

Dashes Update...One Year Later

These pictures show the progress from last year until today. Joe Dash looks forward to carrying on his parents tradition of serving the community from this new flagship store.

The new Dash's Market at the northeast corner of Hertel and Starin avenues is scheduled to open in Spring of 2019. The 47,500 sq.ft., two-story structure replaced demolished buildings on the corner, and the current store next door will ultimately be demolished and replaced with a parking lot.

The first floor of the building will contain approximately 32,000 sq.ft. and will house the new grocery store's retail operations.

The second floor's 15,500 sq.ft. will contain an open eating area, offices, a community room, and space that will be available for rent for community events.

Walk To Beat Parkinson's

The Parkinson's Foundation (PF) will host its annual Moving Day Buffalo, A Walk for Parkinson's, on Saturday, September 22nd, at the Richardson Olmsted Campus, 444 Forest Avenue. The gates open at 9 am and the walk begins at 11 am. Funds raised through Moving Day will support cutting-edge research and community programs to improve the lives of people with Parkinson's disease and their families.

One million Americans are living with Parkinson's, with 60,000 people newly diagnosed each year. Moving Day Buffalo is a fun and inspiring fundraising event that unites the community in the fight against Parkinson's. Since 2011, Moving Day events across the country have raised more than $17 million to improve care and advance research toward a cure.

"Moving Day is fun, it is great exercise and it's educational," said Chris Jamele, executive director of the foundation's Western New York chapter. "But mostly, the support of the community enables us to continue to make meaningful improvements in the lives of those with Parkinson's."

More than just a walk, Moving Day Buffalo is a celebration of movement featuring a kids' area, a caregivers' relaxation tent and a special Movement Pavilion with dance, Tai Chi, drumming and other activities—all proven to help manage Parkinson's symptoms.

Memories

From the Buffalo Rocket archives

The people at Crisis Services, formerly on Main Street, posed for this picture to celebrate their 25th anniversary in 1993. This year they will be celebrating 50 years of outstanding service to the community. We thank them for all the help they have provided to the thousands of people in need.

Rock A Bully 2018

Buffalo's Pittie Party of the year, Rock-A-Bully Concert is back and will rock downtown Buffalo Saturday, September 22nd from 6:00 pm – 11:00 pm at Club Marcella, 439 Pearl St., Buffalo. Pets Alive WNY, Pound Hounds & Friends, Inc., and volunteers of the Fix A Bull program joined forces to create a fun event for all.

Fix-A-Bull WNY, a bully breed spay/neuter program will be the beneficiary of funds raised at this event. Fix-A-Bull WNY has worked with local animal hospitals to spay or neuter over 350 dogs in Erie and Niagara counties, preventing possibly thousands of puppies that could have overwhelmed local shelters and rescues. This organization is run entirely by volunteers.

The event will feature local music favorites, Lower Town Trio, Previous Love, Good Dude, Smoke Yourself Thin, and special guest appearances. Pin Ups for a Cause will also be in attendance. Exclusive new Fix-A-Bull merchandise will be on sale along with new Gridlock Lacquer polish Love A Bull, and Kiss A Bull lip gloss by Makeup Buffalo. There will be chances to win a basket from the best basket auction in town, round trip Southwest airline tickets, door prizes

Bowman and others Praise Rasmus Dahlin

Sabres new rookie defenseman Rasmus Dahlin has been endorsed by Hall Of Fame coach Scotty Bowman who told NHL.com, "His skating is so complete; he can go forwards, backwards and sideways so well and he has a good core, he's got good size and strength and you can see he really likes to go. "It's a different game now from when I was coaching. There are some defensemen who just move the puck up, and there's a sprinkling of guys who can lug it, and he's one of those guys. He's like Ottawa Senators defenseman Erik Karlsson, a special player."

"Lidstrom was a different kind of player because Nick wasn't a puck-carrier, he moved the puck," said Bowman, who coached Lidstrom for nine seasons with the Detroit Red Wings (1993-2002). "The similarities are they have no difficulty making passes when they're in tight and it's always on the stick. So when [Dahlin] gets the puck, there's a good chance Buffalo is going to keep it. That's the way we used to track Lidstrom; whenever he got the puck, very seldom did he make a play where the other team got it, so it was all about possession. Dahlin likes to go and join the rush."

