

24th Annual Hertel Holidays

Santa and Mrs Claus are ready to show up at Hertel Holidays on Friday, December 5th.

Join us for our 24th Annual Hertel Holiday shop & dine event and tree lighting ceremony sponsored by Councilman Feroleto and the HBA! This year both events are taking place on Friday, December 6th. Starting at 6pm, Santa, Mrs.Claus and his elves will ride his sleigh down

Hertel making his way from Parkside Ave to St. Margaret's Church, where Santa will join in on the countdown to the tree lighting. Dash's Markets has again, gratefully donated the cookies and hot cocoa for all to enjoy a tasty treat! After the tree lighting, everyone is encouraged to check out the shops and restaurants along the avenue where stores are open late to showcase their inventory. From great gifts to furniture to incredible food, Hertel has everything you'll need for a great holiday experience! Come join us for a family-friendly, full of holiday cheer evening!

14th Annual FREE Thanksgiving Dinner

In celebration of the anticipated holiday season, on Saturday, November 23, 2019 from 12pm -6pm Soul Saving Revival Center (SSRC) and the Esther House will host it's 14th annual FREE sit down Thanksgiving Dinner and clothing giveaway to the Community while supplies last.

"SSRC 's Dinner is a way to not only feed those in the Buffalo Community who may be disenfranchised socially and economically, but also do the work of Esther in the Bible and show kindness and support" said Elder Robert Robinson III.

Anyone who walks through the churches doors are welcome. "Each year we have been blessed to serve over 500 residents with a hot meal and desert. Attendees are also allowed to pick out one (1) bag of clothing, while supplies last and access vendors providing services" said Robinson. SSRC and Esther's House rely on donations from our congregation and caring people from the community to provide this service to the community.

The event will be held in the SSRC church banquet hall, located at 664 Fillmore Ave, Buffalo, NY 14212 from 12-6:00 PM. If anyone would like to make a tax deductible donation, no matter how large or small, can call Elder Robert Robinson III at 716-517-1310. You may also send checks to Soul Saving Revival Center: 664 Fillmore Ave, Buffalo, NY 14212.

Can Anyone Not Named Eichel Score A Goal?

Twenty games into the season and the Sabres are in a crisis mode. This past week the team earned a 4-2 victory over the visiting Ottawa Senators on, a 5-1 loss at Chicago against Patrick Kane and the Blackhawks, and a 4-1 loss to the Minnesota Wild at the Keybank Center. The teams offense produced only six goals in the three games. One player, Jack Eichel, scored five of those goals.

Eichel scored all four goals against Ottawa, getting a hat trick and adding a fourth goal into the empty net after Ottawa pulled their goaltender for an extra attacker. He scored the teams only goal in Chicago. His teammates largely shoot the puck from the perimeter, They stay away from the high danger scoring area in front of opponents nets. In the modern NHL unless you are a super skilled elite player like Eichel or Connor MacDavid among others, you will only score goals from the goal mouth area, either on deflection, rebounds or cross crease passes. The Sabres players simply refuse to a establish a significant presence there.

Buffalo was dominated by Minnesota, the leagues last place team with a 3-10 road record and a whopping 70 road goals against, before keeping the Sabres off the scoreboard until the last few minutes. Eichel's frustration level boiled over when he dropped his gloves and punched the helmet of Joel Eriksson Ek's head after some physical play along the boards. While the crowd responded loudly to Eichel's efforts there was no visible sign of enthusiasm from the bench. No teammates on the ice came to Eichel's aid during the incident.

Brandon Montour finally became the only Sabre to join Eichel on the score sheet this week. He scored with 3:19 left in the game. And he scored on the rebound of a shot by Eichel. The Sabres played with an urgency and passion in the last four minutes that was missing from the first 56. Obviously they didn't want to get shutout on home ice. But they need 60 minutes of passion to win a game.

Sabres GM Jason Botterill held a pre game press conference and advised that he is seeking a trade to improve the team at forward. With eight forwards injured in the organization their is a serious lack a depth of NHL caliber talent. With the lethargic play from most of the players on one trade will make much difference.

