PS 81 And McKinley High School Complete Rennovations

The new wing at Buffalo Public School 81 is completed and is ready to bring back students after the two years of reconstruction.

Buffalo Public School 81, on Tacoma Avenue and McKinley High School, on Elmwood Avenue, will open the school year with newly added school rooms and their renovations completed.

In January 2000, the Buffalo City School District embarked on an ambitious project of reconstructing virtually its entire stock of aging school buildings.

Ultimately costing over $1.3 billion, the project is scheduled to be completed in 2013. Divided into five phases, four of the phases consisting of forty-one schools have been completed and the fifth and final phase of seven buildings started construction last fall. Ultimately forty-eight Buffalo Schools will have been renovated.

What most people don't realize is that this is the largest historic preservation project in Buffalo's history.

Once the project was underway, the first step was to survey and evaluate all 78 buildings to determine what work was needed to provide students with the best twenty-first century learning environments.

Studies have found a significant increase in student's performance when they are taught in buildings with ample day lighting, proper temperature control and up-to-date technology. Generally, Buffalo's schools were still safe and clean and well maintained by their custodial staff but a number of deficiencies were found to exist.

These included inadequate power for computers and electronics, old plumbing, drafty windows, leaky roofs, inefficient heating systems, disabled ventilation systems and worn finishes. What became apparent, however, was the inherent quality of most of these buildings.

Constructed entirely of masonry, with large, bright windows, terrazzo floors, rich woodwork and elaborate auditoriums, these building could not be duplicated and would surely last decades more. It was determined that instead of building new schools; the existing ones would be renovated.

Ultimately no one can deny the success of this reconstruction and historic preservation program. The district realizes that strong, successful schools are vital for the city to thrive. In addition, these facilities are the focal points within their neighborhoods and can be the catalyst for community redevelopment.

Neighborhood schools are an asset that the suburban districts don't offer. With this project, Buffalo has been able to maintain the integrity of its architecturally significant schools while creating learning environments that are a match to any other in New York State.

McKinley High School shows off their new addition with the new wing facing Elmwood Avenue.

'Hedda Gabler'

Things did not work out for Hedda Gabler. She married in haste, repented at leisure, a six-month honeymoon with an aspiring academic who spent most of it researching in libraries and museums. (Well, not quite all of it; she's pregnant).

Now Hedda has the home of her dreams and her nightmares, as well. Lovely, talented, intelligent, Hedda wants to wield influence, by proxy, if necessary. Previous squeeze Eilert has written the treatise to end all treatises (and not a moment too soon). Hedda schemes to booze him up, arm him, and dispatch him to a Scandinavian man-cave to inflict on himself, in her honor, a glorious demise.

Unclear on the concept, Eilert instead winds up in a "parlor house," minus his ground-breaking manuscript and other gems. For Hedda, this is too, too much.

In "Hedda Gabler," Norwegian playwright Henrik Ibsen wrote coldly of repressed women, yet daring to sketch his horrid heroine as somewhere between sick and sadistic. A Toronto critic described her as the original desperate housewife.

In a splendid production flavored with such modern slang as "cut to the chase," Shaw Festival Director Martha Henry fully employs the tiny playhouse's aisles, making the audience party to the plot. When Hedda whacked the doddering old housemaid, the Court House audience sounded ready to storm the stage and pre-empt the script by striking her down. Actress Moya O'Connell hastens her toward destruction with vivid discipline, daring the occasional bitter jest.

Jennifer Phipps is a treasure as the dusty servant, two shakes south of senility. Jim Mezon, last year's definitive "Big Daddy," invests the cunningly controlling Judge Brack with sleek authority, modified by a dash of skepticism. Mary Haney is deliciously dotty "Auntie JuJu," omnipresent bane of Hedda's existence. Clair Julien is fetchingly naïve as Eilert's new inspiration, Gray Powell slimily ambitious as that rising academic and Patrick McManus blindly affectionate as Hedda's husband.

"Quite a few men would like to be me," he cluelessly confides.

While never chewing scenery, actress O'Connell last Wednesday did inhale an insect in Act One, ad libbing a sip of water to wash it down. The show went on. The bug did not. It was one of those moments that gives live theater its special appeal.

Running a taut 2:20, "Hedda Gabler" may taunt the tastes of the terminally optimistic, but if you must see it once, cut to the chase by Sept. 29.

