

New Law Protects Dogs

This advise should be taken by cat owners as well. If you have a cat that goes outside make sure to limit their time outdoors or have some shelter available to them.

The Buffalo Common Council passed a law prohibiting tethering dogs for over an hour in extreme weather conditions (when temperature is over 90 degrees or below freezing). Councilmember Joel Feroletto sponsored the ordinance and worked with the SPCA Serving Erie County, University at Buffalo Animal Law Clinic, and City of Buffalo Law department.

“This common-sense legislation will protect dogs in extreme weather,” said Council Member Joel Feroletto.

“I would like to thank Council Member Joel Feroletto for taking the lead on this initiative,” said South District Council Member Christopher Scanlon. “As legislators, we consistently worry about the well-being of the men and women we represent. With this legislation, we are taking things a step further to ensure the well-being of man’s best friend.”

Gary Willoughby, President & CEO of the SPCA Serving Erie County said, “The SPCA appreciates the City of Buffalo’s leadership in helping to protect its community’s dogs, understanding their vulnerability in extreme weather conditions. Buffalo was the birthplace of North America’s second-oldest Society for the

Seasonal Safety Checklist

With temperatures averaging above normal throughout the month of December, and little snow, we need to remember to be prepared for what Mother Nature might have in store. A reminder to keep exhaust vents, gas meters and regulators clear of snow and ice after any winter storm.

Snow, ice and other debris can block exhaust vents for furnaces, water heaters and similar appliances, potentially causing toxic fumes and poisonous carbon monoxide to build up indoors. Furthermore, snow and ice accumulated around natural gas meters and regulators can prevent gas

Customers should note the location of outdoor vents, including sidewall vents, as well as meters and regulators, and make sure they remain clear and accessible. After the storm passes, snow or debris should be removed gently by hand or with a broom to avoid damage. Customers should also be alert to potential ice build-up on rooftops and gutters. Falling ice and snow can be dangerous and damage utility meters and regulators.

Girl Scout Cookie Season 2019

2019 Girl Scout Cookie season is quickly approaching, celebrating the largest financial investment in girls annually in the United States and a powerful entrepreneurship incubator for the next generation of female leaders. The 2019 Girl Scout Cookie program in Western New York runs January 12th to March 31st, 2019 and booth sales run March 3rd to March 31st, 2019.

Through the Girl Scout Cookie Program®, girls not only discover their inner leadership potential but also use their earnings to power amazing experiences for themselves and their troop, including travel, outdoor adventure, and science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) programming. The proceeds stay local, meaning that when consumers purchase the delicious cookies that come from a registered Girl Scout only, they’re giving back to their wider community.

And Girl Scouts of Western New York is celebrating a tasty new way to support young female entrepreneurs with a recently debuted Girl Scout Cookie added to the 2019 lineup: Caramel Chocolate Chip. It features rich caramel, semisweet chocolate chips, and a hint of sea salt in a chewy gluten-free cookie. The new cookie is offered in select Girl Scout council markets only for as long as supplies last. Like other gluten-free consumer products, it may be priced higher than other Girl Scout Cookies, reflecting the cost of production.

Additionally, Girl Scouts who participate in the cookie program this season will have the opportunity to win the Cookie Entrepreneur Experience of a lifetime featuring the DC Super Hero Girls™ by entering the Cookie Pro™ contest. GSUSA has teamed up with DC Super Hero Girls to inspire Girl Scouts to be smart and courageous as everyday super heroes. The contest will highlight and reward exceptional cookie bosses who take the lead, set high goals for themselves, bring positive change to their communities, and learn valuable entrepreneurial skills. To learn more about the contest and to enter, visit www.girlscouts.org/cookiepro.

Sabres Spiraling in Wrong Direction

With three losses last week, 4-1 at St. Louis against the Blues and Ryan O'Reilly, followed by two home ice losses; 3-2 in overtime to the Boston Bruins on Saturday December 19th followed by their 3-1 loss to the New York Islanders on December 31st and the NHL's leading goaltender, old friend Robin Lehner. With Boston's win in the Winter Classic game the Bruins have passed the Sabres into third place in the division. The Sabres now occupy a wild card playoff position with Montreal one point behind and the Islanders two points back.

