Buffalo Department Of Public Works Announces Downtown Street Repaving

City of Buffalo Commissioner of Public Works, Parks & Streets, Michael J. Finn, P.E., today announced that milling of Washington Street, between Goodell and E. Huron streets, and E. Huron Street, between Main and Oak streets, is now underway.

The $820,000 Washington Street project will be done in two segments, with work on the stretch between Broadway and Exchange streets, to take place later this construction season.

The ongoing sidewalk access ramp installation along this section of Washington Street is anticipated to wrap up ahead of this weekend's Queen City Jazz Festival.

Sidewalk access ramp installation, and street milling and paving, is scheduled for this fall for W. Huron Street, between Niagara Street and Delaware Avenue. The total cost for Huron Street work is $330,000.

No street closures are planned for either the Washington or Huron street work, but motorists should stay alert for lane shifts and parking restrictions.

Paving along Bailey Avenue, between Buffalo China Road and Clinton Street, will resume tomorrow, Wednesday, July 27 at 4 a.m. There will be lane shifts and lane reductions associated with this work.

Suffolk Avenue, from Langfield Street to Kensington Street, will be closed from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. on Thursday, July 28. Continued on page three.

Buffalo Museum Of Science: Antarctic Dinosaurs

On tour from the Field Museum, Antarctic Dinosaurs reveals a lost world, illuminated by scientists' expeditions to the frozen continent. Visitors will encounter never-before-seen dinosaurs like the twenty-five-foot-long predator Cryolophosaurus and touch real fossils from Antarctica. The immersive exhibit introduces guests to how the dinosaurs and their habitat would have looked 250 million years ago, and interactive elements provide an opportunity to learn how the scientists behind these discoveries performed their research in what is now the icy and barren content of Antarctica. Come along on a dramatic adventure. Continued on page three.

The Antarctic Dinosaurs exhibit is now open through to September 4th at the Buffalo Museum of Science.

12U Blaze Travel Champs!

Stephen Kyser finally got his homerun in Shoshone Park over the fence on the Major Boys Highmark Diamond this past Sunday to win the Championship for North Buffalo. He couldn't have picked a better time.

The effervescent 12 year old, a long time player in Hertel North Park, puts his heart and soul into every game he plays, whether it's for his house team, the Braves or the Travel Blaze team that he so has deserved to play with his friends in Shoshone Park.

This year's team consisted of some of the best players to come out of the Major Boys Division in Hertel North Park and under the direction of John Palamara, North Buffalo has another Championship team wearing the green and gold. He and teammate Cristian Arzola are following in the footsteps of HNP alumnus Xavier Mann, who a few years ago, ran around these same diamonds of Shoshone Park enroute to becoming a co-player of the year as a junior starting shortstop for City Honors High School this year in the Cornell Cup.

Whether Kysor or Arzola both continue to play the game in High School after Shoshone remains to be seen, but having a City ball player make an All-Western New York team in their young lives is proof that Buffalo City Schools can compete with any other School district.

A lot of Baseball and Softball games are being played as July comes to a close. The 12 Rookie Boys Division teams have been put into two separate Playoff brackets and are competing as green or yellow. The Orioles, Athletics, Twins and Red Sox are meeting in the semi-finals in the Green. The Yellow features the Yankees, Indians, Blue Jays and Rays. Some teams have been eliminated from the postseason now but they're already looking towards next season.

In Rookie Girls, the Shamrocks scored five runs in the top of the sixth inning that broke an 8-8 tie with the Angels after five and upset the #1 cede in round two of their play-offs. The bottom half of the Shamrock was the difference. For the Angels, it was just their first loss to a very good season. In other games, the Stars defeated the Rebels and the Comets topped the Devils.

Nolan Mancuso pitched two shutout innings and hit three triples to lead the Triple AAA Athletics to a big win over the Orioles. The Mariners defeated the Twins and the White Sox topped the Angels.

In Major Boys, the Dodgers upset the Cubs, 11-2 on July 14th but since that time, the Cubs have turned their season around with two wins over the Padres, 6-5 and the tough Giants team, 7-2. The Braves defeated the Mets and Nationals, 6-1, sending Everett Herbeck, Cole McCleary and John Salerno and the others home til next season.

Congrats to the 12U Green North Buffalo Blaze. They have an overall 18-6-1 record this year and won the premier league 12U Babe Ruth American League regular season.