"Life Without Television"

Someone asked me not too long ago how it was to raise eight children without the aid of Electronics. Seems today most kids are content with doing things that were not possible with the last generation. Looking things up and chatting on their computers or cell phones, watching hours of television, playing video child who is limited to activities that are strictly indoor. Yes, computer, television and video games. Since he is alone in his house for most of the summer, he has few friends. Being that he is on the computer, watching television and playing video games it is not all bad. As one would suspect, he is a very bright child like

Kite Flying in LaSalle Park. 1972

The elephant house at the Buffalo Zoo, when it was free. 1964 games. Etc.

Recently, my brother came to our annual family reunion in July. He lives in Columbia, South Carolina, in the Deep South. He was accompanied by his daughter and son in law and their 10 year old son. It was an outdoor picnic and this whole family enjoyed the fact that we could actually stay outdoors for any length of time. In South Carolina, in the summer you venture outside only if it's necessity. It is hot and humid and 100 plus degree temperatures are common. It is almost unbearable. So you could understand the joy of actually being able to breathe fresh air, and eating and staying outdoors for hours. A real treat for people who live in a climate not suited for outdoor activity.

This brings me to the 10 year old son. Now, this is a most kids now-a-days who spend a lot of time on electronics. It is amazing how they learn so fast and are able to adapt to the latest gadgets with ease. I had to have a crash course by my grandson on how to use my smart phone. I pretended to know what he was explaining, but I had no clue. I still do not use it properly and do not know all of what it does. So the Now Generation is turning out much smarter, but not as well physically. Sitting all day is not good for the vascular system and tends to lead to overweight children. That is the down side, but boy are they smart.

Now, getting back to my kids and what we did without electronics. No computers, little if any television, and no cell phones. Fortunately, we live in a climate where we can spend the day outdoors. And that we did, almost all of the daylight hours. As one would suspect, having come from a family of eight children, and having eight children myself, money was not abundant. They say money talks, but we were not on speaking terms. So we had to make do with whatever was free or not costly. Theme parks were out of the question except for old Glen Park with 5 cent rides. That was doable and we went there often. The zoo was also free at that time and we visited there once or twice a month. Same with the Science museum and the historical building, both free. Sundays was beach day at Buffalo Beach in Evans. Free, of course, with a nice beach and well maintained park with a spiral slide. Another favorite was kite flying at LaSalle Park. In the winter, we would freeze our backyard, and all the kids in the neighborhood would come and ice skate.

Maybe we did not turn out as smart as the kids are now, but we had fun. Many pleasant memories of time spent together, as that we always were. Together as a family and doing thing we enjoyed. Being physically active we stayed healthy, strong and thin. Well, back then for me.

Here are a few pictures of the things we did for free. Enjoy.

LABOR DAY

What It Means

Labor Day, the first Monday in September, is a creation of the labor movement and is dedicated to the social and economic achievements of American workers.

It constitutes a yearly national tribute to the contributions workers have made to the strength, prosperity, and well-being of our country.

It is appropriate, therefore, that the nation pay tribute on Labor Day to the creator of so much of the nation's strength, freedom, and leadership - the American Worker.

Happy Labor Day!

It is time to stop the flood of people and businesses leaving our state because of high taxes.

According to the nonpartisan Tax Foundation, for 19 of the last 22 years, New York State has ranked number one in state and local taxes collected from each resident ($6,157 per capita). And New York's 2012 business tax climate ranks an embarrassing 49th in the nation. We do lead in one key export - people fleeing high taxes. More than 3.4 million New Yorkers, with combined annual earnings of $119 billion pulled up stakes and left for other states from 2000-2009.

- New York leads the nation in taxes imposed on gasoline - $.49 per gallon.
- Businesses operating in the State must divert 7.1% of their corporate income to State coffers.
- The State is tops in cigarette taxes - a whopping $4.35 per pack.
- A 17.78% state and local tariff is assessed on cell phone calls - #3 in the country.
- Each National Grid customer pays more than $170 per year to defray the company's taxes.

New York's State's lack of fiscal management is chasing away people, businesses and jobs. It's time to make better choices so we can turn this boat around and head in the right direction.

