

Pet Safety For 2022

Pet owners should be aware of the winter’s effects for their pet’s safety.

With the colder temperatures coming as winter approaches, we have been preparing ourselves and our families for the change of seasons. This may come in the form of changing out the closets to the warmer clothes, getting out the heavier jackets and getting the boots ready at the front door.

It’s not just humans that need to make these preparations, but also our animals.

What You Need To Know:

Cold weather means preparation for your furry family members

Check with your veterinarian for ways to keep your pets safe from winter conditions

Do not leave your animals out in the cold and extreme weather conditions

Much like humans, our furry family members need to prepare for the cold. What to do depends on the breed of your pup as well as your veterinarian’s recommendations. You can do some basic things now to make sure your animals are ready for the cold.

Not all dogs love a good bath, but if yours does, think about changing the frequency of those wash downs. As the weather turns colder, bathing less frequently keeps your dog’s coat intact and doesn’t allow the dog to get cold from drying off.

Some breeds need

Ask Rusty - Why Is a Medicare Premium Deducted from my Social Security?

Dear Rusty: My wife and I have a Medicare Advantage Plan, and we do not use Medicare for our claims. However, we still have the Medicare premium deducted from our Social Security checks. Is this correct? Signed: Wondering

Dear Wondering: If, after age 65, you choose to take Medicare outpatient coverage of any kind you must pay that Part B premium, even if you decide to acquire a Medicare Advantage plan instead of using “original Medicare benefits” to administer your healthcare claims.

Medicare Advantage plans (often referred to as Medicare “Part C” for clarity) are healthcare plans offered by private insurers who will administer your healthcare claims instead of the Federal Government. But you cannot get a Medicare Advantage plan without first being enrolled in Medicare Part A (inpatient hospitalization coverage) and Part B (coverage for outpatient services) and paying any associated Part B (and perhaps Part A as well) premium.

As you know, you pay a low premium (or perhaps no premium at all) for your Medicare Advantage plan. That’s because the Part B premium you are now paying from your Social Security is actually going to your Medicare Advantage plan provider, enabling them to offer you equivalent coverage at little or no additional cost. Some Medicare Advantage plans even provide added coverage which Medicare Part B doesn’t, such as dental and vision and, sometimes, prescription drug coverage. If that all sounds enticing, remember that Medicare Advantage plans usually also include restrictions on which medical service providers you can use, unlike “original Medicare” which permits you to use any medical service provider who accepts Medicare (nearly all if not all most of the user base).

So, when you see or hear a Medicare Advantage provider advertising “no-cost” or “very low cost” coverage, recognize that they can offer that only because the government pays them a fixed amount for your care from the Medicare Part B premium taken from your Social Security. The Part B premium you are paying from your Social Security benefit is why your Medicare Advantage plan premium is as low as it is.

Many people like the cost efficiency and extra coverage provided by Medicare Advantage plans and are comfortable with the restriction to use “in-network” providers. Many others choose “original Medicare” because of the inherent flexibility to use just about any healthcare service provider they wish. You should always carefully evaluate which type of healthcare coverage is right for you personally.

ADOPT A PET Sponsored By The Buffalo Rocket

This Week's Featured Friend: APOLLO

This handsome fella is about a year old and was surrendered to the shelter when his owner ended up being homeless and had nowhere to go. Apollo can be a bit timid when you first meet him and as with many Shepherds, it might take a bit to warm up to a new person. He has that typical Shepherd bark, and likes to check the perimeter in the yard to make sure all is clear.

Because of the COVID19 situation, the shelter is closed to the general public. If you would like to meet any of the adoptable dogs, please fill out an application online (if you are not already pre-approved), call the shelter, and leave a message with your name and phone number and the dog you're interested in. Have patience, and they will call you back when they can. From there, a time will be scheduled for you to come and meet the dog. Please be patient, and remember they are very short staffed at the moment. Applications can be found at <https://friendsofcbas.org/adopt>

Calvin Coolidge was also born that year. What the 30th President of the United States said back then kept me out of a lot of trouble today:

"I have never been hurt by what I have not said."

When it came to Facebook, I saw it as a tremendous way to communicate with taxpayers. It was also a direct line to the people I served. No filters. Facebook allowed me to quickly and easily communicate with constituents.

That being said, I took Calvin Coolidge's advice when it comes to personally posting on social media. Staff controlled my Facebook. I didn't even know my own passwords. It stopped me from getting in trouble or winding up on the front page of the paper, especially if I had a few beers in me or if I had my "Ukrainian up."

Now that I'm out of office I'm back in control my social media. If I'm reigning fire on some elected official at 9:00 PM on a Friday night, you'll know I've had a few Obolon Ukrainian beers at my Dnipro Ukrainian Cultural Center.

That being said, I love being back on Facebook. I've already spent 46 hours going through Marketplace and even bought a fancy Serta office chair for $100. Deal of the century. I love sharing more and more family memories with loved ones, especially during the holiday season.

It only took us 150 years to progress from the Motograph to Facebook. Can you imagine how future generations will buy chairs and communicate in the year 2172?

Gardens Buffalo Niagara creates more vibrant and beautiful communities by sharing our gardens through events like Garden Walk Buffalo, America's largest garden tour; the East Side Garden Walk; Tours of Open Gardens on Thursdays and Fridays in July; the Buffalo Style Garden Art Sale; and promoting the 15 other regional garden tours in the region.

Pet Safety 2022

Continued from page one. to change their meal amounts to increase calories as their bodies need to burn more calories to keep warm. Discuss food changes with your vet. Adding a sweater to smaller dogs or leaner breeds is also a good way to keep your pup warmer.

Footwear is key in the cold. Booties are helpful if your dog will allow you to put them on, but adding petroleum jelly to paw pads can also protect them from ice and snow. Be sure to clean your dog's paws thoroughly when returning from a walk to get any salt or snowmelt chemicals off.

The most basic way to keep your beloved animals safe is to keep them inside as needed. Extreme cold is dangerous to humans and domesticated animals alike, and staying indoors in extreme conditions is key for safety.

As we see the temperatures drop, we can start making plans now to keep our entire family safe this winter season, even when we're out playing in the snow.

Donate To Betty White's Animal Rescue Fund

Continued from page one. White's death just weeks before what would have been her 100th birthday on Jan. 17, many began sharing a #BettyWhiteChallenge on social media. The challenge asks fans to pick a local rescue or animal shelter and donate $5 in White's name.

The cultural icon said her parents, who were "tremendous animal lovers," instilled in her a kinship toward all creatures from a young age.

The Morris Animal Foundation said White "devoted her life to improving the lives of animals."

"If you'd like to honor her legacy, consider making a gift to our wildlife health program today."

As noted by many on social media, fans of White can also make a donation in her name to a local animal shelter or animal rescue in their area.

American Humane, dedicated to the safety, welfare and well-being of animals, was an organization White remained involved with for more than 60 years. Those who would like to donate can do so at <https://www.americanhumane.org/>.