The Sabres have now won only four games in their last 15. Their record of 4-7-4 translates to four wins and eleven losses. That is in stark contrast to their recent ten game winning streak. There is often a thin line between winning and losing in hockey. The win streak included seven games that went to overtime or shootout and two wins were by a single goal. It seemed like everything went the Sabres way during that streak. Luck has not been on their side lately.

The Sabres avoided injuries during the win streak. Since then, injuries to top six defensemen have affected the team during their after the win streak. Marco Scandella missed ten games, Casey Nelson has missed 18 games and counting. Zach Bogosian missed five games.

But the biggest loss is the injury to Jack Eichel. He played only 2:40 and missed the third period in the loss to the Islanders. The team looked lost without him. It's no coincidence that the rise of the Sabres this season coincides with the rise of Eichel to the status of elite player whose 49 points are the ninth best total in the league. The Sabres have become a one line team and after Eichel's line there is no reliable scoring from any of the other nine forwards. So his prolonged absence from the lineup could be disastrous. Right now his availability is listed as day to day.

The lack of offensive production is stunning. The Sabres have only scored ten goals in the last six games. Maybe the veteran players are all in a slump and they'll pull out of it. Maybe the young players will continue to develop, get better and everything will work out. Maybe callups from Rochester can inject some life into the bottom nine forwards. But Alex Nylander now in his fourth season as a pro has been a disappointment with his often listless play. He has scored 25 goals in 146 AHL games and has seven goals in 30 games this season. This hardly inspires hope that he can succeed at the NHL level.

Victor Olafsson was leading the AHL in scoring but has slowed down. He has 29 points in 30 games while still adjusting to the AHL game. Neither of these players seem likely to make an impact at the NHL level right now.

The Sabres have four first round draft picks over the next two seasons. GM Jason Botterill is unlikely to trade any of these picks for short term help. The most likely source for additions to the lineup will come from outside the organization. A player like Minnesota right wing Nino Niederreiter would be an immediate upgrade to the second line. Any trades would involve surrendering a prospect and a second round pick. The time to salvage a promising season is now.

Jack Eichel dangles.

Are you a knitter or crocheter? Do you enjoy the company of fellow knitters/crocheters? Do you enjoy giving back to the community? If you answered yes then drop by Sugar City, 1239 Niagara St, Buffalo, on Sunday January 27th from 11 am until 5 pm for a charity knit-a-thon. For $5 you can knit or crochet for the day with a group of enthusiastic knitters and crocheters. Make some new friends, learn some new tricks, or just enjoy some friendly company while you knit. There will be some donated yarn and some patterns, and will be attempting to knit as many items as possible for charity at this event. For more information or if you'd like to donate yarn, project patterns, baked goods, or money, please email charityknittingbuffalo@gmail.com.

The Buffalo Zoo is offering reduced admission for all during its winter Polar Bear Days. Admission to the Zoo is only $8.95 per person during this special promotion. Buffalo Zoo members always receive free admission. Parking is also complimentary during the Polar Bear Days promotion. The Polar Bear Days admission discount is designed to encourage the community to visit the Zoo even in colder weather and see the animals in a different climate.

