A New Look for Hertel Business Association

The Hertel Business Association, formerly known as the Hertel-North Buffalo Business Association, recently unveiled their new brand identity. The centerpiece of this is a new logo that gives a nod to the past and a salute to the City of Buffalo.

It aims to appeal to those who know and love the Avenue's heritage, while attracting and engaging those who are just now discovering all that Hertel has to offer.

Hertel Avenue stretches from Niagara to Main Streets across what is now North Buffalo. The Avenue's rich history includes the exclusive Sample Shop, the infamous Mulligan's Brick Bar and a section of the street called Little Italy. Home to the Buffalo Italian Festival, Columbus Day Parade, and North Park Theater, it is also soon to become the new home of the Buffalo International Film Festival.

Today, Hertel Avenue is a thriving multicultural collage of boutiques, antique shops, art galleries, florists, gift shops, home decor showrooms and service professionals. Casual and fine dining establishments, taverns and coffee

The Adventures of...

Rocket Man

by Doug Smith

'Pygmalion'

This is not your founders' Shawfest, either. Picture Brian Doherty or Maynard Burgess peeping in on this pumped-up, pimped-out "Pygmalion," dragged kicking (Prof. Higgins) and screaming (Eliza) into a 21st Century chockablock with rap, reflectors and ringtones.

Critical reaction to this production has been as divided as Cold War Berlin. Ditto for Rocket Man and the First Mate at Thursday's matinee, which attracted about 85 per cent of a house. He was charmed by its audacity and vigor, the other just plain didn't like it.

No argument, though, that everything George Bernard Shaw intended in 1913 has survived - maybe not all the words (a mercy, that) but surely its delineation of class oppression, often underlined, along with Shaw's intended ending.

"Pygmalion" of course begat "My Fair Lady," whose melodic (while argumentative) tone leads most audiences to expect something a little light. Peter Hinton's direction, for all its flamboyance the modern devices, emphasizes the playwright's original intentions, to the point of discomfort. Accentologist Higgins, happy to "make a living at my hobby," challenges himself to groom a scruffy flower girl to the point where aurally, at least, she can pass as high society.

Peter McManus makes an unusually unkempt Higgins who, however smitten with his charge, simply can not shake off the imperial sense of his upbringings. Harveen Sandhu, tawny temptress from last year's "Philanderer," is a daring choice as Eliza, charming beyond telling, breathtaking in the theatrically famous monologue which takes the girl off of the streets, but not the streets off of the girl.

Its signature line, scandalous in its time, has been updated to modern vulgarity, convulsing most of the house 'though she muffed it slightly. And when another character reprises it, Jeff Meadows' mediating Col. Pickering reminds, "It's not compulsory, you know."

Peter Krantz's roaring, demanding, scheming, ever-offended Doolittle, Eliza's father, simply steals the show and there is a nifty little exchange early on involving one Jennifer Dzialoszynski, perhaps the Sandhu of the future.

Not even Shaw and his early directors and actors could agree on a tone for "Pygmalion," and the debates might bring him close to a smile. Some may find it unpalatable, but boring? Not ----- likely. It runs through Oct. 24.

A Baseball Glove Story

Congratulations to the Rookie Pony Angels for winning the Championship over the Lil' Devils 8-7 last Friday night, June 24th. Down by two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning, Chloe Claeys had the game winning double, knocking in teammate Megan Sheehan in the come from behind victory. For many girls, ages four and five, this was their first time learning the game and having fun in the process. A jubilant team coach, Bob Gannon, led the girls to a second place finish in their division.

Two other teams, the Shamrocks and the Rebels, rounded out the four team division that saw many games end with similar scores. Last Tuesday, July 21st, Alexis Birkemeier hit a big triple and knocked in three runs and teammate Lily Foglia got the final out at homeplate to lead the Shamrocks to an 18-17 win over the Rebels.

Five other divisions are in the middle of their playoff match ups. Another girls' division, Minor Pony, has six teams all fighting to stay alive. The Yankees and Orioles both won first round games against the Reds and A's earlier this week and moved on to face the tougher top two teams in the division, the Blue Jays and Giants.

The Yankee girls had been strong all year and the Orioles were really starting to jell by the seasons end. Both teams however lost to the top two teams. If a team loses twice their season is over.

The Blue Jays and Giants both defeated the Yankees and Orioles respectively, and in a battle between these two teams, the Giants came out on top early Saturday afternoon. If the Blue Jays defeat the winner of a Yankees/Orioles match up, they can face the Giants again for the Championship.

In Rookie Boys, the Yankees, Blue Jays, Rays and Orioles won first round games and advanced in the winner's bracket. Four other teams, the Indians, Red Sox, Royals and A's battled to out to stay alive this summer. The Indians defeated the A's and the Red Sox topped the Royals. By Monday night August 3rd, we should know which team will be the Champions in Rookie Boys.

