

Explore & More

Explore & More is taking over Canalside with a mix of free and fee truck-based activities across the area with over 40 trucks to crawl in, on and around and a whole museum dedicated to the love of all things truck!

Explore & More – The Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Children’s Museum is delighted to bring the truck loving action to Canalside for a whole new way to play at Touch A Truck presented by M&T Bank from 10 am to 4 pm, Sunday June 9th.

Children and the young at heart can come together to share their love of all things truck and get up close with more than 40 construction, emergency, utility and specialty vehicles to explore along the boardwalk at Buffalo’s Waterfront, with many activities being free. Children will get an opportunity to climb in, on and around these giant vehicles, typically only seen from a distance, along with myriad outdoor and indoor hands-on activities for the whole family to explore.

This year’s Touch a Truck event is being presented by M&T Bank and supported by NFTA, offering many free activities throughout Canalside, including the chance to explore and climb in, on and around over 40 trucks. All proceeds support operations at the all-new Explore & More – The Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Children’s Museum.

Buffalo Sabres 1975 Stanley Cup Game

This day in Buffalo Sabres history, May 27th 1975, the Philadelphia Flyers defeated the Sabres 2-0 in game six of the Stanley Cup Finals to win their second straight Stanley Cup championship.

The game was scoreless through two periods until Bob Kelly broke the tie just 11 seconds into the third period assisted by Reggie Leach and Jimmy Watson. Orest Kindrachuk set up an insurance goal by Bill Clement at 17:11.

Just seconds after the third period faceoff in the scoreless duel, Kelly popped out of a scramble behind Buffalo goalie Roger Crozier, paused, then slid a backhander into the far corner.

"Jerry Korab had flattened me against the boards," Kelly said. "Then Clarkie tied him up and the puck came out to me. I came out front and nobody was there. I just tried to keep my body between Crozier and the puck and just stuffed it."

The Flyers failed on early consecutive power plays, then Crozier made three super saves to keep Buffalo's hopes alive. Shortly after Parent made his last big save, stopping Don Luce from the right side, Clement paired with Orest Kindrachuk for the clincher.

Despite the ominous presence of Korab, Kindrachuk passed the puck to Clement, who beat Crozier from the slot with 2:47 remaining. While the Flyers celebrated, Kindrachuk lay writhing on the ice, courtesy of a Korab crunch. "I felt like I went through the boards," Kindrachuk said.

"You've got to admire Kindrachuk," said Dornhoefer. "He put himself on the block to make that play. He knew he was going to get creamed, but you have to take a check to win."

"There was no way we wanted a seventh game," Kindrachuk said. "Anything can happen then. That goal gave us breathing room."

Roger Crozier was strong in the nets for Buffalo with 29 saves on 31 shots but Bernie Parent was even stronger stopping all 32 shots that he faced for the shutout. Both teams were scoreless on six power play chances.

Parent recorded the shutout and was awarded the Conn Smythe Trophy as playoff MVP for the second consecutive season. Parent and Mario Lemieux (1991, 1992), are the only players to win that award in back to back seasons.

Parent held Buffalo to just one goal, three times in the series. Between 1973 and 1975, Parent was an amazing 91-27-22, and was the backbone of the Broadstreet Bullies. Few goaltenders in the history of the NHL had a better back to back, two year run than the Parent. The bumper sticker that went around in Philadelphia at the time was "Only God saves more than Bernie". The Flyers were 10-7-2 in games without Parent over those two seasons.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE

Most holy apostle St. Jude Thaddeus faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the name of the traitor who delivered your beloved Master in to the hands of the enemies has caused you to be forgotten by many, but the Church honors and invokes you universally as the patron of hopeless cases and of things despaired of. Pray for me who am so needy; make use, I implore you of that particular privilege accorded to you to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolations and succor of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings particularly (here mention your petition) ... and that I may bless God with you and all the elect throughout eternity. I promise you, O blessed Jude to be ever mindful of this great favor, and I will never cease to honor you as my special and powerful patron and to do all in my power to encourage devotion to you. Amen.

Re-incarnation

Have you ever awakened from a dream and realized you have never been to where it took place? A building, house or spot that you do not recognize and know it is completely foreign to your known territory? Some of these visions are so pleasing, you wouldn't mind if you were able to go there. Then there are others, you wake up and are glad it was just a dream. Makes you wonder how these places that are in your subconscious mind, originate. Where do these visions and memories come from? Maybe a movie or a TV show? Or could they be a throw-back from a previous life or lives. Ever wonder? How about when you enter a place that you know you have never been to, yet it feels like you have been there before. Like Yogi Berra said "Deja Vou all over again."

