

First Snow

A record breaking snowfall hit the Buffalo area this week leaving 11" of snow on the ground. According to the Old Farmer's Almanac winter will be warmer than normal, with above-normal precipitation. The coldest periods will be in early December and early to mid-January, from late January into early February, and in late February. Snowfall will be above normal in Ohio and below normal in most other areas. The snowiest periods will be in early to mid-January, from late January into early February and late February into early March, and in late March. April and May will be warmer than normal, with precipitation below normal in the east and above normal in the west. Summer will be hotter and rainier than normal. The hottest periods will be in mid-June, mid- to late July, and mid-August. September and October will be warmer than normal, with below-normal precipitation.

124th Annual YMCA Turkey Trot

Fewer than 1,000 spots remain for the 124th Annual YMCA Turkey Trot. Race capacity is limited to 14,000 participants, so organizers are urging people to sign up now to ensure their place in the oldest consecutively run footrace in North America. The $41 entry fee includes all processing fees plus a commemorative t-shirt.

The 8k race kicks off at 9:00 am sharp Thanksgiving morning, November 28 at the corner of Delaware and Tacoma Avenues in North Buffalo. Pre-race packet pickup takes place Monday, November 25 through Wednesday, November 27 at the Independent Health Family Branch YMCA (150 Tech Drive, Amherst near ECC North Campus).

Y M C A Turkey Trot participants are invited to dress up for the 8th Annual Costume Contest before the event. Contestants should be ready to take the stage and impress the celebrity judge in front of

The Salvation Army Makes It Easier to Give

More shoppers are carrying less cash these days, and it poses a challenge to The Salvation Army, which funds much of its yearly budget through The Red Kettle Campaign.

Now, The Salvation Army is making it easier than ever to give with "Kettle Pay," which accepts Apple Pay or Google Pay. The holiday season's iconic Red Kettles now feature stickers that allow you to donate almost as easily as dropping cash in the Kettle.

The Salvation Army has placed smart chips and QR codes on Red Kettle signs across the state, allowing donors to simply "bump" or scan their phones to make a digital donation. Donors will be directed to a custom donation page that accepts Apple or Google payment options. The funds will then be distributed to local Salvation Army units based on the donor's billing ZIP code, and an email receipt will be sent directly to their phone.

Donors with an Apple iPhone Xs, Xr, and Xs Max or Android phones made since 2012 can just bump their phones on the sign. Donors with older phones can scan the QR codes.

"For nearly 155 years, The Salvation Army has employed creative, forward thinking to find solutions. More consumers are using their phones to pay for everyday items and Kettle Pay makes it even easier for donors to join The Salvation Army's Fight for Good. Anyone can fight for our neighbors who

Sabres Drop 2 In Sweden

The Sabres have lost five games in a row and have dropped below the last wild card playoff spot. A pair of losses, 3-2 and 5-3 to the Tampa Bay Lightning in Stockholm Sweden were preceded by a 3-2 OT loss to the Phoenix Coyotes, a 6-1 loss at Washington and a 1-0 loss to the New York Islanders in Buffalo.

The Sabres jumped out of the gate with an 8-1-1 record courtesy of a soft schedule against the weaker teams. When the schedule got tougher, against Washington - the leagues top team so far this season, the Islanders who are on an eight game winning streak, and Tampa Bay who was the leagues top team last season, the Sabres floundered.

The offense has dried up scoring only 8 goals in those five games while surrendering 18. Going back a little further to their 6-2 loss at New York against the Rangers, the Sabres are 1-5-1 in their last seven scoring only 12 goals while surrendering 24.

The teams work ethic and strong defensive play has tailed off. The early reliance on their prolific power play has come back to hurt them as their man advantage efficiency has plummeted. In their first four games the Sabres scored eight PPG's on 17 chances, an astounding 47% success rate about double the usual rate for the leagues best power play. This was fueled by scoring multiple PPG's three times; 1 ,3 ,2 and 2 in those games. These stats were pumped up by scoring 3 PPG's on four power plays against a dreadful New Jersey in the seasons second game.

But the man advantage can be a double edged sword, enjoy it when it's successful but you need to find a way to replace those goals when the power play dries up. Opponents will study your tendencies and defend against them. Since game four the power play has been shutout seven times and produced one goal six times. That's six goals on 42 chances for a very mediocre 14% success rate.

The Sabres need to find more goals at five on five play. Victor Ofofsson has been great on the power play but at even strength he is still a minor league player. He finally scored his first even strength in Sweden and it was from the front of the net less than a foot from the crease. This is where goals are scored in the NHL. The rest of his teammates can learn from this. The team does not put enough pucks to the net. In their November 8th game against Tampa Bay the Sabres had only 22 shots and were dominated 69-31% on faceoffs. Other than their top three forwards, Jack Eichel, Sam Rhinehart and Jeff Skinner (62 shots), Jack Eichel (56) and Sam Rhinehart (39) the rest of the forwards are primarily perimeter players who do not generate many shots; Victor Olofsson has 38 shots primarily on the power play, Vladimir Sobotka (23), John Larsson (22), Jimmy Vesey and Zemgus Girgensons (19), Casey Mittlestadt, Connor Sheary and Kyle Okposo (18) and Marcus Johanson with only 14 in 17 games shows that the rest of the forwards are not contributing much to the attack.

