Fans are delighted and entertained by music and fireworks after the Bisons game during the annual Independence Eve Celebration at Coca-Cola Field.

The great Western New York summer tradition reaches a milestone year in 2014. On July 3rd, 2014, the Buffalo Bisons will host an Independence Eve Celebration with the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus and the Largest Fireworks Show of the Season as the Bisons host the Scranton/Wilkes-Barre RailRiders (6:05 pm).

Since the event began in 1995, over 350,000 fans have joined their fellow citizens at Coca-Cola Field to celebrate our nation's birthday and pay tribute to everything that makes the USA the greatest country in the world!

Stay Safe During Holiday Celebrations

Last year there were an estimated 9,600 fireworks-related injuries throughout the country during the 4th of July season. Most of these injuries would not have occurred if the fireworks had been used under close adult supervision and if some basic safety steps had been taken. The National Council on Fireworks Safety offers these common sense safety tips for using consumer fireworks in hopes that injuries to consumers can be greatly reduced this season:

- Always purchase fireworks from a reliable source.
- Use fireworks as directed on consumer product safety label; never alter products.

- Observe local laws and use good COMMON SENSE.
- Have a designated shooter to organize and shoot your family show.
- A responsible ADULT should supervise all firework activities.
- Parents should not al-

The Adventures of...
Rocket Man
by Doug Smith

A New Port of Call

Until the South Grand Island Bridge opened about this time in 1935, visitors arrived by boat, berthing at the east end of the rather unimaginatively named East Ferry Road (probably having embarked West Ferry Street.) Feasting frequently followed. When the bridge opened the ferry closed but now, almost 80 years later, dockside dining has returned.

Rocket Man visited on Father's Day. He could have stayed all afternoon, watching the boats pull in, the hot dogs pop and the clam broth emit its fragrant vapor. It was one of those "Goldilocks" weather days so coveted by Perry Jost, new proprietor of the Old Bedell Grill.

Here once stood the Bedell House, a Roaring 20's getaway destroyed by fire about a quarter-century ago. The late Charlotte Guenther kept the surviving shed going to her final days. Two schoolteachers ran it as a summer job until they toted up the balance sheet and realized their profits amounted to less than minimum wage.

Enter Perry Jost, a Californian, and partner Deborah Saxton Lewis, Islander by birth. "Maybe I had different, West Coast, eyes," he told Rocket Man. "But what I saw was a long stretch of river without a lot of places to pull in."

A hand-hewn wooden deck extends about 20 yards out above the water, providing a full view of the Niagara River's every curve, and for the less adventuresome there are bumbershooted tables within a whiff of the grill. Actually, the olfactory sensations extend pretty far. Rocket Man watched several craft in mid-river suddenly turn west. Jost says a sea-level sign – not visible from land – heralds the Grill's presence, but also, "your nose will tell you."

The key to success, Jost says, is "consistency, just knowing that we'll always be there." It's open 11 a.m. until the indefinite dusk and last year ran 'til mid-October, this year perhaps not so long. Besides the standard dog-and-burger fare there are crab cakes (all gone by the time we arrived), clams, baked wings and a roasted chicken that was gaining raves on Father's Day. (We had a later engagement.)

Then there's the clam broth, which fuses the Grill's past and present. Charlotte always had it. "We're told she'd be proud of this," Perry says. Rocket Man agrees. (First Mate eschews all seafood fare.) Bring-your-own beer and wine are fine, but only in the utmost moderation.

Seven years ago, Perry and Debbie went whole hog into the bed & breakfast business, the Elizabeth House on Buffalo Avenue in Niagara Falls. Rocket Man has never seen such universally exclamatory reviews. Obviously, care counts, and now their little empire annexes one of our Planet Grand Island's most historic sites.

A Message From

ERIE COUNTY CLERK CHRISTOPHER L. JACOBS

President Theodore Roosevelt may have said it best: “My fellow citizens, no people on earth have more cause to be thankful than ours...” Today, it is more important than ever to appreciate the rights and privileges we all enjoy as citizens of the United States.