Meanwhile, Senior Boys and Girls are trying to finish their seasons. Boys, ages 13-15, are playing make up games before their playoffs will start. The Mets are still undefeated after defeating the Tigers, 5-3. The Diamondbacks defeated the Red Sox 7-3 and in a game played this past Monday, Will Ostrowski hit a grand slam homerun for the Dodgers in a 14-3 win over the Orioles.

Playoffs have started for the Senior Girls. The Athletics are playing the Pirates in a three game series while the Yankees face the Angels. The winners will face each other for the Championship in a best of three game series.

In Second Minor, five Braves pitchers combined for a perfect game against the Brewers. They were Nick Purdie, Kendrick Rosario, Adam Kilminster, Eamon Langdon and Derrick Gottler.

In an exciting game under the lights last Thursday night, Dylan Speck, Joe Persico and Matt Cambria helped lead the Mets to a 9-1 victory over the Cardinals in Major Boys. The victory helped keep the New York team alive in the playoffs and gave the Cardinals await the winner of Giants/Dodgers game before they meet coach Steve Purpura and the Mets again.

In First Minors, the White Sox eliminated the Twins in round two of their playoffs. They await the winner of an Angels/Blue Jays game before they try to move back into the winners bracket. By the time you read this, the Tigers and the A's will have met for the first time since the regular season ended and it should be a battle if they meet again for the finals.

Don't look now but the next time you're in Shoshone Park, you'll be able to know the score of the game played on diamond two. League president Don Morris is very much grateful to the City of Buffalo ParksDepartment for assisting him in the placing of the new scoreboard in the left field corner. So many good things are happening in Shoshone Park.

National Night Out Brings Neighbors Together, Strengthens Communities

tivities, police-community partnerships and neighborhood camaraderie. It is meant to send a message to criminals letting them know that neighborhoods are organized and fighting back.

This year neighborhoods in and around Buffalo will be participating in their own neighborhood events.

The Wallace Wingate Block clubs will host a tribute to two residents during their Nation Night Out event. Two WWII veterans will be honored by their neighbors for their service to our country.

Other festivities taking place during the event at the Parkside Lutheran Church (located at 2 Wallace Avenue at the corner of Starin Avenue) will include a bike parade at 6:00 pm. There will be also be kids' games, food and drink available and both the Buffalo police and fire departments will be present.

The Parkside Community Association will bring neighbors together for a big block party with their 2nd annual National Night Out at St. Mark's School at 399 Woodward Avenue. There will be food, games, prizes, activities and demonstrations by your public safety officers. Be sure to bring your bike helmet and your creativity to enter in the helmet-decorating contest. Hot dogs and hamburgers will be available for purchase, cooked by local Boy Scouts!

The United Streets Block Club is hosting a National Night Out event from 5:30 pm to 8:00 pm on Tuesday, August 4th on Roesch Avenue and Belmont Street in Riverside. Everyone is asked to bring a chair. There will be a Bounce House, games, Theme Tray Auction, and neighborhood camaraderie. Food will be available with a donation.

If you can not attend a National Night Out event, neighbors can show their support by leaving their porch light on to put the spotlight on the importance of police - community partnerships.

More than 37 million people participate in National Night Out events in 15,000 communities in the United States.

shops, many with outdoor patios, also offer a wide variety of choices for friends to come together. With new condominium complexes and the Lexington Co-Op opening in 2016, Hertel's renaissance makes it the destination to shop, eat, drink, socialize and live in Buffalo.

The Hertel Business Association has spearheaded the campaign to brand and promote Hertel Avenue. They are a not-for-profit, chartered organization of local business people and community members who have been dedicated to the beautification, preservation, prosperity, and growth of Hertel Avenue businesses and in turn, the North Buffalo community, for over 30 years. Everyone is invited to join the Association.

ADOPT A PET
This week's featured friend:
PINKY

Pinky is a big handsome two year old boy with wonderful extra toes - in fact this polydactyl boy almost looks as if he has opposable thumbs. We were told that he was given his name because of his cute pink nose. This friendly laid back kitty is just a love. He enjoys playing with interactive toys and kick sticks, as you can see in his picture. He is also fond of catnip. However, he is happy to sit down comfortably and look out the window or just keep you company - he would make a great reading or TV watching companion. Pinky also gets along with other cats and dogs. On a recent visit to the Bidwell Farmers Market, he demonstrated his friendliness toward dogs with nose to nose greetings. He is now at Tabby Town in the McKinley Mall where he is happily sharing space with another cat. Pinky has had a problem with bladder crystals, which was cleared up by a special diet. He is now a healthy boy, but he must remain on a special diet in order to avoid the return of the crystals. He is very happy with this diet, however, and it should not be a problem. For more information on Pinky call his foster Mom at 882-6011 or e-mail jaalfano@buffalo.edu or visit him at Tabby Town in the McKinley Mall.
