50 Norwalk Avenue lights up the night with its festive and colorful holiday display.

Christmas brings out the best in holiday decorations. All over the world homes are decked out with lights, tinsel and garland. North Buffalo is no exception, with neighborhood after neighborhood lit up with the festive spirit.

Since the weather is what we consider mild, it gives us an opportunity to spend some time to drive around.

A few of the streets to pay particular attention to and really must see are Starin Avenue, Woodbridge Avenue and Morris Avenue.

Norwalk Avenue, between Hertel Avenue and Linden Avenue, has quite a few homes lit up as well. Also, on Commonwealth Avenue, between Hertel Avenue and Linden Avenue, many homes are decorated with many lights.

Enjoy!

The Adventures of...

Rocket Man

by Doug Smith

A Visit to North Buffalo

'Twas the night before Christmas in Wingate apartments
Where cozy folks knew what their pitty-pat hearts meant

Nyserda Electric was warming their beds
While 444-Roof was protecting their heads

Their driveway was bare after plowing by Snow King;
Indy Health had convinced them all to stop smoking

When out on the lawn there arose such a scraping;
Could it be the elves from Li'l Dave's Landscaping?

No damages done but if so, they'd reach
To place a quick call to attorney Dave Teach

Then faster than you can pronounce Serendipity

He arrived with reindeer all cloppy and clippity

"Sorry," he said, "I'm late making this scene;
I've been jollyng up at Hot Mama's Canteen!"

"And after a trim at Imagine Salon, Thanks to M-M U-Pullit, my chase was now on"

With help from a finger aside of his nose,
His glasses from Elegance Optique they rose .

The two ends of his belt, they could hardly greet,
Since he started to purchase at Johnny's, his meat

Black Rock Beverage store, it adds to his mirth
TC Junior's pizza accounts for his girth

Then he went all quiet, as still as Ginnane's,
And filled up the stockings with minimal pains

'Twas Korona Jewelry he stuffed in some socks,
But gifts from Pandora he left in the box

The recipients would thrill with them later,
Made the room gleam like the North Park Theater.

For Grow With Us Kids he has special delights,
For parties and bingo, he's helped by the Knights.

He sprang to his sleigh, his gears were a hissin';
Twinkingly fixed by Continental Transmission

Where many had learned their skills at ECC,
While dining at Bob & John's Haciendee

He's no concern about reindeer, how high go,
He's wisely insured by Tim Lynch at Geico

And we heard him exclaim o'er all their bounds:
"I'm ready to chill out at the Shadow Lounge!"

Where jolly old patrons, he did much impress,
"He's almost as good at this as UPS"

"Happy Christmas to all the names on my docket; Especially those who take ads in the Rocket!"

Do You Love Your Dog More Than Your Kids?

Not much of a social media fan, but I am on Facebook, and sometimes do find it informative. When I first signed up, somehow or another, I do not remember how, many of my former employees became my “friends”. Some go back as far as 30-35 years ago. I thought it was kind of neat to hear voices out of the distant past. Some had kind words and I do read most of what they post. Others, the language or content did not please me so they have been unfriended. Mostly frown on those who use it for their political or religion views, even if I agree. Just feel it is not the proper platform.

With that said, sometimes you overlook the post you do not want to read and go on. Just happens this one kind of bugged me. The poster is a long ago employee who no longer even lives in the area. She bragged one day on Facebook about having her tubes tied as she did not want any children. No problem with that as she just was that kind of person and would have made a poor mother. Recently she had another post that had me thinking. She said, “I definitely love my dogs as much, if not more, than people love their kids!” That post prompted a comment from her friend. “I’m with you, never had kids. For me it was not a priority. There are plenty of women out there who want a gazillion & that’s ok. Just not for me!” Like I said, that is fine, as they would make lousy mothers. They are fortunate their mothers did not feel the same way. However, to compare the love for a dog with someone’s love for a child just sets me back. Unless you have both, how could you compare?

We for sure know the love for a dog as we have almost always owned one. There seems to be no undying love between the owner and the canine. The enormous greetings when they see you, and the happiness just to touch or be touched by you. We know that feeling and we still to this day, have a very loving dog. It is a totally different kind of love than the one you feel for your children. We had eight so there is no lack of comparison with the two. My wife had no problem with having a “gazillion kids” and loved each and every one of them. Plus the dog! The difference is that now she has eight grown adults who not only love her but adore her. The dogs we had are long gone. Our children have children and the love for grandma continues. As does our endless love for the grandchildren. We love our dog but he just does not feel the great compassion being spread at this time of year. We do, our kids do and so do our grandkids. Merry Christmas.

Wonderful Outdoor Christmas Greetings

Some may recall years ago when there was what was called an “energy crisis”. There was a fear we were going to run out of oil and coal used to generate electricity. It was considered so critical that the public was asked to conserve as much energy as possible. President Nixon imposed a voluntary ban on the use of outdoor lighting for Christmas. It was a dark and not so delightful Holiday. Pun intended. Man O man have times changed.

Seems that resident decorators are trying to outdo the house next door or down the street. I drive past the same house every day and it appears there are more lights than the day before. Not only that but more people are participating. If you see a house not lit up you think they are scrooges. Make no mistake a large percentage have some kind of religious theme with a manger scene .Their way of saying Merry Christmas without a protest.

It is just great to take an evening and “see the lights”. Put the kids in the car and enjoy the season. We used to do that and they loved it and back then it was no where near what you see today. We left the dog home as he had no interest. It is hard to believe that so much time is spent in arrangements and implementing. We thank those who spend the energy to make Christmas a special time of the year. Especially for the children.

This week's featured friend:

POSEY

My name is Posey and I'm a sweet, fairly mellow, affectionate girl who's looking for a place to call home. One reason I'd like to find a home ASAP is that I could get the surgery needed to fix my eye, the cost of which will be covered by Friends of CBAS. I have a condition known as "cherry eye" which isn't life threatening but it can be irritating and cause problems later in my life if not treated. You can research it if you are interested in me so that you can see that it doesn't cause any real harm. I can't go back to the shelter to recover after the surgery so a home is the place for me to rest up after the surgery where I will be comfortable, and less risk of any infection. I have been doing good on my walks at the shelter and I really enjoy chilling next to anyone who will lend me their lap. Please don't overlook me, Posey, when you are looking for a new forever friend. I promise to be a faithful friend till the end. ~WAGS & LICKS~ POSEY
