Buffalo Zoo's Newest Resident, Lulu

The Buffalo Zoo is excited to announce its newest resident, Lulu, an Eastern black rhino.

The two-year-old rhino comes to Buffalo from the Cleveland Metroparks Zoo in Cleveland, Ohio. Lulu will take up residence in the Buffalo Zoo's former elephant habitat. While the iconic and historic elements of the exhibit have not been changed, parts of the interior and exterior were modified to make a new home for Lulu.

For the last 30 years, the Buffalo Zoo has received national acclaim and had many successes with the greater one-horned rhino species including the most recent birth of Mohan in 2019 using the artificial reproduction process. This is the first time the Buffalo Zoo has had two species of rhino at once. While Lulu will reside in a separate exhibit, she will join greater one-horned rhinos, Mohan, Tashi, and George serving as important ambassadors for all rhino species.

"Collaboration with other accredited zoos is one of the ways we help to save

Help Kids Kick Cancer

During Childhood Cancer Awareness Month this September, the American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood to support kids, teens and young adults battling cancer, as well as others in need of transfusions.

The National Cancer Institute estimates that more than 15,000 children and adolescents in the U.S. are diagnosed with cancer each year. Childhood cancer patients may need blood products on a regular basis during chemotherapy, surgery or treatment for complications.

Cancer and cancer treatments can put patients at risk for low red blood cell and platelet counts. Some types of chemotherapy can damage bone marrow, lowering the production of red blood cells and platelets. Cancers such as leukemia and lymphoma attack the bone marrow as well. Blood and platelet transfusions can enable patients to receive critical treatments needed to fight and survive cancer.

Blood donations are needed to ensure blood products are available for pediatric cancer patients and others throughout this pandemic. As a thank-you, those who come to give Sept. 4-8 will receive a pair of Red Cross branded socks, while supplies last!

Make an appointment to donate by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting Red-CrossBlood.org, calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enabling the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device. Blood drives are also essential in helping ensure blood is available for patients this winter. To learn more and sign up to host a blood drive this fall and winter, visit RedCrossBlood.org/HostADrive.

Jonah Heim Promoted to MLB Oakland Athletics

About 12 years ago, while watching his son Jonah play little league at the Boys Club in the City of Tonawanda, Jamie Heim told me that his boy would play for the New York Yankees. Now I could see that the young man was a special player who pitched and hit and had the knack for dropping his hits into the open field away from the fielders. At age four Jonah Heim told his father Jamie that he wanted to be a professional baseball player. His father nurtured that desire, telling him that players make the team because they can hit. If they can ply well in the field that is a bonus.

The young man learned his lessons well becoming a top prospect as a catcher. Multiple MLB teams sent him letters during his high school years telling him that they were watching him. It never swelled his head as he kept grounded as a humble quiet student athlete at Kenmore East High School.

Jonah Heim Oakland Athletics

Until the day he registered for his senior year when he was told he needed to switch schools. His parents had bought a house on the Amherst side of Niagara Falls Blvd. Across the street was Kenmore East territory.

So Jonah registered for his senior year at a new school. They called it the lucky day for Amherst baseball. MLB scouts were at his games measuring his pickoff throw to second base at 2.0 seconds, the major league average. He was selected in the fourth round in the 2013 draft by the Baltimore Orioles. After seven years climbing the ladder from low level A rookie ball to AAA he was promoted to the major league roster from the taxi squad and made his debut on Monday getting his first MLB hit. Heim takes over as the back-up catcher behind Sean Murphy.

According to AthleticsNation.com "Heim has always looked like the future of this roster spot, with his complete game on both sides of the ball. While Heim still has everything to prove, this feels like a formal changing of the guard, with the long-term future of the A's catching position now in place between Murphy and Heim." He maynot be playing for the Yankees as his father said but soon he will play against the Yankees and it couldn't happen to a nicer guy and family.

North Buffalo Floods

North Buffalo is not prone to natural disasters. No hurricanes, earthquakes, or tornados. That does not include floods. Unfortunately the area has experienced some pretty damaging neighborhood flooding. Limited to one particular area, Hertel and Homer, the devastation was a terrible experience for those who had to live through it.

The first flood occurred somewhere around 1964 and caused tremendous extensive damage. At that time nothing was done to correct what was to turn out to be a reoccurring situation. It should have been natural to expect it to happen again. It did. August 30, 1975, forty five years ago. There was a major flood in North Buffalo. This time it was devastating. Not only did Hertel Avenue flood but the rushing sewer water backed up into the basements of the buildings on Hertel and the residents on the side streets. Up to four or five feet of water left appliances and furniture floating in contaminated sewer water.

When the Rocket was made aware of the situation, we contacted our photographer. This was in the middle of the night. He got dressed and went out and was able to capture pictures of the rapidly rising water. Parked cars were submerged, store fronts were covered, objects were found dangerously floating down with the current created by the rising water. Hip boots were not enough as the water became deeper than the top. Still our man managed to record the event and a bit of local history. We have some of the pictures here and one on the front page. Others can be found on the Buffalo Rocket Archives Facebook page. He did a great job recording the moment in images. That was devotion to his job.

At the time it was explained to me that due to all the new construction on Main Street, the then new UB campus, Subway station and the parking lots needed, the drainage increased into the sewer pipes that ran down Hertel Avenue. This pipe was designed to carry much less water than what was now necessary. The result was a massive bottleneck and buildup of water, and at one certain point it had no place to go, so it backed up into the incoming sewer lines and into the basements and streets.

Again there was much talk about what needed to be done but nothing happened. No action was taken. So eleven years later, 1986, the same area flooded again. More pictures of 1986 on the archive pages.