There needs to be several moves before the nature of this team will change significantly.

We Gather Together.

If you listen to the radio at all, or at least some of the stations, you know the holiday season has begun in earnest. The 24-hour-a-day holiday songs have begun. In fact, it seems to have started around the first week of November. That means we will have over two months of celebrating, shopping, and making merry. Little early, you would think, but if it stimulates the economy, then it is okay. Back in the day, used to be Thanksgiving was the official start of "The Season". Always seemed to be enough time to do whatever had to be done to make it a wonderful time of the year. With the early start, it takes a little away from Thanksgiving as the beginning of good times and family get-togethers. Not that Thanksgiving is any less of a holiday, but that one distinction has been taken away. It is still a very special day for giving thanks for what we have. And we do have plenty. We are not fully aware of just how fortunate we are. That is unless you have knowledge of how other people must live their lives.

I recently chatted with a fellow from Russia. He said it is much better there now than it has been, but nowhere near like it is here. He mentioned that here there is a selection of products, where, in Russia, usually there is no choice. One brand is all there is, good or bad. I have mentioned before in this column that our Kiwanis club provides Thanksgiving dinner for refugees from all over the world. Not immigrants, but refugees, people who have escaped, with their families, from political persecution. Not radical people, but simple, everyday citizens, who either belong to the wrong race, tribe or political belief. In any case, they seek to receive asylum from persecution, and even death. Almost all come from countries that do not celebrate a day that is set aside to give thanks for what they have. So as expected, a day for giving thanks is something unheard of in their culture. We found that with their newfound freedom celebrating Thanksgiving with us is a wonderful way of adjusting to our way. Back here at home the tradition (even though it has lost the distinction of being the kick-off) is still a great day of the year. As we reminisce about the many Thanksgivings we have celebrated over the years, and there have been plenty, we find that times change, families change, but the real reason for the day remains the same. We give thanks for where we live, what we have, and most of all for our families. The family is undoubtedly the single most important reason for giving thanks. There is plenty of good food and drink, but it is one of the few days of the year set aside for family and friends to gathering. The "Season" has three special days. Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's. And we, as Americans, manage to celebrate them all. With gusto! So now we emerge into the happy times of the year.

Shoppers rushing through the doors when stores open on Black Friday to take advantage of the bargains .

The day after Thanksgiving, black Friday, has also become a tradition with outstanding shopping bargains. With that we look forward to and prepare for the next holiday, Christmas. A week after that we have another holiday, the start of a New Year. As we are all aware, it is a time when the dinners and good food add a little weight to our bodies. That seems to be okay, as once we turn the corner on New Year's Day, we have two months to recover. January and February are not the greatest months of the year in good old Buffalo, New York. Plenty of time to diet and exercise. Indoors, or if you are hearty, outdoors. Are you one of the many who look forward to this part of the year? I recall as a child it was the best and most exciting. When my children were young and believing, we looked forward to the holidays. Then the time comes when the kids are all off and with their own families, the season takes a downturn. As you get older, not knowing if you are going to be around to attend, you start to appreciate the wonderful things that happen when the holidays begin. Remember to enjoy what you have and what you have accomplished in your life. We sure do have a lot to be thankful for. Also remember the word Holiday comes from Holy day. The real reason for it all. Happy Thanksgiving.

Ask Rusty- Can I Claim An Increase In Benefits?

Dear Rusty: After losing my job of 31 years in 2013 at 63 years of age, I decided to start drawing my Social Security benefits. In 2015 I started a part time job, which I still have. In January 2020 I will fully retire. I have been paying Social Security taxes for the last 4 years without receiving any increase in my Social Security benefit amount. Can I therefore claim an increase in benefits, or even a refund of those taxes? If not, is there anything that I can do? Signed: Overtaxed Senior

Dear Overtaxed Senior: I'm afraid it doesn't work that way, nor is there anything you can do to get either an increase in your benefit amount from (or a refund of) those FICA payroll tax contributions you made to Social Security while you were working and also collecting Social Security benefits. Everyone who works and earns – even those who are collecting Social Security benefits – must pay the Social Security FICA payroll tax.