Bowman said the excitement and anticipation of Dahlin's debut at HarborCenter against the New Jersey Devils on Friday reminded him of a scene more than 50 years ago at

Rasmus Dahlin

Boston Garden. Teenager Bobby Orr was playing for the Boston Bruins sponsored Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association against the Montreal Jr. Canadiens, who were coached by Bowman.

"The Bruins hosted a junior-hockey series to showcase Bobby Orr to the fans," Bowman said. "We went to Boston to play and they had 8,000 to 10,000 fans there. This is good for Buffalo because they missed out on winning the NHL Draft Lottery a few times."

"He is so far ahead of anyone else available," said Joe McDonnell, the Dallas Stars' director of amateur scouting. "We didn't pay much attention to him this year because if we picked No. 1, we probably wouldn't have jobs right now. And if we didn't have the No. 1 pick, we knew we wouldn't be able to draft him."

The Detroit Red Wings have leaned on scout Hakan Andersson for nearly three decades to decide who overseas has a chance to play in the world's best hockey league. Andersson, who knows the hockey landscape as well as anyone overseas, said he has never seen a prospect quite like Dahlin.

"It's not easy to put him in any category with anyone," said Andersson, the director of European scouting for the Red Wings. "It's hard to say someone is going to be better than Nicklas Lidstrom, but Dahlin has all the tools to be an unbelievable defenseman. He has Lidstrom's poise with the puck. He can rush the puck up the ice like Karlsson. And, he's big and aggressive enough to play the physical game and take people out like Hedman can."

"I look at him obviously like a Karlsson," former Buffalo Sabres defenseman Mike Weber, who played with Dahlin last season in Sweden. "He's got the same type of skating ability, but I feel like he's faster. He almost skates like a (Pavel) Datysuk. When you go in and try to hit Datysuk, he would open up his hips one way or the other and deke, I feel like Ras has that same kind of ability."

This Week's Featured Friend:

CHUMLY

This adorable hodge podge of a breed is Chumly. Chumly is a lot of 'low key' charm that happily will go for a walk but will equally just hang out in the yard or next to his human pal. Chumly is a gentleman and his pace is easy going and he isn't in a rush to go anywhere. Chumly would be a great guy to catch a few TV shows with, sit outside with, and soak up some sunshine while we still have it to enjoy. He attended a few events recently and got along with everyone that he met from older folks to little kids. If Chumly were to live with another dog, we feel it would have to be a lower key, easy going pup as Chumly isn't looking for an energetic playmate. He might actually like being the only dog and hang out with his best human pal. When Chumly gets excited, his whole body wiggles and his tail will wag nonstop. We figure he is approx. 5-6 yrs of age and he would love to find his forever home so he can happily lounge around and enjoy a nice home to give him some love, attention and a comfy place to spend his days.

Northwest Buffalo Beat

by Joe Bortz

Snickers

Last weekend we witnessed the Buffalo Bills worst opening day loss in its history. As I sat and watched this disaster, I reminisced about those four Super Bowl years and the great teams we had. It also triggered a memory of things that could have been.

Since my daughter had become a professional model in New York City, she encouraged my son to get a Z card as he had model potential. A Z-card is the modeling professions oversized business card, containing a series of posed photographs. After acquiring said card he somehow was added to the list of models at June II, a local modeling agency. Whenever there was a local casting call for talent, he would be notified. As a result, a casting call came in for actors and actresses for a Snickers commercial. He was informed that the then Super Bowl bound Buffalo Bills players would also be in the commercial. Knowing I was a huge Bills fan, he asked me if I would like to go along to the casting call. Having nothing to lose and a pretty face, I went just to see what it was like.

The interviews were at Buffalo State and not that far away. We get in the long casting line to parade and perform in front of the directors. The line moved fast and soon we were there in front of this panel. My son really hammed it up, but I was not into that. All I did was give them my big smile. They immediately said "the coach". Had no idea what they were talking about that day but they seemed excited. Wanted my name and number and said they would contact me. I was not about to hold my breath in anticipation as I thought this was a "don't call me, we'll call you" standard answer.

It so happened that at that same time I was publishing a Civil War newspaper. I had arranged to have a Civil War show at the Antique World Center in Clarence. Over 100 dealers from all over the country converging into town to buy, sell and display their collectible items relating to the War. Point is, it was my event and I had to be there. I had arranged this first time ever show. Even planned a North/South re-enactment on the grounds outside the center. Re-enactors dressed in full Confederate and Union attire firing paper bullets. They re-enacted an actual historic skirmish. Naturally the North won, the confederate soldiers were not happy.