The County Clerk’s Office participates in naturalization ceremonies throughout the year and processes passport applications for new U.S. citizens from all over the world. On June 26th, I addressed a group of 51 people in a Naturalization Ceremony on the decks of the historic USS Little Rock.

This group represented 25 different countries including Germany, Iraq, Yemen, Ukraine, and France – and joined generations of immigrants from every corner of the globe to become Americans. As I saw them become U.S. citizens, I was reminded that with this title come rights so many others do not enjoy. To see firsthand the excitement on their faces and to speak with them about the new civil liberties they now possess as Americans is awe inspiring. It is valuable to remember how precious our rights as citizens truly are and that we should never take them for granted.

This year on July 4th we celebrate the 238th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, which may well be the most cited yet least read or understood document in American history. Why not take the occasion of our Nation’s birthday to read the Declaration of Independence? The story of America is something to marvel – a string of 13 colonies and a few dozen delegates defying the mightiest empire in the world to declare “these colonies free and independent.”

Another part of truly appreciating your citizenship is exploring the history of the country that gave us these rights. You may want to explore the rich past of Erie County by visiting the Theodore Roosevelt Inaugural Site and the Buffalo Historical Museum. Even the County Clerk’s Office in Old County Hall is rich in history, where the body of President William McKinley laid in state before his funeral and his assassin stood trial in the Ceremonial Courtroom upstairs.

We are fortunate to be United States citizens, and on Independence Day, it is something we should always remember.

Make a Designated Driver Part of Your 4th of July Plans

With backyard parties, cookouts and fireworks, the July 4th holiday is a favorite time of year for many Americans. But the celebrating can turn deadly when people drive after drinking alcohol.

"Impaired driving can turn celebrations into tragedy in an instant," said Monica Farrar, director of The Resource Training Center Drinking Driver Program. "With July 4th approaching, we're reminding people of the cost of impaired driving. In 2012, 179 people were killed in crashes over this holiday period. Of those deaths, 44 percent were in crashes that involved alcohol."

If you drive impaired, you not only put your life and the lives of others at risk, you also face a DWI arrest. The average DWI costs $10,000, making it difficult to recover financially. Arrested impaired drivers also face jail time, the loss of their driver's license, higher insurance rates, and dozens of other unanticipated expenses from attorney fees, fines and court costs to car towing and repairs, lost time at work and more.

The Resource Training Center recommends taking the following precautions:

- Plan a safe way home before the fun begins.
- If you're impaired, call a taxi, ask a sober friend or a family member for a ride, or use public transportation so you are sure to get home safely.
- If you see an impaired driver on the road, don't hesitate to contact local law enforcement.

• If you know someone who is about to drive or ride while impaired, take their keys and help them make other arrangements to safely get to where they are going.

"Whether you've had way too many or just one too many, it's never worth the risk to drive impaired," Farrar said. "There's always another way home."

Keep Pets Safe in Summer

Heatstroke can kill, and fast! Most pet owners realize that keeping pets in hot cars can kill them...but not many realize just how quickly the effects of heatstroke can set in for a dog or cat. Heatstroke is a condition animals begin to suffer gradually, but it accelerates quickly; it's easy for early signs of heatstroke to go unrecognized, and for the pet to be in an emergency situation within mere minutes.

On warm days, a vehicle acts like an oven. It holds the heat inside, and that heat becomes very intense even on days that don't seem too warm. On an 85-degree day, for example, even with the windows open, the temperature inside a car can climb to 102 degrees in 10 minutes, and to 120 degrees in 30 minutes. Because a dog's normal body temperature is 101-102.5 degrees Fahrenheit, he can withstand a body temperature of 107-108 degrees for only a very short time before suffering irreparable brain damage...or death. The typical signs of heatstroke are:

- Panting
- High body temperature
- Dehydration
- Red mouth/eye membranes
- Rapid, irregular heart rate
- Diarrhea
- Weakness, looking dazed

- Coma

If a pet begins exhibiting any of these signs, contact a veterinarian immediately.