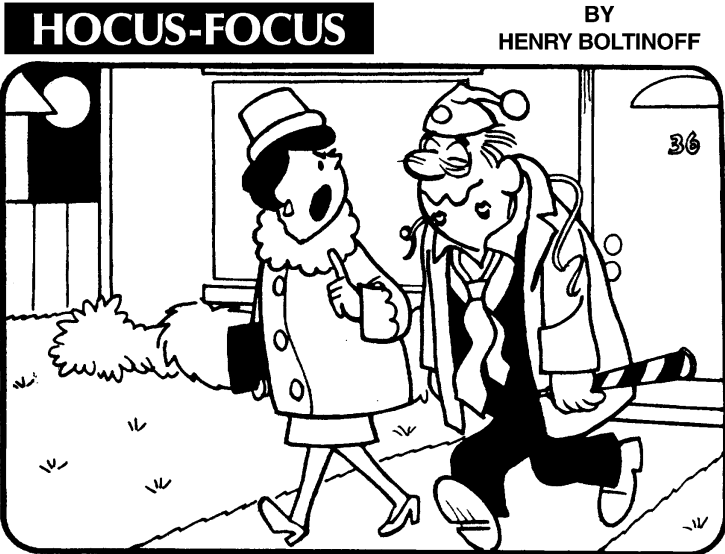

"The Zoo is a terrific place to be in the winter. Many of our animals are very active this time of year, like our polar bears and arctic foxes. The crowds are smaller, and our indoor exhibits are open, so there's a real opportunity to enjoy the Zoo at your own pace," said President and CEO, Norah Fletchall. "We encourage our guests to dress warm, and take advantage of this special offer."

The Buffalo Zoo is open daily from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm. Grounds remain open for one hour after admission gates close. For more information visit www.buffalozoo.org.

New Law Protects Dogs

From page one. Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and this latest protection effort highlights how Buffalo continues to be a wonderful place for people and their pets.

"The Student Attorneys at University at Buffalo School of Law's Animal Law Clinic provided the results of extensive research on both the underlying policy matters, and examples of similar laws from across the nation, to support the City of Buffalo in crafting the best possible legislation for Buffalo's human and canine citizens," said Professor and Vice Dean Kim Diana Connolly, who directs UB's Animal Law Clinic.

"The partnership between the City of Buffalo and the SPCA Serving Erie County has forged an important step forward in protecting companion animals in extreme weather.

Dogs cannot be tied up outside in freezing weather or in extreme heat. This new law will protect hundreds, if not thousands, of dogs each year and will help set the standard for the rest of the state," said Libby Post, Executive Director of the New York State Animal Federation, the political voice of New York's animal shelters. "We will take this effort to other municipalities across the state to protect even more dogs."

Seasonal Safety Checklist

"We want customers to stay comfortable and safe all winter. Taking the simple, but important step of keeping gas equipment free of snow and ice can help prevent serious safety hazards, and ensure that emergency responders have the access they need," said Dennis Bender, NYSEG and RG&E Director of Gas Operations.

Here are some additional safety tips:

Call NYSEG at 800-572-1121 or National Fuel at 1-800-444-3130 to report gas leaks, odors or damaged gas equipment. If you suspect a leak, leave the area or building and call from outdoors or a neighbor's home. If there's an immediate danger, call 911.

Smoke and carbon monoxide detectors should be located on every level of your home, outside all sleeping areas and inside each bedroom. Test them monthly and replace the batteries at least twice a year.

Never use your stove or oven to stay warm. Only space heaters intended for indoor use should be operated indoors or in enclosed spaces, in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions. If you are unable to keep your home safely and comfortably heated, call 311 for resources that can help you and your family.

Any generator that plugs into a home's wiring should be connected via a transfer switch by a licensed electrician. This ensures that when the generator is in use, house wiring is isolated from utility lines. Improper installation can damage the generator, or create hazards for utility employees working on poles, or even the general public. If adding a natural gas-fired generator, consult your gas company to ensure there is adequate pressure. Generators should be placed outdoors and away from doors and windows to prevent exposure to carbon monoxide.

Northwest Buffalo Beat

by Joe Bortz

Florida / Football

It is that time of year again. Time to migrate south to warmer climes and sunshine. Not that I do not like Buffalo as I would prefer to spend the summer in good old Western New York. However, as you grow older, snow, cold, ice and gray skies become less and less attractive and even dangerous. Hence, hello blue skies and clear streets.

