Ristolainen in Buffalo for training camp?

This has been the summer of discontent for Sabres defenseman Rasmus Ristolainen. Weary of the losing in his five year career in Buffalo. His name has been thrown around in a lot of trade rumors over the past year. According to the latest NHL trade rumors, Ristolainen has asked for a trade. During a recent interview with MTV Sports Ristolainen said, "I cannot say anything other than the fact that on the 12th of September, I will be at one of the NHL team's training camps". The implication seems clear, he doesn't plan on being in Buffalo.

Trade rumors have intensified this summer even though Ristolainen has never come right out and said that he had requested a trade. Both the team and the player could benefit from a trade. The Sabres are disappointed in him, with Ruotsalainen coming off a league worst -48 ranking and being overwhelmed in his role as a top pair defenseman. Analytics numbers show that the Sabres have consistently given up more shots, shot attempts, scoring chances, high danger changes and goals with Ristolainen on the ice. His defense partners have all put up better numbers when paired with other partners.

The off season acquisitions of Colin Miller and Henri Jokiharju along with the trade for Brandon Montour late in the season have given the Sabres a crowded blueline with three new right handed defensemen. Montour and Jokiharju are both top four defenders and could easily displace Rotsalainen from a top four role.

Ristolainen would be better off elsewhere. All he has seen in his career here is losing. Even though he has not developed into a top two caliber defenseman, he is still a top four defenseman with a bit of upside and a lot of experience playing top two minutes against the leagues top players.

Ristolainen has three years remaining on his contract with a $5.4 million cap hit each season. With a tight market for defensemen, especially right handed shooters, speculation has been that the Sabres could get a top six forward back in a trade.

But with no deal yet in spite of all the talk perhaps the market for Ristolainen is not so strong. Until they find a team willing to pay the price they're looking for, Ristolainen will stay in Buffalo. There is hope that new coach Ralph Kruger can bring out his potential.

Rasmus Ristolainen.

My Way.

My family knows that one of my favorite songs is “My Way”. Sounds kind of chauvinistic and maybe it is but so what. The first line is “and now the end is near and so I face the final curtain”. No one knows when they face the final curtain but the older you get, you have an idea that you are in the last act of the play. And quite a play it has been.

Another line in the song is, “I have traveled each and every highway and more, much more than this I did it my way”. Not each highway but drove cross country, the northern and the southern routes. The northern route offers Mount Rushmore, the Badlands, and Yellowstone National Park with Old Faithful. The southern route offers the arc in St Louis, the oil wells in Oklahoma. The old towns in Texas, Salt Lake City, and of course Las Vegas. Not to mention the Grand Canyon and the Rocky Mountains. Lots to see in the good old USA. Visited all the 48 continental states even if it was just driving through. Experienced being at the northern tip of Maine and the marker at the most southern tip of Florida, 90 miles from Cuba. Visited the island of the Caribbean including the major cities of the Bahamas.

Had the pleasure of sleeping in all the bigger eastern coast cities, Boston, New York, Washington, Charleston, Savannah, Miami to name a few. Nothing was more beautiful than the Western coast cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego back when we went there. California is a beautiful state with its majestic mountains sloping down and into the Pacific Ocean. Lots of stories about our times in that sunshine state, Las Vegas and the fun city of New Orleans.

Fortunate enough to have also been on the highways of Europe. That is a trip as the highways there are a little more dangerous. Some countries have no speed limit. One night we were in an auto that was traveling 100 miles and hour on the autobahn. Lots of stories about the trips to Europe. Lots of stories to tell about the play that is facing the final curtain.

One of the other lines in the song is “regrets, I’ve had a few, but then again too few to mention. I’ve lived a life that’s full without objection”. If there is one regret and there are not too many it is the lack of grandparents and the shorten lives of my parents. My father was an orphan as his parents died when he was 12. So, there were no grandparents on my father’s side. My mother’s parents were immigrants from Italy. Her mother died when I was too young to remember. My mother’s father refused to learn to speak English, so we had no conversation with him. I would have loved to hear stories of the old country. Did not happen. So, my seven siblings and myself grew up without the experiences and advice of grandparents. Regret, yes but it is what it is.

One other regret and it comes as part of life. My parents both died in their mid-sixties. Not young nor old by today’s standards, I was in my early thirties. So, I have lived over 50 years without my parents. Would have loved to share my successes with my dad. I was the only one of his children that went into business. It was always his dream and I know he would have been so proud. My children were also denied the luxury of having grandparents to spoil them.

Yes there are some

The Grand Canyon

that have had a lot worse regrets than we had, but here we are talking about “my way”, so looking back it has been a great play and full of truly wonderful experiences. Loved most of it and if there is a God, he has been good to me. Hope the final curtain is a while off as I still have places to go and people to see. Did I fail to say that “through it all, I stood tall, and did it, “my way”.

