2024 Spring Bulk Trash Collection

Mayor Byron W. Brown and the City of Buffalo Department of Public Works, Parks & Streets announced that another new season of Spring Bulk Trash Collection will begin during the week of Sunday, April 7th in the Ellicott District.

"We're pleased to announce a new year of bulk trash collection in Buffalo, which kicks off in early April in the Ellicott District. I ask City residents to follow the guidelines on the amount and type of items that can be put out for collection," said Mayor Brown. "I also ask residents to get their bulk trash to the curb on the Sunday of their designated collection week as pick-ups will take place Monday through Saturday, not just on their scheduled garbage day."

Residents are asked to follow the posted parking regulations in their neighborhood to make sure trash collection equipment has access to the curbside piles. The 2024 Spring Bulk Trash Collection Schedule is as follows.

Gardens Buffalo Niagara Garden Art Sale Call For Vendors

The Garden Art Sale (GardenArtSale.com), a beloved summer tradition, offers a prime platform for artisans to share their garden- and nature-themed creations with an ever-growing and enthusiastic gardening community. From sculptures to planters, metalwork to fountains, wind sculptures to vintage signs, ceramics to woodwork, birdhouses to birdbaths, and beyond, the event welcomes diverse mediums that resonate with the essence of gardens and nature.

The Gardens Buffalo Niagara Garden Art Sale in partnership with the Buffalo and Erie County Botanical Gardens isn't just a showcase; it's a haven for motivated buyers seeking unique, garden-inspired treasures. More than 50 vendors will converge on the expansive front lawn of the Botanical Gardens, nestled within the picturesque Frederick Law Olmsted-designed park, to exhibit their exquisite garden art-related wares.

Artisans and vendors are encouraged to apply to this juried show and become a part of this exceptional event. Online applications and additional information can be found by visiting <https://www.gardensbuffaloniagara.com/vendors>

ADOPT A PET

Sponsored By The Buffalo Rocket

This Week's Featured Friend: PEPPER

OUR SHELTER IS OVERFLOWING WITH DOGS!

Pepper is a young mom who spent her early shelter life raising 2 kittens who are now grown. Pepper does not appear to enjoy the company of other cats - whether that is related to her recent experience mothering or just her general attitude, we are not quite sure. We recommend Pepper go to a home without other cats (and probably without dogs) since she is very assertive in her dislike at the moment. Otherwise, she is an inquisitive and curious cat, just biding her time until her peaceful forever home comes around where she can relax and be the perfect companion to her future family.

If you would like to meet any of the adoptable dogs, please fill out an application online (if you are not already pre-approved), call the shelter, and leave a message with your name and phone number and the dog you're interested in. Have patience, and they will call you back when they can. From there, a time will be scheduled for you to come and meet the dog. Please be patient, and remember they are very short staffed at the moment. Applications can be found at <https://friendsofcbas.org/adopt>

Ask Rusty – Should I Claim Social Security At 68, Or Wait Until I’m 70?

Dear Rusty: I have a question regarding my Social Security benefits. I turned 68 this month and work part time. I earned $28,000 last year but will probably gross $36,000 to $38,000 this year. My husband collects his SS, and he earned $25,000 last year. I was told by a financial planner that I should apply for my benefits now, instead of waiting until I’m 70. I would collect $1700/month at 68 and $1944/month if I wait. Which is the smarter move? Signed: Seeking Answers

Dear Seeking: I’m sure your financial advisor would agree that your decision on when to claim your Social Security comes down to just a few basic things – 1) how badly you need the money, 2) your life expectancy, and 3) whether you will receive a spousal boost from your husband when you claim.

Because you have already passed your full retirement age (FRA) of 66 years and 4 months, your work earnings won’t negatively affect your monthly SS benefit amount. If you claim now, however, your work earnings will affect how much of your SS benefits will be subject to income tax. Assuming you file your income tax as “married/filing jointly,” up to 85% of the Social Security benefits you receive during the tax year will become part of your income taxable by the IRS. If you do not urgently need the extra money that your SS will provide, then waiting longer to claim will also postpone paying income tax on your received benefits, and that may be a consideration.

