Vol. XLIX ISSUE No. 39 • Thursday, September 27, 2018

A large, two-story house is engulfed in intense orange and yellow flames. The fire is particularly thick on the left side of the house, reaching up to the roofline. A balcony with a white decorative railing is visible on the right side of the house, with a single window glowing with fire. Bare tree branches hang over the house from the top, and a white picket fence is visible in the foreground. The scene is a dramatic and destructive fire.

in commemoration of the Great Chicago Fire, which began on October 8, 1871, and caused devastating damage. This horrific conflagration killed more than 250 people, left 100,000 homeless, destroyed more than 17,400 structures, and burned more than 2,000 acres of land.

In addition to being recognized at this Mass, first responders will also take part in the Mass. There will be an honor guard procession and lectors and gift bearers for the Mass will be from the various first responder entities. Cathedral organist Tim Socha will provide music during the Mass.

A black and white photograph of three men in a canoe on a river. The man in the front is steering with a paddle. In the background, a large bridge with multiple arches spans the river, and a classical building with columns is visible on the far bank.

Third line: Vladimir Sobotka LW - Casey Mittlestadt C- Jason Pominville RW. Mittlestadt's presence helped precipitate the O'Reilly trade. He put up five points in six games which is commendable but Fourth line: Scott Wilson LW - Zemgus Girgensons C - Evan Rodriguez RW. Wilson is the type of modestly skilled player who does everything right. He plays hard on the forecheck, backcheck and all over the ice. His presence on the fourth line is a sign of the new depth of talent at forward pushing him down the depth chart. Zemgus has never developed a scoring touch but works hard and has good straight line speed. Rodriguez had 25 points in only 48 games last season and looks like a lock to see regular duty on the fourth line. While many are excited about huge 6' 5" Tage Thompson making the team, he is weak defensively and has not shown a scoring touch in the NHL netting only three goals in 41 games with St. Louis last season. He should be learning the game in Rochester and is not ready for the NHL yet.

Unusual Encounter

Last Spring while still down in Florida, my wife and I had a most unusual encounter. This is a true story. Tell me if this has ever happened to you.

It was the Friday before Easter and Duffy's, a franchise eatery located in the area, had a fish fry special. Fish Fries are not common in Florida and to find a restaurant offering one is rare. They have fish and chips but it is nothing like the Friday night fish fries we all know and love here in Western New York. They were offering what was as close to our genuine Fish Fry as you can find for $9.99. Difference is they serve Cod instead of Haddock. This was the last night they were offering this special and the wait was at least an hour. I am not a patient man but this time I was willing to wait. Up and down checking the list as we moved closer to being seated. Finally, we were given a booth close to the door.

Growing up on the West Side of Buffalo, I have a need to sit facing the door. Always my desire to see who is entering and if they pose any danger. Now I guess it is just by habit. This booth was perfect as it was near and facing the front entrance. I could see everyone coming in and they could see me as they enter. Turns out this is what stimulated the uncommon confrontation.

The waiter took our order for fish and as most do while waiting, we checked our emails before chatting. While we were engaged with our phones, out of the blue, a woman sat in our booth. At first I thought she was a friend of my wife. Not the case and she seemed to have had a little too much wine to drink. Maybe not but it did appear that way. She said we looked like a friendly couple so she thought she would join us. Guess there was no harm in that, and she would leave when the food came. Not! Our food was served but she did not leave. By this time I was so hungry politeness went out the window, or the front door in this case. I started to eat my fish and it was really good and worth the wait. My wife hesitated some, but she also finally dug in. The woman had a takeout bag and said it was her dinner to go. She said she was picking it up when she spotted us on the way out.

After a while, she calls the waiter over and ordered a glass of wine. Good stuff, nothing cheap, and puts it on her credit card. He asked if she wanted to order food. She told him she already had a takeout bag and proceeded to flirt a little with this rather good looking young man. You could tell he was a little curious at the situation and asked if we knew her. We said we just met. By this time, she had told us her name was Lisa, where she lived, and even offered to cook Easter dinner for us. Is this bizarre or what? As I said, we were near the door and lots of people coming and going. One couple in passing, offered to take our picture, which they did. Lisa, seemed to be a woman who was alone and waiting for her husband to arrive from up north. No real harm done, I thought, at least yet.

We finished our meal and paid the bill when without notice, the manager, who was also the owner, came over. Had two of her men behind her. She asked if I knew this woman. My response was reasonable in that she just came in and sat with us, but she was not a problem. The manager told her she had to leave. This did not go over well with our new found friend. "Are you kidding me, you are throwing me out?" She turned and looked at me as by now she was sitting next to me, and used some choice words to describe the manager. The place was packed as I said, and I could see a major confrontation about to erupt with us in the middle. I quickly said we were leaving and got up and headed for the door. The woman was fuming. She had just been asked to leave a glorified burger place. We met again outside and her language was a bit more intense then it was inside. Her lovely lovely emotions were gone. She told us not to forget her address and to stop over. I would have, but my wife said no.

On the way home we had to laugh at the whole episode. I told my wife that what happened was, she spotted me sitting there and did not see my wife. Me, being a chick magnet, her thought was she would join me. Only to find I was not alone. Too late, she had to make the best of it and joined the both of us. Actually it was kind of fun and something different. The place even offered us a free meal. My wife asked what happens when I am alone. Not to worry, the magnet no longer attracts. My wife said she knows that, so why did this person join us? Who knows what lurks in the mind of a woman. I sure don't.

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com

Senior Wishes To Honor Veterans With A Week Of Wishes

Senior Wishes, a local nonprofit dedicated to enriching the lives of deserving seniors, is planning a week of wish granting dedicated to senior Veterans of Erie and Niagara County. The organization plans to grant at least one wish a day from November 12th – 16th, and is seeking applications from qualifying Veterans.

According to Wendy Miller Backman, Senior Wishes Executive Director, “Senior Wishes was created to recognize that our aging seniors still have things they want to do, places they want to go, or people they want to see. We transform those dreams into a reality.”

The organization has granted over 160 wishes, and has treated local Veterans to game day experiences with the Sabres, Bisons and Bills, and another recipient had a backstage tour and meet and greet with JoAnn Faletta at the BPO. Recently, arrangements were made for a Veteran to travel to California to reunite with four generations of family.

Wish recipients must meet the following requirements: Age 65+ and a resident of Erie or Niagara County with an annual income $38,000 or less for a household of one or $44,000 or less for a household of two (waived for a permanent resident of a care facility); cognitively, emotionally and physically capable of communicating and experiencing the wish; and unable to fulfill the wish on their own.

Visit seniorwishes.org or call 508-2121 for an application or more information.

ADOPT A PET Sponsored By The Buffalo Rocket

This Week's Featured Friend:

CONNIE

See the video on our Facebook page!

Meet Connie! Connie was an unfortunate surrender with her housemate China. Although she is a lady of 8 yrs, Connie loves to bounce around the yard and chase after her toys, smiling and enjoying her time outside. Connie is an independent soul that enjoys alone time as much as time with her friends at the shelter. She has been fine interacting around other dogs and with everyone she meets. After some play time, or a nice walk, she settles down and is a super cool companion to just hang out with. Connie also likes to go for jogs with one of our volunteers and soak up the sights of the city, so if you are looking for someone to stay in shape with, she is perfect for you. She knows how to sit for her treats and will even give you a cool little "beg" stance. It is often sad to see dogs that are a bit older surrender to the shelter, but our hopes are that Connie and her sister China will find their forever homes so they can settle in happily into their senior years. Make sure you meet Connie when looking for a happy gal to share your life with.