We are talking hypothetically about the possibility of a previous life. Reincarnation. Before you poo poo to the notion as I do, let's look at some things that we cannot explain. Take a few minutes to go on "You Tube" on the internet and see several four-year-old children playing the piano better than the masters. Without lessons or tutoring. The ability to, as soon as they are physically able to hit the keys, play concertos. They are born with that knowledge in their brain. Ever wonder, how is that possible? Were they someone else in a previous life? It makes me wonder. You can look up the ten mathematical geniuses in the world that are under ten years old. One is as smart or smarter than Einstein. He has a goal to disprove Einstein's theory of relativity. He is 11 years old. How many times on television do we see children sing in an adult voice in a language they do not even speak. Does that make you wonder? Read where they claim there was a three-month-old baby that can read children's books. How is it possible for a seven-year-old to perform surgery or to even have the basic knowledge of how to proceed? There are many of these unexplainable instances. These children are born with excessive knowledge in their brain at birth.

I am not really a believer in re-incarnation, but sometimes things happen that make me wonder. When we lived in Evans some years back whenever we would eat outside a little bird would come visit us. Land and sit at the table as we ate. Not looking for crumbs or in anyway annoying but just stood there like it just wanted to be with us. Left when we were done eating. I would sit and look at it and wonder? Why is this bird so unafraid? How did it know we would not harm it?

Another unusual happening. Our dog, a golden retriever, treed a Raccoon out in the front yard.

4 year old child prodigy playing music by Mozart, J.S. Bach, Beethoven and Alberto Ginastera.

We lived in Angola at the time. Eventually the Raccoon came down and instead of running away, became part of the family. Stayed with us as a pet but not by our choice, his. He adopted us. We did not feed him as he would go down to the creek and catch his own fish or crayfish to eat. Point is he wasn't looking for a hand-out. For whatever reason he just wanted to stay with us. Even curled up and slept with the golden retriever. We named him Rocky and he was absolutely no problem. Stayed with us until we moved back into the city. We gave him to a neighbor, but he soon moved out on his own. His desire obviously was to just be with us. Unusual? There were times that I would look at him and wonder if he was a former family member who had passed away and came to visit in another form? We used to joke and talk to the bird and the raccoon like they were long lost family members. Called them cousin. Nice thought but I do not really think so. But who knows, anything is possible in a Universe that has no beginning or end.

It was natural to wonder if there was a reason for these wild creatures to be attracted to our family. Were there other signs? For a while we wondered about my youngest son. He strangely or at least I thought it was unusual to have a passion for Native Americans. When he would play cowboys and Indians with his many miniature figures, the Native Americans always won. Normally, cowboys or Union soldiers were victorious. They were the good guys. Not with him.

The Indians were the winners. What was his attraction to Native Americans? Was he a tribal chief in a former life? That we also used to joke about. Even called him Geronimo for a time, till we found the answer. One time when he was very young, we visited the reservation and stopped at a trading Post. Unknown to my wife and I, in the back of the store was a Native American in full dress. My son wandered back there and met him. They chatted for a while and a transition took place when he gave my son a piece of candy. From that moment on he was a big fan of anyone who lived on a reservation. That took the wind out of the thought that he was in a former life a Seneca warrior.

I mentioned some things to think about if you choose. The dreams to unknown scenes. Children being born with skills far beyond adult normal people. Visitation from wildlife that is out of the norm. We believe what we want to believe if it makes us feel better. We even sometimes call our dog "ma" as she loves to go for rides anywhere. Like my mother used to. First in the car waiting. We are joking, but things said in jest are half-truths. That's what I heard. What do you think?