I've built a reputation for holding the government's feet to the fire, fighting to realign the priorities of how we raise money, and how we spend it. And I have the business and leadership skills to get the job done. I fought for you for 16 years on the Buffalo Common Council, and then in Albany as a State Senator. I'm Co-Founder and Board Member Energy Cooperative of America, a former restaurant owner, and I'm currently a Grand Knight in the Knights of Columbus.

Friends of Tift Nature Preserve, Inc. announce their 2012 photo contest. The purpose of the contest is to showcase the natural beauty and historic reclamation of Tift Nature Preserve, a 264-acre nature refuge operated by the Buffalo Museum of Science dedicated to conservation and environmental education located at 1200 Fuhmann Boulevard in the City of Buffalo.

Pre-registration is required by September 16, 2012 by calling Tift Nature Preserve at 716-825-6397. Entries and photos must be submitted no later than 4:00PM on October 13th, 2012.

Ken-Ton Meals on Wheels Hosting Barbecue, Blues and Beer Fundraising Event - Friday, September 7th from 4-7 PM the Ken-Ton Meals on Wheels will hold its second annual "BBQ, Blues, and Beer" fundraising event at Shelters in the Grove at Sheridan Park. Honorary chairpersons for the event are Town of Tonawanda Supervisor, Anthony Caruana and his wife Diane. The event will feature music from a live blues band, Willie May & 4 In Tune, and Chivetta's barbecue chicken. Pop, beer, water, and baked goods will also be available for purchase. Presale tickets are available for a cost of only $9.00 at 169 Sheridan Parkside Drive, Tonawanda. Contact the Meals on Wheels office at 874.3595 for more information.

City Of Night at Silo City will be an unparalleled celebration of art, history, culture, and sustainability in Buffalo. The event will be held at the Silo City grain elevators in the Old First Ward, September 8, 2012 from 4pm to 2am. Admission is free.

City Of Night promises to be a highly interactive, uniquely Buffalo experience. ELAB will collaborate with, and showcase, a number of local organizations and individuals that constantly work to make Buffalo a wonderfully livable city. Throughout the venue, attendees will be able to observe and participate in various forms of live art-making. For this night, Silo city will be host to performance artists, poets and sound installations, live music and awe-inspiring breakdance and modern dance performances.

Attendees will be able to experience the history of Silo City with docent-led walking tours and kayak tours in the Buffalo River with BFLO Harbor Kayak (by donation). Free workshops and demonstrations related to historic research, preservation, and sustainability will also be offered. In order to showcase Buffalo's vibrant cultural scene, the event's cultural row will feature organizations vested in art, history, culture, and sustainability. And of course, what Buffalo-hosted celebration would be complete without local food trucks, and a beer and wine tent.

For more information go to our website www.cityof-nightbuffalo.com.

Powerful Tools for Caregivers - A six-week educational program designed to provide caregivers the tools needed for taking care of themselves is now being offered. Through six 2 1/2 hour sessions held on a weekly basis, caregivers learn to reduce stress, improve self-confidence, better communicate feelings, and locate helpful resources. Attendees also learn how to increase their ability to make tough decisions and balance their lives.

Pre-Registration is required - Call 858-2177 or e-mail caregiver@erie.gov for more information about Powerful Tools for Caregivers Classes and to register. There is a $25 cost for the course, which includes a copy of The Caregiver Helpbook*

*Complete course cost is covered for all Blue Cross/Blue Shield of WNY and Independent Health members.

Buffalo's Good Samaritans

Hello,

This letter is to say thank you to some good Samaritans we met in Buffalo on Saturday. A friend and I drove over Saturday from Niagara Falls, Ontario to go to Penzeys Spices on Elmwood Avenue. We got a bit lost and ended up in the wonderful Cobblestone District. We stopped to ask a couple how to get to Elmwood and they just said "Follow us"! Amazingly they led us to the street and I suspect they were going out of their way. We want to say a very big "Thanks Very Much for your Kindness". We landed in the middle of 2012 Elmwood Avenue Festival of the Arts and had a wonderful time there. And we did find Penzeys!

We had a great day there and when we were leaving we asked a young couple in an SUV to point us in the right direction, incredibly they said we're going 190 South so follow us and before we turn off to south 190 we'll point you to 190 North. Once again, we lucked in.

Amazing – not one but two instances of good Samaritans. We loved that area and the historic architecture and hope we'll be able to see more of it another time.

Patricia and Michelle