Jeff Skinner leads team with 62 shots on goal

Why?

Last week I mentioned that the members of our Kiwanis division of Western New York, raised enough money to add a Pediatric Trauma Center to Children's Hospital here in Buffalo. A major undertaking as the goal was one million dollars. We did it and it left us with a warm feeling of accomplishment. This of course was among other projects and endeavors the clubs have, to make the community a better place to live.

Kiwanis is a service club that has been in existence for over 75 years. I joined and was the first member of the North Buffalo club. NW Division of the New York District. At the time it was an exclusive all male membership. Women were not allowed. This was common with service clubs at that time as Lions, Rotary and others were all male organizations. Seemed to be accepted, and even welcomed by most members as that was the way it was from the beginning. The success and growth indicated that there was nothing wrong with an all-male organization. That was then.

My previous experience with an all-male group was our Holy Name Society at our church, the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary on Albany and School. I was a young father raising a big family on the West side of Buffalo. Neither my parents nor my wife's parents were very religious, but we were raised as Catholics. For some reason after our marriage my wife and I become stronger in our beliefs. As proof we had eight children doing what the Catholic religion preaches. We became involved in the Church, she taught art at the school on a volunteer basis and I became a lector and did the readings and lead the singing at mass on Sunday. We helped together on Pre-Cana conferences with couples about to be wed. Our involvement with the church was good for us and our children as they attended school there.

When I was invited to join the Holy Name Society, it was a no brainer as I should belong. Like I said it was all men and we did a lot for the good of the church. We did the Bingo, many fund-raising events, Catholic Charities, and lots of chores as far as maintenance to the church and property. It was a great group of guys and the friendships made were everlasting, even to this day. We even had our own bowling league and it was late-night getting home. To ease the late wait, I would stop and get a sausage sandwich at the Arkansas Grill on Grant to bring home to my wife. Those were great years and lasted so long that eventually my sons were old enough to bowl with me. None of us were good bowlers.

After starting in business in North Buffalo I was on many boards with women. YMCA, Community Center, Convention Center, North Buffalo Business Association and others. There did not seem to be anything egotistical about joining a men's group that excluded women. And for many years it was great. Our club in North Buffalo continued to grow. We did many good things for the community as did all the other chapters in their respective areas. For some reason and to this day I cannot understand why, women found it offensive to be shut out of any organization. They fought in the courts, all men's clubs that did not allow female memberships were discriminatory. They won. This made them happy but did not set well with the older male members. For example, the New York District of Kiwanis, which I became an officer of, had a membership of 14,000 men. With the addition of women, one would expect it to rise, it dropped to 9,000. Many of the older members just resigned.

The suburban and country clubs survived but most of the city clubs are gone. Riverside, West Side, Kensington, East Side, North Buffalo and others are gone. The downtown Buffalo club is still there but not half of what it used to be. Nothing against women as they did come in and take over. They became secretaries, treasurers, and even presidents. Did most of the work. It was welcomed in some cases and not so welcome in others. The meetings changed, no more jokes, no more men's talk, the atmosphere just changed, the comradery was gone, and the attendance dropped. Guess some of the men decided they were not needed anymore and just left. My question then and still is, why? Why change something that was working so well. What was offensive about an all-male club. I do not recall any movement for men to join all-female clubs. There still isn't. Why?

Ask Rusty - Using a Restricted Application to Maximize Benefits

Dear Rusty: I was born on 1/14/1953, and my wife was born on 6/27/1954. I will have the largest Social Security benefit by 2 or 3 to one. She has been retired for a year or so, but I am working part time. We planned on not taking our SS until 70, since my IRA and Social Security will cover us until 90plus. I want to maximize my SS benefit in case we live past then. I have read about a restricted application and file and suspend, but I get conflicting information on who must be born before 1/2/54. Is there anything we can do besides wait to 70 to maximize our benefits? Signed: Wanting to Maximize

Dear Wanting: How you, as a married couple, should plan your Social Security depends largely upon whether your wife will be eligible for a spousal benefit from you and, if so, how much her spousal benefit will be. Your wife will get a spousal benefit from you if her own benefit amount at her full retirement age (66) is less than half of your benefit amount at your full retirement age (66). The difference between those two amounts will be added to your wife's own benefit (from her own work record) to become her spousal benefit. At her full retirement age (FRA) she would get 50% of the amount you were eligible for at your FRA, which you reached in January 2019. If your wife's benefit at age 70 will be more than her spousal benefit will be, then it would be prudent for her to delay claiming until age 70 when her benefit will be 32% more than it would be when she turns 66. However, if her spousal benefit will be more, it could make sense for your wife to file for her own benefit first, which would allow you to file a "restricted application for spousal benefits only." Your wife cannot file a restricted application because she was born after January 1, 1954, but you can file the restricted application because you were born before that (the "File and suspend" option which allowed your wife to collect spouse benefits while your benefits are suspended is no longer available).