Also, use caution during summer months when leaving animals outside in yards or on porches. Never leave them outside extended periods of time. Ensure appropriate shade and water are always available. Keep pets home during outdoor festivals.

Don't force exercise, primarily after a meal or in hot, humid weather.

Be careful where you walk! Avoid walking your dog in areas that you suspect have been sprayed with insecticides or other chemicals, or have puddles or spots of auto coolant. Watch what they eat and drink!

Keep your pets well groomed and clean to combat summer skin problems.

Keep pets safe while outdoors. Keep identification on all animals at all times. And remember...pets can get sunburned too. Speak with your veterinarian about applying sunblock to your pet's sun-sensitive areas, such as nose and ears.

Use caution when making summertime purchases. When purchasing lawn and garden products, always read the labels for ingredients toxic to dogs, cats, and other animals. Fertilizers, weed killers, herbicides, pesticides, and other chemicals can be fatal to your pets.

Keep corn on the cob away from your dog. In August of 2013, SPCA veterinarians removed corn cobs from the intestines of not one but TWO dogs! Both survived, but without veterinary treatment the results could have been fatal.

Bunnies need to keep cool too! Pet rabbits who live indoors with no air conditioning can benefit from an easy cooling technique. Rabbit owners can freeze a filled water bottle. Once the water bottle is frozen, it can be wrapped in a cloth and placed on the rabbit's cage floor.

If you witness animal cruelty or see any animal in need of rescue or emergency assistance this summer, the SPCA Serving Erie County can help 24 hours a day, 7 days a week: (716) 875-7360. During non-business hours, in Erie County emergencies only, contact the SPCA at (716) 712-0251. In after-hours wildlife emergencies, call (716) 556-0076.

This week's featured friend:
ARI

Ari is an absolutely beautiful long hair calico/angora mix. This gorgeous four year old is a quiet girl who may not be very outgoing. However once she is comfortable with you, she loves to be cuddled. She also enjoys spending hours on a window sill watching the world go by. Ari has lived with dogs and other cats and can do well in a home with either. She is presently in a foster home. You can contact her foster mom at kpk1105@aol.com for more information about her. HELP FOR HOMEOWNERS IN FORECLOSURE

New York State requires that we send you this notice about the foreclosure process. Please read it carefully. SUMMONS AND COMPLAINT You are in danger of losing your home. If you fail to respond to the summons and complaint in this foreclosure action, you may lose your home. Please read the summons and complaint carefully. You should immediately contact an attorney or your local legal aid office to obtain advice on how to protect yourself.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION AND ASSISTANCE

The State encourages you to become informed about your options in foreclosure. In addition to seeking assistance from an attorney or legal aid, there are government agencies, and non-profit organizations that you may contact for information about possible options, including trying to work with our lender during this process. To locate an entity near you, you may call the toll-free helpline maintained by New York State Banking Department at 1-877-Bank-NYS or visit the Department's website at www.banking.state.ny.us FORECLOSURE RESCUE SCAMS Be careful of people who approach you with offers to "save" your home. There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services. Section 1303 NOTICE YOU ARE IN DANGER OF LOSING YOUR HOME If you do not respond to this summons and complaint by serving the copy of the answer on the attorney for the mortgage company who filed this foreclosure proceeding against you and filing the answer with the court, a default judgment may be entered and you may lose your home. Speak to an attorney or go to the court where your case is pending for further information on how to answer the summons and protect your property. Sending a payment to your mortgage company will not stop this foreclosure action. YOU MUST RESPOND BY SERVING A COPY OF THE ANSWER ON THE ATTORNEY FOR THE PLAINTIFF MORTGAGE COMPANY AND FILING AN ANSWER WITH THE COURT.