Ask Rusty - Confused About Survivor Benefits

Dear Rusty: My husband passed away in 2013 just a few days short of his 63rd birthday. I was 56 at the time and when I went into the Social Security office to notify them of his death I was told I would be able to get a partial draw when I turned 60. Two years after that I was told that I would never draw anything from his account as the rules had been changed, and since he had never drawn Social Security that his benefits were eliminated. I am 62 and intend to keep working but any information you have might be helpful. Signed: Confused Survivor

Dear Confused Survivor: You've certainly been given some conflicting information, so I'll try to clarify. If your husband had accumulated enough quarter credits to be eligible for Social Security, you are eligible for a survivor benefit even if your husband was not yet collecting Social Security (SS) benefits when he passed. To be eligible for SS, your husband would have needed to work for about 10 years for an employer which participated in Social Security program (meaning, both your husband and his employer paid SS FICA payroll taxes on his earnings). Most U.S. employers participate in the Social Security program. However, if your husband worked his entire career as an employee of a state or local government which does not participate in SS, or if he worked for the Federal government under their "CSRS" program, or if he worked for any other entity which didn't participate in Social Security, he may not have had enough SS credits to be eligible. But if he contributed to Social Security for at least 10 years and had at least 40 credits (can earn 4 per year) then he would have been eligible for SS, and you would be eligible for a survivor benefit from his record.

The rules haven't changed for any of this. If your husband was at least eligible for SS (not necessarily collecting), you became eligible for a survivor benefit at age 60 although it would have been reduced by about 28.5% from what you would get at your full retirement age (FRA). You are still eligible for the survivor benefit but, if you take it now at age 62, it will still be reduced for claiming before your FRA, and since you are still working you'll also be subject to Social Security's earnings limit ($17,640 for 2019). If you exceed the earnings limit, SS will withhold from future benefits $1 for every $2 you are over the limit, which would mean you wouldn't get benefits for some months until they recover what is due. If your current earnings are high, it may not be prudent to claim early SS benefits even if you're entitled to them. The earnings limit changes annually, is considerably higher (by 2.5 times) in the year you reach your FRA and goes away once you reach your full retirement age.

For your awareness, the survivor benefit reaches the maximum amount when you reach your full retirement age (but is reduced if you claim it earlier). You have the option to restrict your claim to survivor benefits only, and you may want to do this if your own SS benefit from your lifetime earnings record will be more at age 70 than your survivor benefit will be at your FRA. Your goal should be to collect the highest benefit possible for the rest of your life. If you so choose, you can collect your survivor benefit first and delay your own SS benefit past your full retirement age, which would allow you to earn delayed retirement credits on your own benefit. That will increase it by 8% per year of delay, up to age 70 when your maximum Social Security retirement benefit will be reached, and at that time you would switch to the higher benefit.

Stream & Lake
Map of
New York

The STREAM & LAKE MAP OF NEW YORK resembles another map--known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map."
It was completed in 1965 after a 30 year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.
Professor Higbee painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto the map. It sold extremely well - until the printer declared bankruptcy and hauled Higbee's work to the landfill.
But reprints were impossible because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue. Higbee was even offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.
Then, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map.
Then the STREAM & LAKE MAP OF NEW YORK was created.

Why every angler and boater needs this map

Professor Higbee's Stream & Lake Map of New York is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. The 3.5-foot-by-4.5-foot New York map shows 65,000 miles of streams plus lakes.

RAVE REVIEWS

"It is in showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman."
—Joe Gordon, TRIBUNE-DEMOCRAT, Johnstown, PA

"I have one of the original Higbee's Stream Map of Pennsylvania on my wall behind my desk. It's the best thing available as far as streams are concerned. I use it all the time for reference. I don't know of anything more extensive and it is the most accurate map out there as far as streams are concerned."
—Dave Wolf, PA Fish and Boat Commission

Red Cross Urges Blood Donations After Hurricane Dorian

As the American Red Cross works around the clock supporting those impacted by Hurricane Dorian, providing food, shelter and comfort, individuals outside the affected areas are urged to help by giving blood to ensure patients in the storm's path and around the country have access to lifesaving blood. People can also help by making a financial donation to support relief efforts.

Hurricane Dorian has forced the closure of blood donation centers and the cancellation of blood drives in its path, causing blood and platelet donations to go uncollected. When blood donations are disrupted in a region of the country, the Red Cross is able to move blood donations where they are needed most.

How to help: Donors of all blood types are urgently needed to ensure a sufficient supply for patients. Type O and B blood donors are especially needed. Make an appointment to donate blood now by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org, calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enabling the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device.

Financial donations are also needed and allow the Red Cross to make a difference in the lives of people impacted by Hurricane Dorian. Visit redcross.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS or text the word DORIAN to 90999 to make a $10 donation. Financial donations enable the Red Cross to prepare for, respond to and help people recover from this disaster.

Up-to-date information about how the Red Cross is responding to

Hurricane Dorian is available at redcross.org.