On Sunday they defeated West Seneca in the playoff championship game 6-5 on Stephen Kyser's walk off home run in the bottom of the 9th!

*My wife is 65 years old and worked sporadically over the years so is entitled to her own benefits. If we applied under her account, she would get around $300 a month. If she applies under the spousal benefits, she should get a lot more, but we are not exactly sure how to apply for spousal benefits under her existing account. Can you help guide us? Signed: Uncertain How to Proceed

Dear Uncertain:
Your wife can apply for both her own SS retirement benefit (from her own lifetime work record) and her spousal benefit from you, at the same time. In fact, when she applies for her own Social Security benefit, since you are now collecting your benefits she will be automatically deemed to be filing also for her spousal benefit from you. Your wife’s Social Security payment will actually consist of two elements – her own earned benefit and a “spousal boost” to bring her to her spousal entitlement. So, when she applies for her own SS benefit, she will also get a spousal boost to make her payment equal to what she is entitled to as your spouse. She can apply by calling Social Security at your local office or calling the national service center at 1.800.772.1213 to request an appointment.

Picture This.

Is this fish as big as it looks?

We all take pictures and even videos now. Fortunately, picture taking has been around now for around 150 years. That is a lot of photographs and a lot of history and memories. Too bad it was not around before that as there is so much that photos could tell. We had to rely on paintings and sculptures to see what things were like before photography. This leaves us with limited images of what the world was really like before we had cameras. One can only imagine real shots of the Roman Empire, Paris, and London in the early years. The ancient wars. On a more personal basis, most of us take the time to go over old albums of family shots and recall the events we cherish and our memories. It is a favorite of all of us. A blast into the past. Weddings, births, celebrations, and just shots of a backyard bar-b-que. Important to members of the families present and those who have passed. Captured on film forever. There is nothing like it. You cannot relive the past, but you can visit it in pictures. "Oh, I remember this, we had such an enjoyable time," as we see a never before seen shot. There is truly nothing like it and it is so important in our everyday lives. Now it is getting a bit out of hand with everything being videos. In some cases that is a good thing and in others not so good. One thing we do not really think about is that photographs are not always what you see. They are two dimensional and the world is three. We see height and width but not depth so there is always something missing. How big is it really? There are things around the image that give you an idea of size but even that can be deceiving. Like the picture showing a fish recently caught. Is that the actual size or is it the camera angle? By holding an object a certain way, you can make it look smaller or bigger in a photograph. That is because it has only two dimensions. At one time you may have seen a three-dimensional movie with the needed glasses. Quite a difference when you add depth. They will have three dimensional photos someday if they have not already. When I talk about size in a photograph, three things come to mind. The other day I was talking to someone in South Dakota. That is the state with Mount Rushmore. I recalled seeing it a few years back and what I recall about that visit. We all have seen dozens of pictures of the famous mountain over the years. So many, we think we know what it looks like. No, not until you really see it. There is no photograph I have seen that does it justice. As we walked up the path toward this magnificent sculpture and made the turn to see it as it really is, it was breathtaking. It is so huge! Remember it is carved out of a mountain and no picture can truly capture its size. Yes, we took pictures, but none did it justice. The only way you can see it as it is is to see it in person or on a three-dimensional photo when they have them. There were two other attractions where pictures do not tell the story. One is the Grand Canyon. Unless you have seen it up close and personal you have not really seen it. Of the thousands of pictures taken of it, they just do not make it appear as gigantic as it is. The colors are there in the pictures, but the size is not. You lose the dimension. You just do and unless you see it in person you cannot realize the scope. The other is the Eiffel Tower in Paris. Another structure we have seen in hundreds of pictures. Taken from every angle and by thousands of different cameras. Yet they cannot really show you the overwhelming size of this historical attraction. Being up on it is the only way to really see it as it is. The higher you go the bigger it seems to become. Again, we took pictures but as I look at them, they are nice but do not tell the true story. I love pictures and we should all be thankful that we are able to record what we are able to on film. Now it is no longer film but digital and everything is recorded. Is that good or bad? Some of the things I see on social media I can do without. Even though they are just two dimensions, our old photos are priceless. The old videos on this huge camera I had were a pain to take but I am so glad I took them. The many photos our Rocket photographers took over the years are now local history. Photography, we thank you for the memories.
