Valentine's Day will take place on Monday, February14th, 2022.

Valentine's Day occurs every February 14th of each year since 270 AD. Across the United States and in other places around the world, candy, flowers and gifts are exchanged between loved ones, all in the name of St. Valentine. But who is this mysterious saint and where did these traditions come from? Find out about the history of Valentine's Day, from the ancient Roman ritual of Lupercalia that welcomed spring to the card-giving customs of Victorian England. February has long been celebrated as a month of romance, and that St. Valentine's Day, as we know it today, contains vestiges of both Christian and ancient Roman tradition. Today, according to the Greeting Card Association, an estimated 145 million Valentine's Day cards are sent each year, making Valentine's Day the second largest card-sending holiday of the year (more cards are sent at Christmas).

Erie County Clerk Michael P. Kearns helped lead an annual Valentines for Veterans project with elementary students at Buffalo Public and Lancaster Central School Districts. Kearns worked with the teachers and principals to coordinate this event where students crafted hundreds of handmade Valentine's Day cards with genuine notes of thanks and valentine wishes for area veterans. Kearns collected and delivered these cards personally, just in time for Valentine's Day, to veterans that attended WNY

Ask Rusty – Do Medicare Part A and B Backup My Medicare Advantage Plan?

Dear Rusty: I was told that I can use Medicare Parts A and B as secondary coverage to my Medicare Advantage plan. Is that true? Signed: Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Many do not understand how the various parts of Medicare work, and especially how or if “original Medicare” (Medicare Part A and Part B) interacts with a Medicare Advantage plan. If you now have a Medicare Advantage plan, it is the private insurer who provides your plan that administers all of your healthcare needs, instead of the federal government agency which runs Medicare (that federal agency is called the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, or “CMS”).

Although you must pay Medicare Part A and Part B premiums to the federal government to obtain a Medicare Advantage plan, all your healthcare services are handled by the private Medicare Advantage plan provider and not by the government’s CMS agency. When you have an Advantage plan, Medicare Parts A and Part B do not act as secondary coverage for your Advantage plan. You don’t get healthcare services from both, because when you choose a Medicare Advantage plan, you are de-selecting CMS as the administrator of your healthcare needs.

Deciding whether to use “original Medicare” to administer your healthcare services or to use a Medicare Advantage plan is always a very personal choice. Medicare Advantage plans cover almost all the medically necessary services that original Medicare covers, although you must generally use “in-network” providers to obtain full coverage. But if you incur healthcare expenses which are not covered by your Medicare Advantage plan, you must pay them yourself – federal Medicare Parts A and Part B are not backup coverage for those uncovered healthcare expenses. So, what you were told is incorrect – Medicare Part A and Part B do not act as secondary coverage to your Medicare Advantage plan.

City Of Good Neighbors

During COVID lockdowns small businesses suffered, especially restaurants and bars.

Derek Accurso and Mike Kelly met studying criminal justice at Hilbert College.

Over beers, both spoke about their love of whiskey and sports. Both were active on Facebook and Instagram. They launched a show on those social media platforms: the "Buffalo Happy Hour" podcast.

Then COVID struck. Talk quickly turned to the many families that lost everything they had worked for due to mask and vaccine mandates.

Instead of complaining, they decided to use Facebook and Instagram for good. At the height of the pandemic, the two friends featured small businesses. The goal was to drum up publicity to help spread the good word about supporting local businesses.

"Small businesses love coming on to share their story. They were really hurting. Still are. The 'Buffalo Happy Hour' podcast on Facebook and Instagram gives them an opportunity to attract new customers. The format is organic. Not scripted. They love it. We also love using social media for good," said Accurso.

Their focus continues on helping small businesses even though it appears the pandemic is transitioning to an endemic, and less stringent measures are in place. Slowly but surely more and more of their podcasts are trending towards their original roots involving whiskey and whiskey tasting.

Most shows are recorded at Addy's Fine Wine & Spirits on Transit Road. A recent podcast featured combat veteran Jason Jaskula's popular whiskey "13 Monkeys," where a portion of proceeds benefit veterans and the KIA Memorial March.

If you're a business owner interested in being a guest on their show, your best bet is to search Facebook and Instagram for "Buffalo Happy Hour" podcast.

"The more we can help small businesses, the better. This is what makes Buffalo the 'City of Good Neighbors.' Folks doing what they can to help," concluded Kelly.

"Valentines For Vets" For Food Distribution Event For Veterans

In past years, this program would be coordinated with an Erie County Clerk's "Thank-A-Vet" Discount Card Program event where students would be invited to present the handmade cards to the veterans in attendance. Unfortunately, as COVID-19 restrictions continue, events like that are still not occurring.

However, County Clerk Kearns wanted to ensure this long-standing tradition of Valentines for Vets continued to show appreciation to the veteran community.

Kearns also wants the veteran community to know if they need help securing food, or assistance with housing, employment, or immediate financial aid, or simply want to volunteer, contact WNY Heroes. Inc. at wnyheroes.org or call 716-630-5023.