Been doing it for so many years and made many 1,500 miles trips but still it just never gets easier. When here we need transportation so at first, we used to leave a car and flew back and forth. Besides the expense of keeping the car sitting idle for eight months, an extremely hot garage over the Florida summer, does a number on any vehicle. Decided driving the family car down and back was more economical than the storage and flying expense. It is a long drive. Have relatives on the way to break up the monotony. Still takes three eight hour driving days to do it comfortably. This year I decided to drive straight through. 23 hours.

My son said he was willing to make the trip with me and to send my wife on a plane. Let's do it, and we did. Some observations we made on the long way. First it rained most of the way, but that is better than snow. Days are shorter so more of the trip was in the dark. Florida is famous for fog in the early morning. So, the last 300 miles was in the dark with rain and not being able to see the signs on the side of the road the fog was so thick. I would think twice about doing that again.

How about this. Gas was 2.65 in Buffalo, the day we left. My son lives near the Seneca Indian reservation, so we drove there to fill up before getting on the thruway. $1.63 a gallon. 17 gallons saved over $17. $1 Per gallon In good old New York State taxes. Next fill up in Virginia $2.18. How about South Carolina, $1.65 gallon. Florida is $2.32. Still lower than New York. Is it any wonder that New York is one of the three leading states as far as population decline?

On another note. Even if you are not a football fan you do know about the greatest comeback in pro-football history. The Buffalo Bills were behind Houston at the half 35-3 and it was a blowout. The Bills came back to win the game and go to the Super Bowl. The important thing to remember is the quarterback replacing Jim Kelly was Frank Reich. A very religious man, soft spoken, and a good person. He has stayed in pro football as an assistant coach. This year the Indianapolis Colts decided to hire Josh McDaniels, assistant to Bill Belichick at the New England Patriots. He decided to stay with New England, so the Indianapolis Colts hired Frank Reich as a second choice. Not really what they wanted but Frank was it.

So, the Colts start the season with a 1-5-won lost record. It did not look good for Frank, the rookie head coach. One of the first things Reich did was hire Rusty Jones as strength and conditioning coach. Jones was with the Buffalo Bills during the Super Bowl years. He was given credit with keeping the Bills in the best shape possible and contributed to their winning seasons. Rusty left the Bills and went to Chicago. He helped that franchise while there, but new coaches want their own people. He retired but still had the desire. I spend some time with him one day reminiscing about past years with the Bills.

He said if they called him, he would go back in a heartbeat. That did not happen. BUT Frank Reich called, and he flew to Indianapolis to help his old player out. It seems now it worked.

If you do not follow football, I will fill you in because it is a good story with Buffalo connections. After the 1-5 start the Indianapolis Colts have gone 9-1 to end with a 10-6 record and in the playoffs. Another great comeback for Reich. Now we have someone to cheer for in the playoffs. All we had the past years was to hope the Patriots would lose. Which they seldom did. Good luck to former Bills player Frank Reich and former coach Rusty Jones. Go Colts!

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com

The Resurgence Of Small Business

Is it really the millennials who are leading the way when it comes to start up companies? "The truth is that older Americans are in the vanguard of America's small businesses. A study conducted by the information services company, Experian, puts the average age of these entrepreneurs at 50.3 years old," according to Dan Weber, president of the senior advocacy organization, AMAC.

Guidant Financial, small business funding, estimates that a third of small business owners are in their fifties and another 21% are 60 years of age or older.

What drives seniors to start up a new business? Weber says it's because many of them have the know-how, skills and Rolodex – in other words, they are well prepared for the vagaries and surprises of their marketplaces. "Oh yeah, the fact that the fastest growing segment of the population is made up of us older folk probably has something to do with it."

The Small Business Administration, in fact, claims that "the perfect time to leverage experience, passions, hobbies and resources to launch or purchase a small business" is when you are in your 50s, 60s and even your 70s.

The great majority of employers in the U.S. are small businesses. "The statistics show that small businesses are a principal driver of the economy. Companies with fewer than 500 employees account for an amazing 99.7% of American businesses. Even more startling, 89% of employers have fewer than 20 employees," notes Weber.