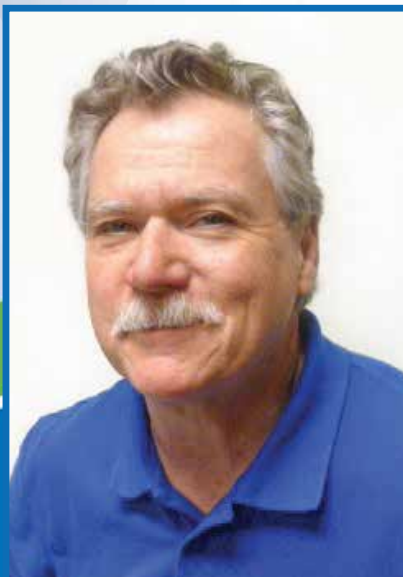

Do you have a birthday greeting you would like to see here? Birthdays, anniversaries, interesting pictures, short stories or even a 500 word column of interest to your neighbors. Send them to me and I will see what I can do. Nothing political or controversial. Send to Jbortze@aol.com.

Ask Rusty - Older Father Seeks Benefits for Young Children and Wife

Dear Rusty: I was 62 in February and my 44-year-old wife and I have 3 young daughters ages 5, 7 and 13. My 2019 income via wages will be about $98,000. My wife does not work outside our home. In round numbers my Social Security full retirement benefit is estimated to be about $3,000 per month if I wait until 2023. I understand I am eligible to start receiving reduced benefits at age 62 and I could also collect an additional 50% up to 80% of my full retirement benefit for my young daughters until they graduate from high school. My questions are: What determines where in the range of between and 150% and 180% my extra benefit would be? Would my benefit be reduced because of my income (I know my benefits may be taxed but the question is, will my benefits be reduced)? Finally, is my wife also eligible to receive any benefits because we have 3 young children? Signed: Older Father

Dear Older Father: In your situation the Family Maximum would apply and there is a rather complex formula which Social Security uses to determine that maximum.

The computation is based upon your "primary insurance amount" (PIA), which is the amount you are entitled to at your full retirement age (regardless of when you claim). Your PIA is broken into 4 parts, and a percentage of each part is taken as an amount which contributes to your family maximum. The four parts (in 2019) and percentages taken are: 150% of the first $1184 of your PIA; 272% of your PIA amount between $1185 and $1708; 134% of your PIA amount between $1709 and $2228; and 175% of your PIA amount over $2228. Your family maximum will be the sum of those computations. What's left after your PIA is deducted is equally apportioned among your other eligible beneficiaries. For example, if your estimated 2023 PIA is $3000, using the above formula your family maximum would be about $5245. After subtracting your PIA amount, there would be about $2245 to be apportioned evenly among your 4 eligible dependents ($561 each). But no dependent benefits can be paid until you start collecting your benefits. Once your benefits start, your wife will be eligible to collect "child in care" spousal benefits, but the amount will be limited by the Family Maximum as described above. You already know that your children can no longer receive benefits when they graduate high school (or turn 19). When a child is no longer receiving benefits, the amount they were receiving is added proportionately to your remaining dependents. When your youngest daughter reaches 16 years of age, your wife can no longer receive child-in-care spousal benefits, but she will be eligible for regular spousal benefits when she turns 62.

Yes, your Social Security benefit will be reduced by your earnings if you claim SS benefits before your full retirement age and your current earnings are over the annual earnings limit. If you claim in 2019, you will not be entitled to benefits for any month you earn more than $1470. After this first year, you'll be subject to the annual earnings limit (which changes yearly but for 2019 is $17,640) and exceeding that limit will mean that SS will withhold $1 for every $2 you are over the limit. In the year you reach your full retirement age (which is 66 ½), the earnings limit goes up by about 2.5 times ($46,920 for 2019) and the penalty is less ($1 for every $3 over the limit), and once you reach your full retirement age there is no longer an earnings limit. But if you exceed the annual limit, SS will withhold future benefits until they have recovered what is due. But here's a big red flag: anyone collecting benefits on your record will also be "contingently liable" for any overpayment made to you, so their benefits will be withheld as well until Social Security recovers any overpayment as a result of you exceeding the earnings limit.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE

Most holy apostle St. Jude Thaddeus faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the name of the traitor who delivered your beloved Master in to the hands of the enemies has caused you to be forgotten by many, but the Church honors and invokes you universally as the patron of hopeless cases and of things despaired of. Pray for me who am so needy; make use, I implore you of that particular privilege accorded to you to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolations and succor of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings particularly (here mention your petition) ... and that I may bless God with you and all the elect throughout eternity. I promise you, O blessed Jude to be ever mindful of this great favor, and I will never cease to honor you as my special and powerful patron and to do all in my power to encourage devotion to you. Amen.