Your life expectancy is key in making your decision on when to claim. You already know that your benefit will be $244 per month more if you wait until you are 70 to claim. If you claim at 68 (e.g., this month), you will collect about $40,800 by the time you reach 70. If you, instead, wait until age 70 to get that extra $244/month benefit, it will take you about 14 years collecting at the higher rate to offset the $40,800 you would have received had you claimed now (in other words, you would break even money-wise at about age 84). If your life expectancy is longer, then waiting to claim may be the better choice. Of course, no one knows how long they will live but, for general guidance, average life expectancy for a woman your current age is about 87. Family history and your current health are obviously influencing factors as well. If you wish to get a more personal estimate of your life expectancy, I suggest using this tool: www.socialsecurityreport.org/tools/life-expectancy-calculator/

In the end, if you believe you will attain at least average life expectancy and you don’t urgently need the money now, waiting longer will not only give you a higher monthly benefit in your later years, but also the most in cumulative lifetime benefits.

TB.

JN Adams Memorial Hospital in Perrysburg, NY.

We are living through it, another epidemic.

Upon entering Grammer school many years ago, Kindergarten children were required to stand in line and get a smallpox vaccination. It was mandatory, no questions asked, but the vaccine did the job. Wiped-out smallpox in this country and the world. It was one of those killer epidemics. Most modern people have never even heard of smallpox. Just like most never heard of Polio or Tuberculosis. Both were killers or cripplers of thousands. Polio, to survive some had to be placed in what was called an "iron lung." Most people are aware that President Theodore Roosevelt was a victim of Polio and used a wheelchair most of his presidency.

The vaccine for smallpox was my first encounter with any infectious disease. We worried about polio until Johannes Salk came up with the Salk vaccine. Took that worry off the table. Polio was no longer a major concern. However, there were many people that were contracting and dying of TB, Tuberculosis. It was common and even hit our family. My dad's sister, my aunt Mildred got TB. If I remember right, it was highly contagious and life threatening. I was just a kid.

There was a hospital built in Perrysburg here in Western New York just for Tuberculosis patients. It was named the J.N. Adams Memorial Hospital after the then Mayor of Buffalo who donated the land. They had found that sunshine and fresh air helped in the cure. Its purpose was exclusively to treat people with TB. This facility started out with 120 beds and eventually expanded to hold 420 residents. The building is still there, a magnificent structure in disrepair. It has a fence around it and has been abandoned for many years. Seen pictures of what it looked like as a sanatorium. People can still drive by as it is a pleasant ride in the country. The scenery is outstanding. Perrysburg is named after Commadore Perry, Lake Erie hero in the war of 1812. The area has the nickname of "Enchanted Mountains", I will return to a point about TB a bit later.

Seems like epidemics, like Covid, come along, for whatever reason every so often. Worldwide I think Covid has killed millions. This being the latest killer of the masses. We just lived through one of many. It was the one destined to happen in our lifetime. Over one million have died in the US alone since it began. Would like to think it is now a thing of the past, but we never know. Personally, in my family of ten including my wife and seven of the eight received the vaccine. My one daughter and I opted to not get the needle. Of the seven that received the vaccination, six got Covid. Sick but not life threatening. My non-vaccinated daughter and I never got Covid, so far. One vaccinated son also did not get it. My wife went to the hospital the day after her booster shot and died two months later. Never got better after the shot. Not saying it had anything to do with her passing, but it makes one wonder.

Getting back to tuberculosis. Must realize this was a killer and feared by most in that era. Doctors and researchers produced a cure and made TB just history, something people do not even remember anymore. I did not think about it again till it was injected into me. Procedure called BCG. I am no doctor and had to rely on what I was told. After a couple of bouts with bladder cancer and having two different tumors removed, my Urologist recommended that I have the BCG treatment. Has something to do with tuberculosis. Not sure how it works but has to do with building up your immune system. So far it has worked perfectly as the cancer has not returned. Has been a couple of years. Just wonder if it does prevent cancer cells from growing, why it is not used more. I am sure that if there was a way, they would use it. Wouldn't they?

In any event, we have survived a terrible epidemic and live to talk about it, thanks to the vaccine producers. Good or bad we have longer lives to look forward to.