Provided your current finances, as well as your health and expected longevity suggest you can delay, it would be a wise strategy for you to delay claiming until age 70 because it will provide you with the maximum possible monthly benefit and also the most in cumulative lifetime benefits if you attain at least "average" longevity (about 84). This would also give your wife the highest possible survivor benefit should you predecease her (as your widow, your wife gets 100% of the benefit you were receiving at your death). Your wife cannot collect a spousal benefit from you until you start your own benefits, but if she were to choose to claim her own Social Security retirement benefit from her own work record first (so you could file the restricted application), she would switch to her higher spousal benefit when you claim.

So, if your wife's spousal benefit will be her highest benefit, as a couple you may wish to consider your wife filing for her own benefit to start in January (will be reduced by about 3.3%) and, at that time, you file a "restricted application for spousal benefits only" which means you will collect 50% of your wife's (unreduced) FRA benefit amount while your own Social Security benefit continues to earn delayed retirement credits (DRCs). DRCs are given at the rate of 2/3rd of 1% per month of delay (8% per year of delay), up until age 70 when your benefit will be 24% more than it would be at age 67. Then, at age 70, when you switch from the spousal benefit from your wife to your own SS retirement benefit, your wife can file for her spousal benefit from you. If you are, indeed, fortunate enough to live well into your 80s, the above will provide you with considerably more in lifetime benefits than any other strategy you might consider.

ADOPT A PET

This Week's Featured Friends:

This lovely lady of about 6 yrs of age is not a fan of shelter life. She is a bit uneasy and nervous in her kennel itching to get out of the noise, chaos and into a happier environment. She came in with another dog as a stray and it's hard to say what their lives were like before the shelter. She is a sensitive soul and she blossoms when away from the shelter breathing in fresh air and having a human pal by her side. She does enjoy her walks and will lean gently into you for some love and maybe even a treat or two. She appears to be a very fast learner who looks to please so training would be awesome for her. Nikki has been spotted with a volunteer doing some jogging so she would probably make a great exercise partner too! Nikki is a bigger gal so she can be strong but with some time and patience she will learn good manners especially because she will be far away from the shelter. Nikki really deserves a chance to live a happy life, and be with a person who will appreciate all that she is, and also what she can become. Please don't judge her in the kennel, get to know her one on one.....

The Salvation Army Makes It Easier to Give

From page one. are experiencing poverty by donating to Salvation Army programs, including food for the hungry, shelter for the homeless, and Christmas assistance for families in need," said Major Ivan Rock, Commander of The Salvation Army's Empire State Division.

Now in its 129th year, The Salvation Army's Red Kettle Campaign is one of the oldest and largest charitable campaigns in the world. Every year, the campaign raises millions of dollars to provide toys for kids at Christmas, clothes and shelter for the homeless, food for the hungry, after-school programs for kids, and other services to America's most vulnerable populations year-round. Donations are accepted at any of the thousands of traditional Red Kettles found on street corners and in front of stores across the state, or online at empire.salvationarmy.org.

124th Annual YMCA Turkey Trot

From page one. the Delaware Family YMCA (2564 Delaware Ave, Buffalo) at 8:25 am. Prizes will be awarded for the best group and individual costumes.

The Y is also seeking volunteers, who play a critical role in helping to make sure this beloved Western New York tradition is successful. For a complete list of volunteer opportunities, information about the costume contest, or to register for the race, please visit YMCATurkeyTrot.org.

Proceeds from the YMCA Turkey Trot go directly the YMCA Buffalo Niagara's financial assistance program, which helps connect families in need with YMCA programs and services they otherwise would be unable to afford.

Ten Lives Club Cat Adoption Group has the perfect gift to get someone this holiday season when it seems like they have everything. Starting in December, the nonprofit has an "Adopt a Spot" program where people can buy a cat cage sponsorship for one of their 15 cages at the Eastern Hills Mall. To be a sponsor for three months costs $150 and includes a 3" x 5" sign that will display a company logo, photo of a loved one, or a photo of a pet on the cat condo. This is a great opportunity to make a difference in our community by supporting homeless cats in the shelter. Cage sponsorships are tax deductible and there is no limit to the number of cages people can sponsor. To find out more information on cage sponsorships please call Ten Lives Club at 716-646-5577. For information on volunteering, donating, or upcoming events, visit their website at www.ten-livesclub.com.

Shakespeare In Delaware Park will present a Staged Reading of William Shakespeare's Christmas Carol written by Ian Doescher and directed by Brian Cavanaugh on Monday December 2, 2019 hosted at Bobby J's Italian American Grille, 204 Como Park Blvd. Cheektowaga, 14227.

The event begins at 6pm where you will enjoy a holiday gift bazaar, Christmas carols by Amherst High School as well as holiday hors d'oeuvres and punch. Then at 7pm the performance begins with a bevy of Buffalo's most beloved performers, including Buffalo's own Mike Randall as the infamous Scrooge.