On the day of this big show, the modeling agency called me as I was chosen to be in the commercial. I would be the assistant coach to Marv Levy in a Snickers commercial. They needed me to be there all day the day of my show. The show was more important and I had to pass. They told me all the Bills would be there, Jim Kelly, Thurman Thomas, and others. Sorry, but I have other plans. Little did I realize what this was.

The commercial showed on Super Bowl Sunday in front of one of the largest audiences. This was the Bills fourth straight Super Bowl and the commercial was designed to poke a little fun at them. It started with Marv Levy saying "We been here before and we are not leaving this room until we get it right." Then it pans the Bills player sitting there gasping at how long they may have to stay. Then an assistant coach, (which would have been me), opens up a Snickers bar. Marv goes over and says, "give me that" takes it out of his hand and start chewing on it. This aired twice during the Super Bowl. I would have been seen by millions of people. I could have been a star. I could have been a contender.

They called me for two more commercials. First Niagara Bank and Goodyear Tire. First Niagara was a speaking spot and my West Side accent did me in. So it ended in the trash. In the Goodyear I was in the background with a women looking at tires. Total time I was on, five seconds. Was there all day with the other talent. That is what they call us actors, talent. For a five second spot I received a check for $1,700. For some reason they never called me again. Maybe because knowing acting was not going to be my career. I kind of fooled around all day. This was new to me. All those lights and cameras. Sound crews and even people to feed you. If you have never seen one made, there are lots of people and it was all day. The talent was dead serious as some wanted to make this their life long dream. It could have been their start. Not me. It was fun and the $1,700 for one day was inspiring but I will stick to writing columns. My acting days are over. Unless they call me.

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com

Ask Rusty – Special Extra Earnings for Military Service

Dear Rusty: Both my cousin and I served in the military starting in 1964. He completed his 4 years and got out; I served for 20 years. A few years ago we were visiting and he asked me if I was getting my Special Extra Earnings - approximately $300 - from Social Security? He said it's because we served in the military when the pay was so low. When I returned home I checked with our local Social Security office and was told I was not getting the Special Extra Earnings because after I got out of the service I made too much money; I accepted their answer. Then I read a Social Security column in a local newspaper. The columnist recommended anytime Social Security turns down a claim that you file an appeal. I did have a good job after I left the Military, but it wasn't like I was making millions. Do you think I should file a claim asking them to reconsider my request for Special Extra Earnings? Signed: Military Service Veteran

Dear Veteran: Please accept my gratitude for your many years of military service. The "special extra earnings" of which you speak are extra earnings credited to your military pay for those years you served between 1957 and 2001. The credit is $300 for each quarter of active military service between the years 1957 and 1977 and, for the period 1978 – 2001, an additional $100 in earnings for every $300 in active duty pay up to a maximum of $1,200 per year. It's important to note that these are credits to your military earnings record, not an additional amount added to your Social Security benefit. The best way to check this is to get your Earnings Statement from Social Security and examine your lifetime earnings to see which years are highest, keeping in mind that Social Security only counts earnings up to the FICA payroll tax cap for each year. By doing this you can see which years of your military earnings were included in your benefit computation. You can get your Earnings Statement by creating an online "My Social Security" account at www.ssa.gov, or by requesting one from your local Social Security office.

For more information about the special earnings credit for military service visit: <https://www.ssa.gov/planners/retire/military.html>.

Musicians Present Tribute Recital

A group of local musicians will present a Tribute Recital to Mezzo Soprano Genia Las on Sunday, September 16th at 3 pm at the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, 96 Jewett Parkway in Buffalo (across from the Darwin Martin House).

The concert is free and the public is invited. Performers are former Community Music School colleagues, musicians from Chromatic Club and Wednesday Morning Musi-cale, friends and students of Miss Las. The program will feature a variety of music celebrating her operatic career, Polish heritage and favorite pieces.

Miss Las was an internationally-celebrated singer, having appeared on Broadway, at New York City Center Opera for three seasons, with major American orchestras and in opera houses all across Europe. She sang leading roles in 87 operas, including 18 premieres, and solos in 52 oratorios. She is the only WNY singer to have sung a solo role on stage with famous soprano Maria Callas.

After a 20-year career in Europe, Miss Las returned to her hometown of Buffalo to sing, teach at Daemen College and then serve as the Chair of the Voice Department at Community Music School for 23 years. Miss Las passed away in May.

In 2002 Genia Las received the Individual Artist Award from the Arts Council-Buffalo Niagara Partnership.