Something had to be done. I do not know where the finances came from but those who have lived in North Buffalo for a while will recall the major construction that was needed. The smaller sewer line needed to be replaced with a much larger one. That would mean tearing up Hertel Avenue, a major east/West thoroughfare, right down the middle. Massive construction was undertaken but one that needed to be done. It was finally completed and to the delight of those who were here in 1975 and 1986 a relief to know it would not happen again. So far it has not and those that know feel confident it is a thing of the past.

Ask Rusty - Can I Hide My Social Security in A Tax-Advantaged Account?

Dear Rusty: I will be 62 years of age at the end of this year. Can I start drawing my Social Security at age 62 and have it directly deposited into my IRA (arm's length), not spend it and continue to work without affecting my tax position? I will defer actually using it until a later date
Signed: Curious Investor

Dear Curious Investor: Regardless of where you have your Social Security benefits deposited, if you continue to work after claiming early benefits, you'll be subject to Social Security's earnings test. The earnings test applies to anyone who collects benefits before they reach their full retirement age (which for you is 66 years and 8 months).

It doesn't matter if you spend your benefits, save them, or invest them; you'll still be subject to Social Security's earnings limit.

And, since IRS rules say that only earned income (which excludes Social Security benefits) can be deposited into an individual retirement account (IRA), it is not possible for you to direct-deposit your Social Security benefits into an IRA. In any case, even if you otherwise save your benefits for later use; you will still be subject to Social Security's earnings limit. For 2020 the annual earnings limit is $18,240 (the limit changes annually) and if that is exceeded, Social Security will take back benefits equal to $1 for every $2 you are over the limit. The earnings limit goes up by about 2.5 times in the year you reach your full retirement age (FRA) and goes away once your FRA is attained.

Social Security gets your earnings information from the IRS when you file your income taxes, and you cannot avoid the earnings test by having the money deposited for later use. The earnings test will still apply, and they will take back some of your benefits if you exceed the limit. For information, by "take back" benefits, I mean they will notify you that they have overpaid you (due to your earnings from working) and will give you the option of either paying them back in full with a lump sum payment, or they will withhold your future benefits until they recover what you owe because you exceeded the earnings limit.

As for your "tax position" on your benefits, that will depend upon your combined income from all other sources (investments, interest, pensions, earnings, etc.), plus 50% of the SS benefits you received during the tax year, plus any non-taxable interest you may have (combined this is known as your Modified Adjusted Gross Income, or "MAGI"). If you file your income taxes as a single and your MAGI is more than $25,000 (or if you file "married-jointly and your MAGI is more than $32,000) then 50% of your SS benefits will become part of your taxable income. And filing single with a MAGI of more than $34,000 (or $44,000 if married-filing jointly), up to 85% of your Social Security benefits will become part of your taxable income (by the IRS). Once again, it doesn't matter how you dispose of your benefit payments;

they will still be taxable if you exceed the clip levels mentioned above, and you will still be subject to Social Security's earnings test until you reach your full retirement age.

September when they donate blood or platelets with the Red Cross and get a free haircut coupon from Sport Clips Haircuts – a proud supporter of childhood cancer research – during the annual Saving Lives Never Looked So Good campaign.

Those who come to give blood or platelets Sept. 1-30 will receive a coupon for a free haircut via email several days after their donation. The coupon is valid through Nov. 30, 2020, at participating Sport Clips locations. Donors must have a valid email address on record to receive the coupon.

Donors are urged to make an appointment to donate using the free American Red Cross Blood Donor App, by visiting RedCrossBlood.org/sport-clips, by calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800- 733-2767) or by enabling the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device. The Red Cross and Sport Clips encourage donors to use the hashtag

#SavingLivesLooksGood to share their new looks and invite others to give.

Important COVID-19 information for donorsThe Red Cross is testing blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. The test may indicate if the donor’s immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus, regardless of whether they developed symptoms. Red Cross antibody tests will be helpful to identify individuals who have COVID-19 antibodies and may qualify to be convalescent plasma donors. Convalescent plasma is a type of blood donation collected from COVID-19 survivors 2019-APL-01396; 2020-APL-00968 that have antibodies that may help patients who are actively fighting the virus. Donors can expect to receive the results of their antibody test within 7 to 10 days through the Red Cross Blood Donor App or the donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org.

The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness, referred to as a diagnostic test. To protect the health and safety of Red Cross staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows the highest standards of safety and infection control, and additional precautions – including temperature checks, social distancing and face coverings for donors and staff – have been implemented to help protect the health of all those in attendance. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive and are required to wear a face covering or mask while at the drive, in alignment with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention public guidance.

ADOPT A PET

Sponsored By The Buffalo Rocket

This Week's Featured Friend: HARMONY

Harmony is an approximately 2 year old bully breed mix who was brought to the shelter by a good Samaritan who found her running the streets. This girl came to us in pretty rough shape, with skin and fur that had been left in tatters due to (non contagious) demodex mange. She has received treatment for this condition, but will take a few weeks to recover and have a healthy and vibrant coat. Harmony is a nice medium sized gal, in the 40-45 lb range with a petite frame and the sweetest, most expressive eyes. She has a very gentle nature and loves to be close to her human pals. She has been friendly with all the dogs she has met as well. Despite having an obviously difficult past, this lovely lady holds no grudges and just wants to be loved and adored. Pet ID: 45260893

Because of the COVID19 situation, the shelter is closed to the general public. If you would like to meet any of the adoptable dogs, please fill out an application online (if you are not already pre-approved), call the shelter, and leave a message with your name and phone number and the dog you're interested in.
