are the winning teams:

Major Boys: Reds, First Minor: Athletics, Second Minor: Dodgers, Rookie: Red Sox. Girls division winning teams in Majors is Astros, Minor: Indians and Rookie: Angels. All teams make the playoffs in Shoshone Park and compete in divisional brackets where a team is ceded based on record. If a team loses twice to two opponents, they are eliminated from play and can enjoy the rest of their Summer. Lets take you out to the Park for an up-close look at where your team stands.

In Rookie boys, the Astros defeated the Royals, 7-3 and the Rays topped the Athletics, 5-3. Both teams move on to face the Red Sox and the Mariners, respectively in round 2. The Yankees defeated the Blue Jays, and the Orioles got by the Indians in two other games and those will be played on Saturday.

In Rookie Girls, the Devils and Angels squared off June 29th in a battle for first place because each finished with just one loss. The Devils brought their bats out early and scored a 9-2 victory. But in the playoffs, both teams could meet again for the Championship. Both teams have been dominant all season. In other games, the Ravens beat the Shamrocks 7-3 while the Angels defeated the Diamonds, 7-0.

How Did It Start

Strange how we think back to how things evolve. Last week we went to the River Grill in Tonawanda to watch my son's band, "The Screaming Pineapples" perform. Not the first time and hopefully not the last we attend. He has been doing it for years. They are well liked and have steady bookings. His favorite gig being Cabana Sam's at Sunset Bay. It is a week-end thing for him and his fellow musicians as they all have full time employment. More for fun than work. As I sat there with our group, some of them from out of town, could not help but go back to how this all started.

Our first house was on 15th street on the West side. Our Church was the Nativity of the BVM on Albany street. Walking distance and our family did not miss a Sunday Mass. I was a young father with small children but wanted to be more active in the church. One day the president of the Holy Name Society, a men's organization, the late Joe LaTona asked me to join. I was quick to accept and became involved in all their fund raisers and contributions to the well-being of the church. Many, many years were to follow with my dedication to not only this organization but other church functions. One of the things that this Holy Name had was its own bowling league. Have to say at this point these were a great bunch of dedicated people and soon we all became one big family. The bowling league was our social gathering and night out.

My first recollection of the league was the Strand Bowling allies on Niagara Street. Have to be I used to set pins there as a young lad. When the Strand was torn down to make room for Rich's dairy the league moved to the RocMar on Grant and Amherst. We were there for many years. The one thing about our league was the late-night agenda. We started at nine and finished around midnight. It was a Friday night, no work the next day, so it was acceptable. Small problem was if you had something to eat afterwards and with a little conversation, you most likely did not get home till two in the morning, if that. Of course, we were all Holy Name men, so we behaved in extemporary fashion in these early morning hours. In order to ease the pain of the late night return I would stop at the Arkansas Grill and being home a sausage sandwich to my wife who chose to wait up.

As the years went by and my sons got older, they also joined the group and the bowling league. We did bowl together till the one decided he would never master the game and dropped out. The other stuck it out and eventually we began to hang out together after bowling. One of our favorite night spots was Gables on Hertel.

Eventually, even the RocMar bit the dust. So, our league moved out to the Airport lanes on Genesee. Kind of off the beaten path but after trying a short stint with Volker's, we voted to move out there. One of the features of this spot was Karaoke on Friday nights. This was a natural draw for me and my son as we both like to sing. It did become a routine for us, after bowling, to go into the bar have something to eat, and participate in the show. We kind of enjoyed it so much we began to look for other venues that offered Karaoke. My son, who is a tad better looking and much younger, soon became a hit among the audiences. He loved the attention awarded him for his entertaining presentations. A standing ovation was a real turn on. It was not surprising that when a local band, looking for a lead singer approached him, he gave it a try. The rest is history. He progressed to bigger and better bands and now is a regular on the Western New York performing scene.

All goes back to being asked to join the Holy Name Society and all those wonderful men I got to be associated with. Tovie Asarese, Joe Pellerite, Tony Tasca, Bellanti Brothers, Pete and Joe, Carm Vitale, Joe LaTona, Sandy Rotola. Most are gone now but have to say, this was a great hard-working religious group of men, dedicated to the well being of the church and its parishioners. I was proud to be associated with them and the society. If there is a heaven, I am sure they are there. In the meantime, I will watch the Screaming Pineapples, scream.

Ask Rusty - Will Social Security Go Bust?

Dear Rusty: I'm always hearing rumors of Social Security imploding – of people my age getting benefits but not the younger as they have time to do something else. I wonder if I file in December for 50% of my spouse's benefit, and later, before I turn 70 and change to my own benefits, if SS goes bust will I lose what I would have been able to claim under myself? I understand that you would only be guessing to answer that. From what I've read, it seems that 20% reduction will be necessary across the board. I do not trust politicians who love to play Santa to get reelected. Signed: Untrusting Senior

Dear Untrusting Senior: As of right now, Social Security (SS) has about $2.9 trillion in reserves in its Trust Fund. Beginning probably in 2020, SS income will be less than needed to pay all benefits, and money will start to be withdrawn from the Trust Fund to meet benefit obligations. Current projections are that the Trust Fund reserves are sufficient to pay 100% of benefit obligations until 2035, at which time SS will only be able to pay out as much money as it brings in. According to projections, that would result in about a 21% cut in benefits for all beneficiaries. But those dire predictions are only valid if Congress does nothing to resolve Social Security's cash flow deficit expected to start in 2020. The solutions for Social Security's financial issues are very well known to Congress. What's missing is a bipartisan agreement on the best way to resolve it. One side of the aisle wants to simply raise Social Security taxes (remove payroll caps and raise FICA contributions), while the other side prefers future program adjustments which deal with the reality that people are living much longer today than they did when SS was first enacted. Most pundits believe that Congress will eventually reach a compromise before the Trust Fund is depleted in 2035 requiring benefit cuts. After all, what politician who wishes to stay in Congress would want to be associated with reducing Social Security benefits for the very large and voting senior citizenry? To get to your specific question: There is no real danger of SS going "bust," as in not being able to pay any benefits at all, so you'll never "lose what I would have been able to claim under myself." The worst-case scenario is that your age 70 benefit (which will be about 32% more than your age 66 benefit) might be reduced, but it would never be totally eliminated. The best-case scenario is that Congress puts the current vitriolic atmosphere aside and does their job to fix the problem before it's a crisis. The last time Social Security had a crisis of this nature was in 1983, and the Democratic-controlled Congress and the Reagan Administration worked together to enact a fix which lasted for decades (until now). It's my sincere hope, and indeed my expectation, that a similar bipartisan effort will eventually take place to resolve Social Security's financial issues for many decades to come. The Association of Mature American Citizens (AMAC) has developed a common-sense Social Security Guarantee proposal which has been presented to multiple Congressional representatives for consideration, and which would solve Social Security's financial issues for generations. If you'd like to see that proposal feel free to go to this link: <https://amac.us/social-security/>. Will Congress act on this any time soon? I'm afraid that's impossible to predict, but if history offers any insight it's that they will probably act only when the crisis can no longer be ignored.