But paying that payroll tax doesn't entitle you to a benefit increase. The FICA tax you pay doesn't get credited to a personal account for you; rather it goes into the Social Security general fund to help pay benefits to all current beneficiaries.

Social Security's basic premise since inception in 1935 is that current workers pay for current beneficiaries. Today, there are about 175 million workers contributing to pay benefits to over 63 million beneficiaries. And actually, the ratio of workers to beneficiaries has been declining for years, which is largely responsible for Social Security's current financial issues. For example, in 1950 there were about 16.5 workers for each Social Security beneficiary; today there are about 2.4 workers per beneficiary.

As I said, everyone who works and earns must pay the Social Security FICA tax, but the FICA taxes you pay do not increase your benefit and there is no refund of FICA taxes for those already collecting Social Security benefits. Once you claimed your Social Security benefit, the amount was set and will only change as a result of COLA (cost of living adjustment) increases, or if any of your current/recent earnings are more than any of the inflation-adjusted earnings in the 35 year lifetime work record used to originally compute your benefit. Social Security uses the highest earning 35 years in your lifetime work history (adjusted for inflation) to compute your benefit, and if you don't have earnings in at least 35 years they put in zeros to make a full 35 years. In that case, any current earnings you have would replace any zero earning years in your 35-year history which would slightly increase your benefit. But except for those circumstances, your benefit won't change simply because you are paying Social Security FICA payroll taxes while you are working.

Think of it this way: The Social Security benefits you are now receiving are being paid for by those Americans currently working, and that will continue even after you retire completely in January. And, you'll continue to get those Social Security benefits for the rest of your life, from the payroll taxes paid by those still working.

This Week's Featured Friends:

BUD

See the video on our Facebook page!

Bud is a handsome tabby boy with an amazing pattern of wide black stripes. Besides his good looks, he is friendly, curious and playful and the volunteers cannot understand why his still at the shelter – he is such a love. Come down to Oak Street and meet this wonderful three year old. We are sure you will fall in love with him as we have.

hattan School of Music, New England Conservatory and Yale University. The musicians perform on instruments and bows graciously on loan from the Canada Council of the Arts Instrument Bank and the Maestro Foundation.

2020 Garden Walk Buffalo Artwork Submission

Garden Walk Buffalo, America's largest garden tour, is looking for submissions of original artwork to promote the 2020 event, which will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 25 & 26, 2020.

This is an opportunity to share your artwork with hundreds of local gardeners and tens of thousands of visitors from around the U.S., Canada, and abroad. Entries are due Friday, January 31, 2020.

Artwork should communicate: Descriptives: Gardens, flowers, creativity, neighborhood. Garden Walk Buffalo is the largest garden tour in the U.S and one of Buffalo's most anticipated summer events. It attracts tens of thousands of visitors to more than 400 creative urban gardens. Garden Walk Buffalo shatters expectations of Buffalo city living, it promotes neighborhood beautification, and instills community pride. Please reference GardenWalkBuffalo.com for more information.

Submission guidelines: You may enter any form of painting (any medium, any style — traditional to contemporary), drawings, photography, illustrations, sculpture or mixed media work. Submissions are limited to five entries per artist. Keep artwork simple; it needs to reproduce well on a variety of materials. Do not put any type/logos on artwork. All details of the event will be added later. Artwork should be considered "wearable and saleable" for both men and women. Artwork will be reproduced on a variety of mediums and sold to promote Garden Walk Buffalo. All use of the artwork will be at the discretion of Garden Walk Buffalo. Submit a digital file of your artwork, not to exceed 25MB. Please zip/compress large. The preferred size of the file is 8"x10" inches at 300dpi. Include a short biography of yourself and an explanation on why your artwork would be particularly appropriate to Garden Walk Buffalo.

Email your entry to shough@gardenbuffaloniagara.com. Include ART ENTRY in the subject line. If possible, zip your files or use a service like wetransfer.

For more information, email GardenWalkBuffalo@GardenBuffaloNiagara.com, or call (716) 247-5004.