Small businesses consistently account for as much as two thirds of new jobs created in the U.S., according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. And business is so good these days that the National Federation of Independent Business [NFIB] reports that the small business sector has 38% more job openings than they can fill.

"The U.S. regained the top spot in the World Economic Forum's ranking of the most competitive country (out of 140), after losing that position with the advent of the regulatory onslaught of the previous Administration," says the NFIB.

Weber agrees that the Trump administration can take credit for the booming economy and job market, "notwithstanding former President Obama's boast that it is all due to him. Whatever personal opinion one may have regarding President Trump, you must admit that it is his direct support of business, in general, and small business, in particular, that have been driving growth over the past two years."

And, the president of the Association of Mature American Citizens adds that 40% of the entrepreneurs who have created new small businesses represent a true cross-section of the U.S. population. Weber cites a report by the Kaufman Foundation, which found that they include Hispanic [24%], African-American [9%] and Asian [7.5%] men and women.

In 2017, the first full year of Mr. Trump's presidency, the nation saw "an 82 percent increase in the proportion of minority business owners, specifically with a higher percentage who identified as Hispanic and African American," compared with 2016, the last full year of Mr. Obama's term, says Guidant Financial.

NFIB president Juanita Duggan put it this way: "Main Street optimism is on a stratospheric trajectory thanks to recent tax cuts and regulatory changes. For years, owners have continuously signaled that when taxes and regulations ease, earning and employee compensation increase."

Below are pictures of 10 TV personalities. We are not going to give the names to make it a little more difficult. The answers will be in next week's Rocket OR you can find them on our Facebook page.

Conceptis Hitori

Each puzzle consists of a square grid with numbers appearing in all squares. The object is to shade squares so:

1	5	3	1	2
5	4	1	3	4
3	4	3	1	5
4	4	2	3	3
2	1	5	4	4

- No number appears in a row or column more than once.
- Shaded (black) squares do not touch each other vertically or horizontally.
- When completed, all un-shaded (white) squares create a single continuous area.

3	2	4	1	4
2	4	2	5	1
4	3	2	3	5
2	5	3	4	1

Stream & Lake Map of New York

The STREAM & LAKE MAP OF NEW YORK resembles another map—known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map."

It was completed in 1965 after a 30 year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

Professor Higbee painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto the map. It sold extremely well - until the printer declared bankruptcy and hauled Higbee's work to the landfill.

But reprints were impossible because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue. Higbee was even offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

Then, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map.

Then the STREAM & LAKE MAP OF NEW YORK was created.

Why every angler and boater needs this map

Professor Higbee's "Stream & Lake Map of New York is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. The 3.5-foot-by-4.5-foot New York map shows 65,000 miles of streams plus lakes.

For a limited time -- get 3 bonuses with each map

BONUS #1 GUIDEBOOK: Pinpoint the best fishing in New York with this valuable guide. Easily locate over 3,000 streams and 1,200 lakes shown on the "Stream & Lake Map." Your map guide will take you to the top 1,123 select water for 19 species of gamefish.

BONUS #2 REPORT: Finding Secret Fishing Spots 47 tips, tactics and tools you can use to find your own secret spot and catch more fish.

BONUS #3 REPORT: How Anglers Stalk and Catch Record Fish The average big fish has evaded capture for over 10 years. Find out which instincts set them apart from smaller fish. Stalking and catching a trophy requires knowledge of their unique habits and those special times when their guard is down. Armed with the information in this new and exclusive 24-page report—you could be in for the fight of your life.

RAVE REVIEWS

"It is in showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman."

—Joe Gordon, TRIBUNE-DEMOCRAT, Johnstown, PA

"I have one of the original Higbee's Stream Map of Pennsylvania on my wall behind my desk. It's the best thing available as far as streams are concerned. I use it all the time for reference. I don't know of anything more extensive and it is the most accurate map out there as far as streams are concerned."

—Dave Wolf, PA Fish and Boat Commission
